Forest Restoration Garners State Recognition For Tree Farmers

Efforts in helping to restore coveted forestry in the state gained outstanding tree farmer recognition for Art and Mary Wolfe in 1991.

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

YORK SPRINGS (Adams Co.) — Art Wolfe has an edge in his voice when he talks about the work he had to do this past winter to remove tons of trash piled up in a forest clearing on his farm.

He mentions the glass, wire, metal, and plastic that had to be removed.

He's clearly upset about having to clear all the wood and other junk from fields left abandoned for years, to get them ready to plow.

And Wolfe is angry about the pile of rejected wood from loggers that had to be taken out.

Not to mention losing mower blades from working the path that snakes through the refurbished woodland.

But he smiles when he talks about the 100-some new Red Oak saplings that dot the opening of the trail through the woods, in addition to the carefully maintained Paulownia seedlings bursting with new growth, planted in the spring.

Because it was these efforts, in helping to restore coveted forestry in the state, that helped gain him recognition as an outstanding tree farmer in 1991.

Importance of trees

For years, Art and Mary Wolfe, who operate a small cash crop business on two farms at the border of York and Adams counties, have been busy helping people understand the importance of trees to the environment. Early this year they were awarded the Pennsylvania Association of Conservation District's M.K. Goddard Forest Resource Management recognition at the county's conservation banquet.

The Wolfes enrolled more than 60 acres of the woodland they own in the Pennsylvania Forest Stewardship Program. This program,

Quality Assurance Comes To Agriculture

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Quality Assurance (QA) is the new buzzword throughout agriculture. Commodity groups are developing and promoting QA programs to assure consumers that their food is safe and pure and to minimize the risk to producers of having a residue or contamination problem.

Government agencies responsible for food safety and quality are increasing the level of scrutiny on many products of animal origin. The quality assurance programs, however, came not from the government but from producer groups such as the National Milk Producers Federation, National Cattlemen's Association, National Pork Producers Association, and American Veal Association.

Drug Residues Targeted

The reason for development of most QA programs is to minimize the risk of antibiotic and sulfa residues in meat and milk. Milk plants as well as state and federal government inspection services are regularly checking milk and meat for drug residues.

In many cases, tests are so sensitive that they can detect drug residues as low as a few parts per billion. If the product contains levels of drugs that are detectable or, in some cases, above a recognized "safe level," the project is not used for human food.

The good news is these testing methods do assure a residue-safe food supply to U.S. consumers. This testing effort does put a lot of pressure on producers to use drugs responsibly and test when appropriate to ensure that no residue-contaminated products are offered for sale.

Other articles in this issue of Lancaster Farming will detail the several Quality Assurance programs developed by producer groups. Several principles are common to all:

- Use good management, nutrition, and preventive medicine practices to minimize the need for drugs.
- Establish a good working relationship with a veterinarian.
- When it is necessary to use drugs, use them exactly as labeled or as prescribed by your veterinarian.
- Clearly identify treated animals.
- Record all treatments, including animal identity, drug used, amount, date, and withholding times.
- Ensure adequate withdrawal or withholding time before the animal or its products, such as milk, are offered for sale.
- If in doubt about the residue status of an animal, test milk or urine with an appropriate residue test.
- Make sure all family members and employees who work with the animals know the procedures for proper drug use and residue avoidance.

Pennsylvania Announces Dairies Of Distinction

KINGSTON (Luzerne Co.) — The Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program has announced Pennsylvania winners of the 1993 Dairy of Distinction Award. Forty-nine farms in Pennsylvania have been selected as new recipients of this honored award.

The Dairy of Distinction program has been operating in Pennsylvania for seven years. Including this year's winners, a total of 522 Pennsylvania dairy farms have been recognized through this program.

The program was established in New York State in 1983 and has since spread to Pennsylvania and New Jersey. The program was developed to recognize farms which maintain a high quality farm appearance.

Farms that apply are judged on

National Beef Board Approves $44 Million Budget

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — The national Beef Promotion and Research Board held its summer meeting late last week at the Hershey Lodge and Convention Center to approve its budget and plans for 1994 beef promotion, research and information programs.

In a letter announcing the program, David Ivan, executive director of the Pennsylvania Beef Council, said, "Pennsylvania is very fortunate to be hosting the semi-annual Board of Directors meeting of the Beef Promotion and Research Board ... The Beef Board is the national organization with over sight responsibilities for the beef checkoff program. Dairymen, cattlemen and veal producers remit $1 per head each time an animal is

New York & Phila. Frozen Egg Report

Tuesday, June 29, 1993

Prices were lower for whole egg and whites, blends were unchanged, and yolks were unchanged to higher. The undertone was mixed, and generally strongest for yolk products while whole egg and whites were weak to barely steady. Demand was light to fair as many buyers prepared to close for the traditional July production shutdowns. Supplies of finished products were at least adequate. Shell egg offerings increased, and prices were lower to unchanged.

Delmarva Broiler/Fryer Market

Wednesday, June 30, 1993

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was about moderate. Seller offerings were adequate to fully adequate and in closest balance on 3 pound and smaller sizes. Live supplies were moderate; weights were desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were heavy Less than trucklot asking prices were mostly unchanged to 1 cent higher at 48 to 64 cents; however, over 3 pound sizes were noted available for negotiation. Trade sentiment was generally steady. In the part complex, leg items, mainly leg quarters cleared well. Breast items were irregularly balanced; however, bone-in breasts and tenders, along with wings were slow to clear.

SPECIAL FEEDER PIG SALE: SATURDAY, JULY 24, AT 1:00 P.M.

Northeast Chicken Parts

Wednesday, June 30, 1993

Trucklot buying interest was irregular but about as expected for mid-week.

Supplies of boneless skinless breasts were in good balance but buying activity was quite irregular. Some product was offered at 2.05 and not cleared but other product cleared easily at 2.10. Line run breasts were readily available and offered at lower trending prices to very cautious buyers. Yellow skin leg quarters were in close balance with a very good demand and cleared easily at higher prices. Other dark meat items were well cleared at steady prices. Wings continued to struggle and prices trended lower.

PRICES PAID PER POUND, ICE PACKED AND CO2 PACKED BROILER/FRYER PARTS, DELIVERED TO FIRST RECEIVERS IN POOL TRUCKLOT AND TRUCKLOT QUANTITIES. ITEM CURRENT NEGOTIATED TRADING* BREAST - B/S (W & W/O TENDERS) 205-210 BREAST - WITH RIBS 96-97 BREAST - LINE RUN 96 LEGS 32-33 LEG QUARTERS (BULK) 25-26 THIGHS 28-29 DRUMSTICKS 31-32 WINGS 48-49 BACKS AND NECKS (STRIPPED) 10-12 LIVERS (5 POUND TUBS) 25 GIZZARDS (HEARTS) 25-30 INCLUDES NEW YORK CITY METROPOLITAN AREA, NORTHERN NEW JERSEY, MASSACHUSETTS, CONNECTICUT, RHODE ISLAND, AND PENNSYLVANIA (NORTHEAST OF HARRISBURG). * TODAY'S NEGOTIATED SALES AS OF 11:30 A.M.

National Egg Market

Wednesday, June 30, 1993

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE: Prices were unchanged to lower in the Northeast and Midwest, unchanged elsewhere. The market tone was cautiously steady to weak. Demand was light to occasionally good where holiday orders improved, and the overall movement was light to moderate. Supplies of jumbos were short to adequate, extra-large were adequate to fully adequate, large were adequate to ample, and the light weights were adequate to long. Breaking stock supplies were adequate to ample, and most breakers limited purchases to cover reduced schedules for next week; prices were lower. Live hen offerings were at least adequate for the light demand, and plants were scheduled to work four days next week.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

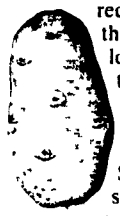
ALEWIVES RETURN TO SEA.

A NEW SNACK IS BORN

In the summer of 1853, French-fried potatoes were a popular item on the Moon Lake Lodge's menu. One evening a guest at the elegant Saratoga Springs, New York, resort found the French fries too thick for his taste. He sent the potatoes back, requesting thinner fries. When the second batch of thinner fries was also rejected, chef George Crum lost his patience. Deciding to show that guest a thing or two, he cut paper-thin pieces of potato and fried them to a crisp. Instead of being indignant, the guest was ecstatic, and the crispy, browned chips became a house specialty, Saratoga Chips. The chips were packaged and sold locally, then throughout New England, and eventually, Crum, whose temper started it all, opened his own restaurant featuring potato chips.



Put up with small annoyances to gain great results.

TIP OF THE WEEK

EARTHWISE

Disposable razors and pens are good examples of "throwing the baby out with the bath water." Replacing only the dull blade or empty ink supply will keep tons of plastic out of our landfills, and will save resources used in manufacturing the entire item. It may seem like a small thing, but each year Americans throw away 2 billion disposable razors, enough to shave every man in the U.S. fifty times.

CRAB DIP

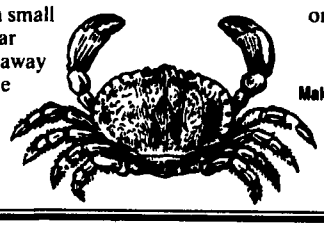
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon minced onion
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
6 ounces crab meat

Beat all ingredients together until well mixed. Place in small ovenproof dish. Bake uncovered at 350° F for 20 minutes. Serve warm with crackers or ridged potato chips.

Makes about 1 cup.



The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

NORTHEAST: Sun and showers, seasonable; thunderstorms, then clearing and warm.

SOUTHEAST: Clear and warm, showers Florida and coast; rainy and milder then clearing.

MIDWEST: Sunny and mild, scattered showers and rain, then clear and seasonable.

NORTHWEST: Clear and warm then cooling with light rain.

OPINION

God Forbid That We Should Ever Forget

In pursuit of freedom, they came to this distant, unknown land.

Seeking the right to worship freely, they left family and friends, jobs, and the security that comes with living in a familiar setting.

They faced a harsh new environment, wary natives, were unprepared and unfamiliar with how to make a living on these primitive, forested shores.

Indeed, many of them starved to death.

Then, they learned to farm.

Oh, it was surely primitive by today's standards, crude tools, fish for fertilizer, cutting trees and burning to clear land. Back-breaking labor, which many of them had perhaps not before known.

But after they learned to farm, they ate. They put away for the winter. And they survived.

Once fed, they prospered, grew, fanned out to settle this America.

They built settlements, raised families. Elected leaders and established a government.

Because they were fed, our founding fathers could pursue this experiment in freedom. Even then, the rich soils and productivity of American farms freed a good portion of the citizenry to pursue the finer points of civilization. Doctors, teachers, craftspeople, printers, shopkeepers, preachers.

They organized, rebelled against oppression, formed an army. Threw off the yoke of foreign rule. Led by bands of farmers, who laid down their plows and took up rifles, this fledging, upstart nation of renegades rebelled against one of the world's mightiest powers. And won.

Because they were fed, they could defend this precious freedom.

Seeking land they could call their own to farm, the more adventurous among the populous headed West. Civilization followed as farmers split the virgin prairie soil with plows and fattened cows and sheep for food and fiber on its lush grasses.

Because there was abundance of food, railroads followed. Rutted wagon paths widened into roadways. Ports grew. Immigrants from around the world fled oppression and hunger in their native lands to embrace this land of peace - and plentiful food.

With full bellies, inventive minds were free to dream and dare. To power with waterwheels and belt drives. To dig canals, to mine useful minerals, to raise up institutions of medicine and of learning. To invent the likes of electricity and steam engines and gasoline motors.

A fed country is a country with freedom to grow, to imagine, to try, to dream. A hungry country expends its limited energy stalking its next meal, generally amid political, social and economic chaos.

Because we were fed, American ingenuity has prospered. Curious minds have been freed to develop rocket science and nuclear power, cures for polio and controls for insects which spread killer diseases, lasers, microwaves, instant communication and computerization.

America is certainly not perfect. Still, others continue to arrive at our steps, yearning for freedom from oppression, from dictators, from war and from the wrenching hunger still prevalent in too many parts of the world, hunger which skeletonizes aging bodies and bloats the bellies of starving infants.

Yet, after more than 200 years of abundance, we increasingly seem to take for granted that we are free because we are fed. We have become a citizenry too far removed from the source of plenty. Generations distant from tilling the soil need to know more about the production of food for our national full bellies. It might simply magically materialize somewhere in the dark recesses of supermarket warehouses.

As we celebrate our national birthday on July 4, may we remember that we have come this far because we have not had to scrabble, hand to hand for every daily bite. America's rich agriculture resources and productivity have powered our prosperity.

We are free because we are fed.

God forbid that we ever forget or neglect that blessing.

NOW IS THE TIME

To Attend Animal Housing Expo

If you are in a poultry, livestock or dairy business and are interested in building, remodeling or expanding, you will want to attend the Animal Housing Expo. The event will be held at the Lebanon Fairgrounds on July 13 and 14.

Visit a host of exhibitors and see what products and services are available. Observe the new product's display plus a variety of demonstrations on floor surfaces, pit ventilation, freestall design, swine handling, poultry composting, and more.

Panels of producers will be sharing their experiences on dairy expansion and remodeling, trends in the swine industry, and poultry mortality composting. Speakers include Dr. Temple Grandin, Colorado State University, discussing successful animal handling techniques and Mike Gamroth, Oregon State University, discussing getting the most from your milking parlor.

Topics to be addressed by other speakers include environmental impact studies, basic ventilation concepts, update on the nutrient management law, and handling swine safely. The expo is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day.

For more information on the Expo, see related articles and ads in this paper.

To Evaluate Creep Feeding Cattle

When pasture quality deteriorates in the summer, your beef calf crop could suffer from lowered weaning weights, according to Chester Hughes, extension livestock agent.

That is the time to provide some type of supplement, such as creep feeding.

The decision to creep feed is not all that easy. You must consider forage conditions, milk production levels, calf growth potentials, projected weaning weights, price spreads between calves of different body conditions, calf prices, and plans for retained ownership.

One critical consideration is the cost of added gain. The most efficient conversions of creep feed to added weaning weight are seen when calves cannot reach weaning weights appropriate for their growth potential without supplemental feed.

Another condition conducive to creep feeding is low grain prices relative to feeder calf prices. Input costs may be lowered while potential revenue remains constant. Also, if you are planning on retaining ownership of the calves, you reap the benefits of added weight gain.

To Improve Conception Rates

One of the challenges dairy farmers face during hot summer days is getting cows bred. When body temperatures are high, cows fail to conceive and bulls may temporarily become sterile.

Conception rates also decline when cows are off feed and become poor in flesh. To minimize these problems, Glenn Shirk, extension dairy agent, offers the following tips: 1. Keep cows well fed and in good flesh. 2. Keep cows cool with shade, fans, etc. 3. Do not allow cows to become excited and overheated. 4. Observe cows for heat signs during cooler hours of the day and night. 5. Use heat detection aides. 6. Synchronize heats so more cows are sexually active at appointed times. 7. Plan your calving programs so fewer cows need to be bred during the heat of the summer.

Farm Forum

Dear Editor,

You are to be complimented for your fine report of the National Dairy Summit recently held in York, Pa.

Everyone should have felt honored to have the event held in Pennsylvania.

However, I feel too many people, including some farm organizations and dairy cooperatives had a lackadaisical attitude towards the Summit. Possibly some were expecting a small turnout for the event, which might indicate little interest on the part of dairy farmers for any change in dairy policies. For those who thought this way, they were certainly fooled.

It's odd that so many people were unaware of the event taking place. The event was conceived at Secretary Espy's confirmation hearing. Since the hearing, we in PRO AG started working to build up support for the Summit.

In March we merged our efforts

WHAT A REPUTATION!
July 4, 1993

WHAT A REPUTATION
July 4, 1993

Background Scripture: Colossians 1

Devotional Reading: 1 Corinthians 3:10-23

The churches are big news today. Unfortunately, most of it is bad news.

A noted televangelist is accused of living the prodigal life style of "the rich and famous." A major denomination is torn by a vicious struggle over national leadership. A local church is devastated in finding that its treasurer has absconded with most of the Building Fund. The bishop of a certain denomination dies of AIDS after a secret long life as a homosexual. Members of an area religious coalition face a court injunction for harassing a local physician who performs abortions.

Unfortunately, I haven't made up any of the above — and there are lots more. The Good News of Jesus Christ is getting a lot of bad press.

That doesn't mean there isn't any good news for the churches, but it is the news that makes the morning papers, the grocery store tabloids and the evening TV news. It's about time that the Good News of Jesus Christ gets some good press. But, instead of this being one of those why-don't-they-do-something-about-it concerns, it is something that, if it is to be done, you and I must do it. (I know that wasn't what you had in mind — it wasn't what I would have picked either — but that's the way it is.)

All we need to do is to see that our local churches — your's and mine — earns a reputation something on the order of the one enjoyed by the church of Colossae. Biblical historians tell us that Colossae was a rather insignificant town of Phygia in Asia Minor (today's Turkey). Apart from Paul's letter in our New Testament, you're unlikely ever to find any references to Colossae either in history or ouf contemporary world. Colossae was the biblical times version of East Podunk.

But what a reputation they had there! This little backwater town was known throughout Asia Minor because of the exceptional quality of the Christian congregation there. Paul says, "we have heard of your faith in Jesus Christ and of the love which you have for all the saints" (Col. 1:4). Paul is in prison as he writes this letter and the good news about the Colossians has reached him even there. Paul even heard the good news from Epaphras, Paul's co-worker and founder of the Colossian church: "He is a faithful minister . . . and has made known to us your love in the Spirit" (1:8).

JUST FAITH & LOVE

I'll have to admit that the basis of Colossae's good news doesn't seem all that exciting: they are renowned for their faith and their love. The reputation that has been getting around says nothing about a beautiful church building, a record budget, the area's most popular preacher, or any of the more positive things for which a church is usually known. Just "faith" and "love."

But who could ask for anything more? "Faith" and "love" may not sound exciting, but, in light of the mess in which we find so much of our world today, is there anything really more exciting than Christians who keep the faith in a time of despair and practice Christlike love where bitterness, strife, and revenge are the commonplace realities?

That's what the church is really for, isn't it: to do the work of God that brings reconciliation, not division, into our world. If we really want to see the churches start getting some good press for a change, let's make some headlines with our faith and love.

19 More Reasons

Why you should buy Big Dutchman from Hershey Equipment

NEW CONSTRUCTION OR REMODEL WORK

1. Big Dutchman and Hershey Equipment is #1 in owner loyalty. More people buy Big Dutchman when they remodel than any other system.
2. Our Profit-tier system adapts to your old building.
3. Re-use your old corners to save money.
4. Big Dutchman's superior suspension system keeps the cages from sagging between stands. Competitive systems sag.
5. Lower maintenance costs. Talk to our customers - Then talk to theirs!
6. Better Performance! This isn't just talk. Ask your feed company to show you records from a Big Dutchman system to compare to a competitive system.
7. Big Dutchman high lip feed trough is designed to reduce spillage into the walkways. Look at a competitors walkway and measure the thickness of wasted feed.
8. Your old hoppers aren't wore out. Save money and reuse them on your new system.
9. We have our own installation crews to be sure the equipment is properly installed. Competition hires outside crews.
10. Eggs move gently from the birds, to the belts and thru the collector unit. The eggs are not like balls in a bowling alley as in some competitive systems.
11. Incredible! New left hand drive allows feed chain to travel up to 120 F.P.M.
12. Your present gearboxes and motors can be re-used to save money.
13. The Big Dutchman chain feeder gives 2½ times more feeder space than the grind auger.
14. It's a proven fact. Chain feeder systems use less electricity.
15. Big Dutchman has a stronger cage top and front than competitive cages.
16. The sliding door on a Big Dutchman system is easy to open and close and it stays closed.
17. The Big Dutchman collector is the best there is. Don't accept an imitation.
18. Our cage design allows eggs to roll front and out of the cage, not get stepped on and cracked by birds as in competitive cages.
19. Big Dutchman systems provides a bigger percentage of larger eggs for a longer period of time.

AUTOMATIC WAGON HOOK-UP

Somatic Cell Count is your #1 indicator of stray voltage.
Don't be misled by inaccurate information that will delay your attention to this matter. There is a solution that can stop stray voltage immediately
DOES YOUR DAIRY HERD HAVE THESE SYMPTOMS?
1) Somatic cell counts of 200,000 and higher
2) Slow milking quarters or milk out
3) Nervousness or unable to keep milkers on
4) Breeding difficulties
5) Problems with first-calf heifers
6) Good management and milk production does not improve or is decreasing
THE ABOVE ARE SYMPTOMS OF STRAY VOLTAGE!

Auction To Aid Disaster Victims

WASHINGTON, D.C. — More than $50,000 raised at a silent auction organized by the American Cyanamid Company was donated to the American Red Cross to provide emergency assistance to victims of disasters.

"As a leading agricultural products company, we have strong relationships with growers and agrichemical dealers throughout the nation," said Howard L. Minigh, president of Cyanamid's Agricultural Products Division. "Many of these individuals and countless others across the country were affected by natural disasters throughout this past year. We felt we had to help.

"The Red Cross was the natural choice for our donation because whenever a disaster strikes, its volunteers are there helping to relieve human suffering," Minigh said.

Minigh personally presented the contribution to Elizabeth Dole, president of the Red Cross, at the Red Cross national headquarters here.

"We are deeply grateful to American Cyanamid Company for this generous gift to help the victims of disasters," said Dole. "Through this expression of kindness, we will be able to continue our efforts to provide food, clothing, shelter, and other vital assistance to the thousands of victims affected by disasters each year."

The silent auction took place during a recent agricultural trade show sponsored by Cyanamid in Las Vegas, Nev.

Herd Reproductive Summary

In my last column, I discussed volunteer waiting periods (VWP) and how they can be used as targets for getting cows bred early enough to achieve your desired calving interval. I also mentioned that if you wanted to achieve a 12.5-month calvin interval, average days oepn would have to be around 100.

If you average 2 services per conception, days to first service would have to be 21 days less, or about 79, that is if you didn't miss any heats. If your heat detection rate is around 50-60 percent, deduct another 8-10 days. That brings you back to 70 days. And, to end up with an average of 70 days to first service, you'll have to start breeding cows 60 days after calving because some cows will come into heat on the 61st day and others won't be in heat until the 81st day (average of 70 days) depending on their heat cycles.

What are your goals and how well are you doing? How do the younger cows compare with the older cows? What are the average days between heats or between services and how successful are you in detecting heats? What percentage of your herd are repeat breeders?

The Penna. DHIA Herd Summary Report II and the Raleigh DHIA Herd Summary Report can help you answer these questions. The average for Lancaster County herds in May is shown on the Raleigh report in table 1.

The performance of 1st lactation heifers to 2nd lactation and older cows were very similar. Average days to first service for all cows was 92. This is about 1 heat period more than the 70 days I discussed earlier in the second paragraph; and it lengthened their projected calving interval by about 1 month, to an average of 13.5 months.

This is the projected minimum calving interval, based upon days open which is currently averaging 131. If breeding problems persist, days open will continue to increase and projected calving intervals will get longer. If you have a seasonal-calving herd, this could throw you out of cycle and affect your milk base. For this reason, it may be beneficial to have cows calving somewhat uniformly throughout the year. That way, as one group of cows moves out of the base building period due to breeding problems, another group slips into their spot and you will still be able to build a base.

Why are these cows averaging over 130 days open? If we look at table 1, we can see that 28 percent of the cows are not serviced for the first time until after 100 days! Some questions to ask are: were heats being missed? Were these cows not being bred intentionally, because they lacked sufficient flesh, they were milking too much, or it was too hot to expect them to conceive? Were they potential culls to be milked off and sold with no intention of ever being bred?

Another problem that can stretch out days open is repeat breedings. The pregnant cows averaged 1.9 services per pregnancy. These were the easy breeders and cows that conceived successfully. They should have very low services per conception, possibly around 1.5. The services per pregnancy for all cows includes services for the problem breeders plus other normal cows which have not yet been confirmed or assumed pregnant.

Missed heats can also cause days open to increase. According to table 1, only 11 cows had normal intervals of 18-24 days between heats or services. Seven had longer intervals of 3-4 missed heats (36-48 days); some of these could have been embryonic deaths or early-term abortions. Another 19 cows had intervals of less than 18 days or more then 48 days. Some or most of these could be cows that received shots to be short cycled intentially. It could also include cows with mis-diagnosed heats.

The last section of table 1 looks at services over the past 12 months by number of services. First service conception rate was only 48 percent. This low figure could be caused by several factors, some of which are: cows too thin to conceive, infections in the reproductive tract not yet cleared up, attempting to get cows bred too soon after calving, etc. The goal should be 60 percent or greater. As the number of services increases conception rates generally decrease due to problem breeders.

It is a good practice to use the most expensive semen where the chances for conception rates generally decrease due to problem breeders.

It is a good practice to use the most expensive semen where the chances for conception are greatest. Generally, this will be the first service. In table 1, we can see a slight tendency to use the best bulls on the first and second services. Study your DHIA reports carefully. They contain a lot of valuable information that can help you manage your herd more effectively.

USDA Seeks Comment On Milk Marketing Proposal

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The USDA Agricultural Marketing Service is seeking public comment on a proposed change in rules for marketing milk in the Middle Atlantic Marketing Area, according to an announcement made this week.

Those wishing to comment have until July 27 and should send two copies of the comments to USDA/AMS/Dairy Division, Order Formulation Branch, Room 2968, South Building, P.O. Box 96456, Washington, D.C. 20090-6456.

The proposal for change has been made at the request of cooperatives in the Middle Atlantic area who seek to have rules better reflect actual commercial winter milk demand and usage.

According to the notice, a proposal is to, from September 1993 to February 1994, drop the current requirement that 40 percent of the milk sold out of pool distributing plants be sold for Class I, or fluid milk use.

The proposal instead seeks the minimum be lower to 30-percent of the milk sold being mandated for fluid use.

Obstensibly, the reason for setting minimum use is to ensure that producers get a better price for their milk. If the bulk of milk is sold for uses other than fluid consumption, the price received by the producer is lower, than if a certain percentage is used for fluid use, which brings a higher price to the farmer.

The USDA notice stated that, "The suspension (of the 40 percent requirement) was requested by several cooperatives that represent producers who supply a large portion of the milk for the market.

"Proponents contend that the action is necessary to assure that producer milk, which has been historically associated with the market, will continue to be pooled under the order."

In effect, the notice implied that the USDA does not consider the change in rule to have a negative impact on the program.

Additional information supplied by the notice was, "This proposed rule has been reviewed by the Department (sic) ... and has been determined to be a 'non-major' rule."

Also, in the notice from L.P. Massaro, acting administrator of the USDA Agricultural Marketing Service, he stated that the agency "has certified that this action would not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

"Such action would lessen the regulatory impact of the order on certain milk handlers and would tend to ensure that dairy farmers would continue to have their milk priced under the order and thereby receive the benefits that accrue from such pricing."

If changed, the new regulation would not be retroactive, nor would it supercede state or local laws, unless there is an "irreconcilable conflict" with the rule change.

The request had been made because of the fluid market use of the milk has decreased significantly — in February 1990, 52 percent was sold for Class I, in February 1993, 45 percent was sold for fluid use.

Also, those who requested and support the proposal have stated that two former large-volume buyers of diverted milk within Order 4 are now handled under the New York-New Jersey marketing order.

According to Massaro, "The cooperatives claim that they are experiencing difficulty associating all of their diverted producer milk with the remaining distributing plants now regulated under the Middle Atlantic order without affecting the pool status of the milk and/or the plants.

"Thus, it may be appropriate to suspend the higher Class I utilization standard which applies to fluid milk plants under the Middle Atlantic order in the months of September 1993 thought February 1994."

State's Vegetable Production Up 88 Percent

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania's production of fresh market and processing vegetables for 1992 was 190,720 tons, up 88 percent from 1991's production of 101,370. This includes sweet corn, tomatoes, and strawberries for fresh market and snap beans, sweet corn, and tomatoes.

Fresh market production in 1992 was 122,900 tons, up from 1991's production of 50,150 tons. Processing production was 67,820 tons, up 32 percent from 1991's 51,220 tons.

Sweet corn production increased 68 percent for fresh market, from 659,000 cwt. to 1,106,000 cwt. Production of sweet corn for processing increased 32 percent, from 11,560 tons to 15,210 tons. Fresh tomato production expanded from 344,000 cwt. to 714,000 cwt. Processing tomato production protracted 24 percent, from 27,600 tons to 34,200 tons. Strawberry production decreased from 61,000 cwt. to 59,000 cwt., or 5 percent. Processing snap bean production improved from 9,420 tons to 15,120 tons, or 61 percent.

Vegetable yields increased for every commodity listed between 1991 and 1992. Sweet corn yields for 1992 were 57 cwt. per acre for fresh market and 8.45 tons per acre for processing. In 1991 sweet corn yields were 42 cwt. per acre for fresh market and 4.28 tons per acre for processing. Fresh market tomato yields for 1992 were 170 cwt. per acre for fresh market and 28.50 tons per acre for processing. Fresh and processing tomato yields in 1991 were 80 cwt. and 13.80 tons per acre respectively. Strawberry yields went from 38 cwt. per acre in 1991 to 39 cwt. per acre in 1992. Processing snap bean yields increased from 1.52 tons per acre in 1991 to 2.52 tons per acre in 1992.

Total harvested acreage for fresh and processing vegetables was up from 33,000 acres in 1991 to 37,200 acres in 1992. Total fresh market harvested acreage increased from 20,000 to 26,800 while total processing harvested acreage decreased from 13,300 to 10,400. Harvested acres decreased for processing tomatoes (2,000 to 1,200), strawberries (1,600 to 1,500), fresh tomatoes (4,300 to 4,200), processing snap beans (6,200 to 6,000), processing sweet corn (2,700 to 1,800), but increased for fresh sweet corn (15,700 to 19,400).

The combined value of both fresh and processing vegetables expanded from $27,726,000 to $51,162,000 from 1991 to 1992. The fresh market sector totaled $43,533,000 in 1992, compared to $21,900,000 in 1991. Processing vegetables totaled $7,629,000 in 1992, while in 1991 the total was $5,826,000. Value of production increased for fresh sweet corn ($14,366,000 to $20,752,000), fresh tomatoes ($7,534,000 to $15,065,000), strawberries ($6,405,000 to $6,490,000), processing sweet corn ($652,000 to $751,000), processing snap beans ($2,049,000 to $15,120,000), and processing tomatoes ($2,570,000 to $2,750,000).

BUY BRILLION

888, 8810 & 8812 SEEDERS

For years Brillion Grass Seeders have proven to be the best machine for planting grasses and legumes... and now they're even better! Larger, heavier boxes, high seeding rates, nylon lined seed meter, heavier frame, new drive system and more.

X-FOLD PULVERIZERS

The X-Fold pulverizers are designed to meet the needs of today's larger acreage farmers.... and Brillion offers them in two models and 11 sizes from 18' through 46'. Now available with 20" Ductile Rollers.

SOIL BUILDERS

SOIL BUILDERS are a primary conservation tool that breaks up plow pan to absorb moisture and blends surface residue into the soil with enough residue left on top to control wind and water erosion. 5-13 shank.

SERIES 08
PULVI-MULCHERS
ML & WL

PULVI-MULCHERS Build a firm, clod-free seedbed — one that lets all the seeds germinate at one time. 12'6", 13'10", 15'2" & 18'9" rigid; 21'8" 25' and 30' flat fold.

2 & 3 BAR CHISEL PLOWS

The Brillion 2 & 3-Bar Mounted Chisel Plow is available with 1"x2"x26" or 1¼ "x2"x32" shanks. Available in sizes 7'-16'. Options include gauge wheel kits for both 26" & 32" shanks. Also available are 2', 4' and 6' extension kits.

FLAIL SHREDDERS

540 OR 1000 RPM
FLAIL SHREDDERS Heaviest gearbox on the market eliminates the number one cause of downtime. Available in 12' and 15'. Either cup or side slicer knives.

SINGLE GANG PULVERIZERS

Also Available As Pull Type

NEW P10 SERIES TRANSPORT CONCEPT Brillion's transport concept is new to the industry. Machine weight is hydraulically rotated over the wheels for transport. This reduced drawbar hitch weight considerably and provides ample clearance for transporting. 10' to 16'. Available with 20 ductile rolls.

3-PT. BASKET HARROW

Brillion has designed a 3 pt. S-Tine field cultivator with a larger, aggressively angled 12" diameter rolling basket, a 4-bar frame that allows for either 4" or 6" tooth spacing and an adjustable leveler bar in 12', 15' and 18' sizes. Gauge wheels are optional.

DEEP TILLS

The three shank model, shown above, has a Category II hitch. With a cutting width of 7'6", it is ideal for operators with smaller acreages and horsepower. It is extremely maneuverable, yet provides the same basic deep tilling job as its "big brothers." 3 to 7 shank.

Sutherland To Retire

ITHACA, N.Y. — Executive manager of the New York Holstein Association, Hugh Sutherland has announced his retirement effective July 15, 1993.

Sutherland's responsibilities have been to plan and execute programs of the state breed organization, which include shows, sales, educational meetings, and cattle merchandising. He has carried out these duties for 15 years.

Prior to becoming executive manager, he served the association at the local and state level through involvement on various committees, including a term as state president from 1975-76. He has also been involved in numerous other agricultural and community organizations over the years.

Sutherland graduated from SUNY Delhi in 1950 with his A.A.S. degree in animal husbandry. Upon graduation, he accepted a position as assistant herdsman for the Beacon Dairy Research Farm in Cayuga, N.Y. Between

Hugh Sutherland

He worked with such outstanding herds as Miller Acres Farm, Billings, N.Y.; Maraview Farm, Marathon, N.Y.; and Ed Don George, North Java, N.Y. He also served in the U.S. Army from 1955-57.

From 1957 to 1982, Sutherland owned Chapel Bank Farm, Delhi, N.Y. The herd was well recognized and highly respected, with more than 30 bulls from the herd entered A.I. organizations, numerous cattle exported to several foreign countries, and an aggressive merchandising program which was developed and maintained.

The Chapel Bank, Delhi, milking herd was sold in the spring of 1978, with heifers being retained to form a nucleus for a continued Chapel Bank herd.

In 1982, Sutherland became a partner in the development of the Chapel Bank, Hobart, registered Holstein herd. A son, David, has now taken over the farm.

Hugh and his wife, Irene, have four children, including sons John and David; daughters Sharon and Diane; and three grandchildren.

SRBC To Meet At Inner Harbor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Susquehanna River Basin Commission is to meet 1 p.m., July 8, at the Balitmore Marriott Inner Harbor, Baltimore, Md.

According to a news release, the agenda of the meeting is to include a review of staff accomplishments during the past six months and of its goals for the next six.

Also on the slate is:

- consideration of a ground water management plan for the basin;
- endorsement of an enforcement procedure for ensuring that those entities whose water-use projects have been approved comply with submitting reports and paying monitoring fees;
- assessment of a penalty against Ski Snowpeak, for failure to submit its annual monitoring report and fee;
- revision of the SRBC's Organizational Manual (which governs the SRBC's internal operations);
- ratification of three contracts;
- review a proposed water use registration regulation.

Of those applications, specifically, the Hallstead System under the Northeast District of Pennsylvania-American Water Company, seeks up to .35 million gallons per day from the water company's Susquehanna Sytem, also within the company's Northeast District; Dover Township, seeks to purchase up to 1 million gallons per day from the York Water Company; and Ashland Area Municipal Authority is seeking to withdraw up to .8 million gallons per day from Ashland Reservoir, an impoundment of the Little Mahanoy Creek, for its public water supply, and also to purchase up to .6 million gallons a day from Roaring Creek Water Company, of Schuylkill County.

In addition to those items, the SRBC is hear reports on basin hydrologic conditions; the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' STEL-LA computer model.

America's beef supply have developed an aggressive Beef Safety Assurance Program, administered by various state organizations affiliated with the National Cattlemen's Association (NCA).

Representing 300,000 cattlemen from all segments of the U.S. cattle and beef industry, the National Cattlemen's Association serves as the industry's national trade association.

The association's Beef Safety and Quality Assurance Task Force studies food safety issues and helps develop educational programs for state cattle organizations to use in developing local quality assurance programs. There are 30 states with beef cattle quality assurance programs, designed specifically to address the needs of cattlemen in those states.

Since first being developed about five years ago, the emphasis of the National Cattlemen's Association's quality assurance program has been expanded to include much more than just residue avoidance. Quality assurance programs now include information on avoiding cattle bruising and possible reactions to vaccinations, which can affect the cosmetic value of beef cuts.

Of course, cattlemen continue to be educated about safe ways to use animal health products for the production of an abundant and safe beef supply. Quality assurance manuals include fact sheets on product information, residue withdrawal times, animal care, feed production, and cooperation with veterinarians and extension service agents.

The National Cattlemen's Association provides this information, as well as educational videos and a speakers' bureau, in its effort to maintain the safety of beef in the United States.

Members of the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association and Penn State Beef and Meats Extension jointly planned a Quality Assurance Program in 1992 for the state. Specific procedures for that program included development of a consistent educational effort across the state.

A certification program was developed with an agenda that included general information regarding producer responsibilities for meat quality, record keeping, proper injection site technique, understanding of drug labels and their use in proper use of drugs, animal handling to prevent injury, and a certification test. Educational materials were purchased or developed to support the training.

Last September, 16 county agricultural agents completed the certification program and were designated as trainers and contacts for local cattlemen's groups. The agents will help procure educational materials, assist in planning a local training program, and oversee the certification of participants.

A key component of the training program is the assistance of a local veterinarian to provide the training with proper injections and the use of drugs.

The NCA is coordinating the beef QA programs. For more information, call NCA at (303) 694-0305.

MILK AND DAIRY-BEEF QUALITY ASSURANCE PROGRAM

Extension Veterinarian
Penn State

Your truck broke down this afternoon and you're on the side of the road waiting for a tow. Your children are home preparing for the evening milking without you. They have the cows in the barn, checked the treatment record by the medicine cabinet, found that cow you treated for mastitis this morning (she had an ankle tag), and arranged to milk her separately.

Milking goes smoothly and you finally make it home to help clean up. Because of the milking routine, there is little chance that antibiotics will end up in the bulk tank on this farm. The routines have changed quite a bit since they adopted a quality assurance program last year.

The National Milk Producers Federation and the American Veterinary Medical Association specifically designed the Milk and Dairy Beef Quality Assurance Program to help dairy producers market residue-free milk and dairy beef. The unique aspect of the dairy program is that it is a cooperative program between the producer, the veterinarian, and the field representative.

The program is centered on a booklet that helps the producer review antibiotic use and storage practices on the farm. An integral part of the program is an evaluation of practices in conjunction with a veterinarian and the development of a specific plan aimed at decreasing the risk for an on-farm antibiotic violation.

Quality assurance is a responsibility that the whole dairy industry must take seriously, and it begins on your farm. You can obtain a quality assurance booklet from your milk plant or cooperative or you can write to Agri-Education Inc., 801 Shakespeare Avenue, Stratford, IA 50249.

If you have a booklet, take the time to read it, review your farm practices, and then call your veterinarian to finish the program.

The time and money are a small investment for the assurance to the public that the dairy industry cares to produce a quality product.

Three Cases Illustrate The Importance Of Quality Assurance In Pork Production

Case 1: In the May 17, 1993 issue of Newsweek, an ad paid for by the Humane Farming Association appeared on page 17. It was entitled "'The Other White Meat' — Has a Very Dark Side." Using an exaggerated and emotional approach, the ad challenged the pork industry on several fronts. One was our use of antibiotics — "The pork industry even claims that its use of drugs and hormones is 'safe.' In other words, they want us to believe that a sow's ear is a silk purse." I suppose that any reader with a minimal amount of

CAROL PEARCE
Bradford Co. Correspondent

MARYSVILLE (Perry Co.) — Nestled in the heart of Perry County, situated on 32 tree-strewn acres, is RaJa Hill Farm, a 225-calf veal unit owned by Ralph and Jane Alleman.

Jane is president-elect of the American Veal Association (AVA) and she operates her veal program by the AVA standards of quality assurance.

To Jane Alleman, quality assurance means being able to produce the best quality veal that can be provided for the consumers of the world, especially with the increasing amount of veal that is exported.

The quality assurance program is used when purchasing a calf, which has to be of the highest quality to fit Alleman's program.

She believes the better quality a calf is, the better quality product is produced. This is why the AVA is trying to involve the dairy farmer in their quality assurance program through the new protocol being developed in cooperation with the National Milk Producers Federation and the American Holstein Fresian Association.

This partnering is trying to incorporate the dairymen's assistance in the proper procedure of handling a calf from birth. The practice of dipping the navel, making sure the calf has colostrum, calving in a clean, dry, and warm area, and having the cow vaccinated, will assure the farmer of a higher price for the calf when it is sold, and provide a quality animal for the veal grower.

Once the calf is in Alleman's barn, she gives each one individual attention, which can be accomplished by keeping them in individual pens. Loose or group housing has been attempted, but it is still in the experimental stage because it is hard to keep track of each individual when they are all together in a group.

Alleman believes that a good vet-client-patient relationship is also essential to obtain the best possible advice for the animal.

In the area of medication, Alleman keeps accurate records on every animal treated, keeping track of the type of medication, amount given, and length of treatment. She adheres to the withdrawal time of the medication, making sure there is no residue problem. The AVA's Quality Assurance Education program has been instrumental in lowering Federal Safety and Inspection Services (FSIS) reported residue levels down from 3.2 percent in 1989 to .24 percent in 1991. The statistics are not available for 1992.

The type of feed that Alleman uses is also a contributing factor in the quality of the finished calf. She makes sure she uses a good feed that provides a balanced diet, to assure the best growth in a decent amount of time.

The Allemans also keep a constant check on the iron level by monitoring the blood every four weeks. Jane takes a blood sample from 10 calves in each room to make sure the calves are not anemic, because anemic calves don't grow. Halfway through the period of time that the calves are kept, blood samples are taken from every calf in the barn to determine the iron level and increase the iron on an individual basis as required.

The ventilation system is also an important factor in the growth, health, and development of veal calves. There must be adequate heating in the winter months and cooling in the summer, along with the removal of stale air that can spread disease and cause respiratory problems. Jane's barn has a unique exhaust system that was developed by her husband, Ralph, in cooperation with the building contractor, that is located along the floor under the front of the calves. The stale air is wisked away before it has a chance to be inhaled by the calf.

It is also essential to Alleman that the truckers that haul her animals know what they are doing. She makes sure that the calves are not over- or under-loaded, because improper loading can cause a multitude of problems.

With all of the care that each calf receives for the approximate 16 weeks that they are in the Alleman's care, a trucking mishap would be a disaster. The truck driver must stop and check the calves enroute to their destination to see if there are any problems on board. If this is not the trucker's practice, the Allemans will not use them again.

Program Assures Public That Pork Is Safe

KLINGERSTOWN (Schuylkill Co.) — Rick Masser, while keeping busy with his 500-sow farrow-to-finish swine operation, worries what may happen down the pike. Will consumers become so powerful they completely influence the packers?

Will quality control become the only method by which pork producers, who must follow the dicates of consumer concerns, can survive?

The quality assurance program provides "a good way to reassure public that what they are buying is safe," said Masser.

Masser become involved with the Pork Quality Assurance Program about 1½ years ago through the advice of his veterinarian, Dr. Tim Trayer of Hutchison Trayer and Reed Veterinary Associates, Denver. Masser said Trayer "felt one way to to reassure the public that the product they were receiving was safe was to join the program.

"Buyers of pork believe it is good to them and to help (counter) bad press," said Masser. The bad press paints a distorted picture of pork as unhealthy.

The quality assurance program tries to change that by providing the facts and documenting swine producers' efforts to produce a healthy product.

According to the Schuylkill County pork producer, packers aren't putting pressure on producers to strictly follow the guidelines offered by the program through the National Pork Producers Council, but public pressure, in the future, could force them to.

Masser said the program is an honor system that can be followed fairly easily by most producers. He is midway through level three of the program.

Food Safety Drives Pork Quality Assurance Program

ANDY ANDREWS

FLEETWOOD (Berks Co.) — Eastern Berks County swine producer Steve Burkholder said the issue of the 1990s will be food safety.

"To do that, we have to guarantee a quality product," he said. "Everybody's concerned. The 1990s will be more critical for the farmer to provide what the consumer wants — and they want quality."

The National Pork Producers Council (NPPC) Quality Assurance Program has been in effect the past four years at the 150-sow farrow-to-finish operation. Burkholder, in farming with his father since 1957, took over the business in 1985. He employs one full-time herdsman, Floyd Huber.

Burkholder said his herd genetics were provided by the Pig Improvement Company (PIC). His experience has been good with the genetics, including obtaining a good percentage of lean on the finished hogs. He sells the finished hogs to Hatfield.

All levels of the program are administered by the farm staff and through the work of Dr. Tim Trayer, of Hutchison Trayer and Reed Veterinary Associates in Denver. Trayer performs regular herd checks to ensure segments of the program are completed on schedule.

Fulfilling the requirements of the program depend on size of the herd and other factors. But the program can be put into effect with ease on most swine operations, according to the pork producer. Burkholder said he believes there should be more producers on the program.

Burkholder serves as president of the Eastern Pennsylvania Pork Producers Association, which has 20-25 members. While many pork producers throughout the state are under contract, and the program is administered by the contract holders, according to Burkholder, most of the eastern Berks producers are independents. The county itself does have contract operations in some parts, however.

Quality Assurance

common sense could see the fluff in this ad. But I would also guess that most readers would wonder how much of the information really is true, given the fact that many surveys document consumer concerns about drug residues in meat.

Case 2: A few months ago, during a farm visit to solve an MMA problem, I asked a swine producer what medication he was using in his lactation feed. He answered, "I'm not sure." And so I asked whether he knew if there was any medication in the feed. He wasn't certain of that either. A trip to the premix room showed that there was no medication in the sow feed. However, we did notice several bags of Tylan + Sulfa. Did he realize that the sulfa in this product was sulfamethazine, and that this particular drug was responsible for most of our violative drug residues? He did not. Incidentally, he was using the medication only for grower pigs. But the grower pigs happened to be housed in the finishing barn.

Case 3: If someone asked you whether injectable procaine penicillin were approved for use in hogs, you would probably correctly answer, "Yes." Now, if you were also asked what swine diseases are legal to treat with penicillin, I'll bet you're like most producers and don't know for sure. In fact, erysipelas is the only disease for which penicillin can legally be given to hogs.

All three of these cases underscore our need for a Pork Quality Assurance Program. In short, we need it to maintain consumer confidence, and we need it to ensure producers understand and practice proper drug handling. Both of these benefits can result from only minimal producer effort.

How The Program Works

Levels I and II consist of a self-instruction booklet that will take less than one hour to complete. In these sections, producers become familiar with the reasons we use drugs in animal production. And more importantly, they learn what is involved in the responsible use of animal health products.

For example, all producers understand the concept of withdrawal. But some may not realize that drug carryover can occur if feeders, storage bins, auger systems, mixing equipment, and pens (manure) are not cleaned when the drug is withdrawn.

Another concept that may not be taken seriously is that of proper feed mixing. Emptying the mixer too soon after the last ingredient is added, overfilling the mixer, and operating a mixer with worn parts can all result in a poorly mixed feed which may contain pockets of high drug concentrations.

Still another component of Levels I and II is the understanding of the veterinarian/client/patient relationship. Without this commitment, there may be many seemingly routine uses of drugs that, in fact, are illegal. The case of injecting penicillin for something other than erysipelas is a perfect example.

Having completed Levels I and II, the producer is ready for Level III, the final stage in the program. This level consists of 10 "Critical Control Points" that must be understood and followed for the program to be valid. The control points begin with establishing an effective herd health plan, and end with an annual assurance checklist. To complete Level III, someone must "sign off" that you not only understand the program, but are dedicated to following it. The person who signs off need not be a veterinarian, but that would be the most logical choice since the veterinarian/client/patient relationship must be established anyway.

What Does The Program Cost?

There is no cost for the materials. But you will likely have charges from the veterinarian or consultant in your progress toward completion of Level III.

What Is The Program Worth?

Getting your drug handling procedures on sound footing makes good sense economically. It reduces the risk of a drug residue. And chances are you'll look at your operation in a new perspective that can not only save you money, but help you focus on the important tasks.

So even if there weren't a world of consumers bearing down on us with critical eyes, the merits of the program are obvious. But the fact is the very individuals who create the hog market are the same ones who wonder how we use drugs, why we use drugs, and what impact these products have on their lives.

And as we continually claw our way into a highly competitive world market, we're reminded that Pork Quality Assurance is more than a good idea, we really don't have a choice.

Al Tank, National Pork Producers vice president for foreign trade, makes a compelling point that the buyers in Japan understand the Pork Quality Assurance Program inside and out. So there is little reason for our producers not to.

Where Can You Get Information

Chances are, your veterinarian already knows about the program. If not, all materials are available from the National Pork Producers Council by calling (800) 456-7675, or (800) 456-PORK.

(Editor's note: Carolyn Ritter, Dover, said the quality assurance program is mostly common sense — following withdrawal times on drugs and not using drugs if you don't need to. "The main goal is to put the best pork on the table for the consumer," she said.)

A comprehensive Veal Quality Assurance Educational Program was initiated by the American Veal Association in 1988. This industry-funded, industry-directed program is comparable to QA programs in other species and production systems.

More than 80 percent of U.S. special-fed veal producers and others in the industry have participated in QA seminars since 1988.

Few medications are labeled specifically for special-fed veal; most drugs are used in an extra-label manner, which requires a prescription from an attending veterinarian.

Recently the Center for Veterinary Medicine of the Food and Drug Administration issued a policy that states that veal calves will be assigned the same target tissue, tolerance, and marker residue assigned to ruminating calves and/or cattle. The impact of this policy is that sponsors who wish to add a veal calf label to a drug approved for ruminating animals will need only go through an abbreviated procedure similar to that currently used for approval for minor use/minor species labeling of a drug.

The QA program developed by the American Veal Association has already demonstrated its value in reduction of residues in special-fed veal to less than one-third of one percent of samples tested by the USDA Food Safety Inspection Service.

More information on the veal QA program is available from American Veal Association, One Naperville Plaza, 1804 Naper Boulevard, Suite 241, Naperville IL 60563, (708) 505-8521.

PSU Wins National Competition

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Penn State Dairy Science Club won first place in the Outstanding Chapter competition at the recent American Dairy Science Association Student Affiliate meetings held in College Park, Md.

This award is based on club activities, participation in meetings, and a club scrapbook or yearbook.

Placing second was Virginia Tech, followed by California Polytechnic State University-San Louis Obispo.

Penn State's Jayne Hess of Gettysburg placed second in the manufacturing division of the undergraduate paper competition with her presentation, "Changing Habits in Milk Consumption."

Beth Cooley of Allenwood presented a talk, "Yeast Additives to Dairy Rations," in the production division.

In the student activities symposium, Aimee Eopechino of Hanover discussed the successful Adopt-A-Cow program.

Penn State Dairy Science Club president David Lentz completed his term as ADSA-SAD Officer-at-Large. The Penn State Dairyman placed fifth in the yearbook competition.

Several Penn state students received recognition for outstanding academic achievement. Students honored with gold, silver, or bronze awards included Brent Baker, Martinsburg; Lynnette Goodling, Selinsgrove; Rodger Keith, Martinsburg; Eugene Kreitzer, Fredericksburg; Thomas McCauley, Elizabethtown; Peter Mozes, Greenville; and David Wascak, Dunbar.

The meetings were well-attended and provided students from around the nation opportunities to share ideas and discuss new programs. Other participants from Penn State included Bryan Herring, Farmington; Theron Kibbe, Wellsville, N.Y.; Brenda Mihaliak, Willington, Conn.; Terri Packard, Troy; Shannon Peterman, Muncy; Marel Raub, Duncannon; Howard Reyburn, Oxford; and Matthew Wanner, Narvon.

The group was accompanied by club advisers Lawrence Muller and Dale Olver.

NDB Brochure Provides Recipies

ARLINGTON, Va. — The busier consumers get with work and summertime fun, the less time they have to prepare meals. And although a lot of meals are eaten outside the home, market research shows consumers still like a homemade meal. Stocking their freezers with "heat 'n eat" meals made in their own kitchen may be just the right solution.

The leaflet "Do-Ahead Dairy Dishes," developed by the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board, builds on that solution with dairy recipes and tips for freezing and serving meals.

The "Do-Ahead Dairy Dishes" leaflet is part of the most recent National Dairy Board Supermarket Kit that includes: a sample recipe card, a backgrounder on the proper handling, storing and freezing of dairy foods to keep them at their best, clip art to be used in the stores' advertisements, on milk cartons or on shopping bags, a color photo of a finished recipe for use in a newsletter, and an order form for additional materials.

Each year, the National Dairy Board distributes two Supermarket Kits with free dairy information materials tailored to a certain subject. For example, the kit mailed last fall featured materials highlighting the USDA's Food Pyramid and showed consumers how to fit dairy foods in a healthy diet.

Supermarket kits are distributed to more than 800 consumer affairs specialists and dairy merchandisers of major supermarket chains. They use the materials to help sell more milk and dairy foods through programs for their customers.

"Since the supermarket kits were mailed out in late April, we have received orders for more than 500,000 recipe leaflets," reports Maynard Lang, Iowa dairy farmer and chair of the National Dairy Board's Public Relations Committee. "Order numbers like that confirm consumer interest in dairy recipes that also offer convenience."

For a copy of the brochure, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: National Dairy Board, "Do-Ahead Dairy Dishes", 2111 Wilson Blvd., Ste. 600, Arlington, Va. 22201.

The National Dairy Promotion and Research Board, consisting of 36 dairy farmers from across the U.S., develops and implements a coordinated effort of promotion, research and communications to strengthen the dairy industry's image in the marketplace. This effort is financed by America's dairy farmers.

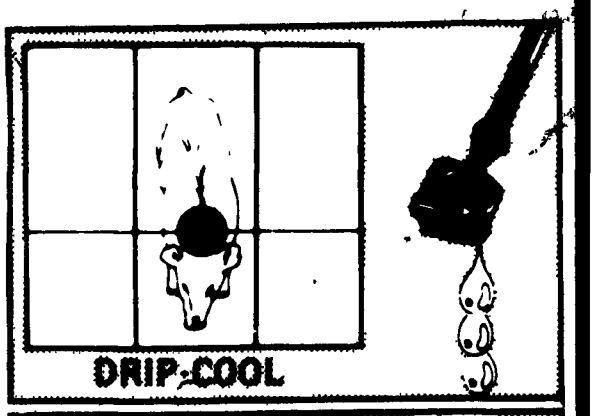
DRIP-COOL

Used on sows in the farrowing and gestation crates and boars in individual pens. Water is dripped in SMALL amounts to the neck and shoulders of the animal and does the cooling trick with little or no run-off to effect the piglets or the pits.



Edstrom

SPRAY-COOL

A coarse droplet spray that is (based on research) far more effective than a fogger. It is used on growing/finishing pigs and breeding stock in group pens. The system is often used when the hot weather subsides to DUNG-TRAIN the animals. Pork producers who use the method swear that it cuts cleaning time in half.

Forest Restoration Garners

directed by the Bureau of Forestry, requires farmers to develop a forest management plan for properties and pledge to abide by a stewardship ethic in managing their woodlands.

While a faculty member of Lower Merion High School, Art started the first formal "stream adoption" in Pennsylvania in 1974. According to Mary, many of Art's enthusiastic students, with him as mentor, worked evenings and weekends building stream dams and planting stream banks in an effort to improve the ecology of historic Mill Creek, which once furnished drinking water to Washington's soldiers en route to Valley Forge.

At the time the stream was "adopted," it was almost dead, according to the Wolfes, with a biological index of 1. Five years later, the stream had a population of native brown trout.

Art taught geology, astronomy, and earth science at Lower Merion High School, and was outstanding earth science teacher in 1975. He organized the Lower Merion-Narberth Wastershed Association and was its executive director for nine years.

After retiring from teaching in 1982, Art and Mary Wolfe purchased land in Adams County, where Mary's father established a fruit tree nursery. Mary's brother, Melvin Worley, continues to grow a variety of fruit, ornamental, and nut trees, and a large selection of old-time varieties of apple trees.

Remnants of road

Forest Restoration

hundred years ago was a road travelers used to voyage to Baltimore.

The stream was forded, and the road passed through fields. Forest was chopped down and used for lumber.

Now, looking at the site, you could hardly tell if a road ever passed through there.

Restore area

But it didn't take long to cut down a lot of trash growth, remove old fruit trees that should have been cut down long ago, trim away hedge material, and restore the area to its original beauty.

It was the move from a densely urban area such as Montgomery County, with many folk commuting for hours back and forth from the city, that appealed to the Wolfes years ago.

Art remembers what it was like, growing up in Lehigh County, as radio stations touted the area for commuters.

"I was raised in the Lehigh Valley, and sometimes in the winter, in the shop, I'd get the New York stations to listen to, and they'd adversite the 'Little Apple,' which is the Lehigh Valley," he said, "for an 'easy commute to New York City.' And they're selling the Lehigh Valley out to people from New York City."

Times often don't change, especially in the case of the Wolfes, who must now deal with development near their own property from commuters who travel an hour and a half from Washington, D.C.

Art said he doesn't understand how they can deal with the long drive, which he said would "work on my nerves.

"It's unbelievable to me, but they do it. I would feel that much would drive me crazy, because it'd be just enough to be a headache," he said.

Maintains pasture

The Wolfes maintain about 235 acres and 8,000 trees, mostly Christmas trees sold at the Worley's Nursery stand. But Wolfe also maintains about 15 acres of pasture and grows about 38 acres of corn, 40 acres of soybeans, 70 acres of hay, and two acres of buckwheat, all cash crops. He takes care of about 80 acres of woodland.

He worked some cleared acreage this spring — a tough task, considering the junk to work over lying about the ground.

"Ground that you just cleared, you know, you have to work it 10 times more than you normally would," he said.

The Wolfes installed some conservation practices on the farm, including a three-foot deep water retention pond constructed in 1992 that helps control sediment and runoff from fields. Also, Wolfe worked contour strips and installed diversion terraces as part of the farm's overall reworking through the years.

A great deal of work late last year and into this year involved clearing wood left by loggers in a 15-acre woodland a few hundred yards from the homestead.

"The loggers came in and took the most money they could out of it," he said. "They took everything good and left everything that was no good. And so we've been trying to get things back where they belong."

Planted Red Oak

Wolfe planted about 100 Red Oak saplings in April and covered them with plastic to protect from deer damage. Bluebird shields will be installed as soon as he has time.

Also, Wolfe planted about 60 Pollonia trees, which require a lot of maintainance, and more than 30 various nut trees in a lane separating the corn and soybean fields. Nut tree varieties include pecan and chestnut.

According to the tree farmer, much work was necessary to restore nearly all aspects of the farm, including some work on the buildings, which date back to 1786. The stone house was built in 1850, and a house now used for their Deardorff's Mill antique business to about 1790.

"This was a really well-kept farm," Wolfe said. "But then after about 20 years of not being managed right . . ."

To get the fields ready for planting, Wolfe said he used a combination of plowing methods, "an unbelievable job of plowing — it hadn't been farmed for years and years and years."

Art said he and his wife did all the work. In the spring, she helped drive the tractor while he put in the trees.

She also helps him when it comes time to sell the Christmas trees, and also with the antique business in the winter season.

National Guernsey Association Reports Convention

REYNOLDSBURG, OHIO — Positive action was taken by the membership and board of directors to further the future of the Guernsey breed at the annual convention of the American Guernsey Association June 11-14 in Dubuque, Iowa.

Positive action was taken by the board of directors on several matters. One was to make changes regarding the current type traits appraisal program. The board passed a motion which stated "Animals owned by individuals housed on same farms may be considered separate herds for appraisal purposes. If any animal is transferred over 15 months of age between herd owners within one year prior to appraisal, then all eligible cattle must be appraised. If both herds are not appraised, then occasional classification rates will be charged if appraised on a regular schedule. However, the minimum herd fee will be $75."

Effective in 1994, junior exhibitors in the national junior Guernsey shows must have cows and calves registered in their names by July 1. This transfer date change from January 1 to July 1 was made to increase the participation in the mature classes at the national junior shows. The January 1 rule will remain in effect for the 1993 show season. The junior entry fee in the All-American contest will be reduced from $20 to $10 per entry. These new fees will go into effect with the 1993 All-American contest.

The membership also took a stand on an important issue at the annual meeting. The vote to eliminate the Guernsey Genetic Growth program from Section K of Article III of the Bylaws of the American Guernsey Association passed by the majority of active membership who voted.

Church Crowned National Guernsey Queen

Amy Church, the 20-year-old daughter of Craig and Gladie Church of Cresco, Iowa, took top honors when she was crowned the 1993 National Guernsey Queen. She has been active with the family's Oak Knob Guernsey herd since she was a small child. As National Guernsey Queen, Church feels that her responsibilities fall into two categories, consumer promotion and producer events. She said, "Consumer promotion is essential to publicize Guernsey cattle and the delicious, nutritious products they provide for us. Equally important is promoting the Guernsey breed to dairy farmers. The national Guernsey queen should promote excellent Guernsey cattle, herds and achievements to producers of other breeds." Church is a junior at Iowa State University where she is majoring in dairy science and agriculture journalism.

Elizabeth Littlefield, the 20-year-old daughter of Clarence and Sharon Littlefield of Watertown, New York, has been crowned a 1993 National Guernsey Princess. As a National Guernsey Princess, Littlefield said she will promote the Guernsey cow and her strengths in many ways. She said, "First, I will work with other Guernsey breeders to strive for breed improvement programs through better genetics and marketing of products. I will tell everyone of the efficiency of the Guernsey cow, especially lenders and agricultural economists who advise to watch your cash flow." Littlefield is currently pursuing a degree at Cornell University with a major in dairy science and a minor in communications.

Jennifer Berg, the 18-year-old daughter of Pamela and Curtis Berg of West Salem, Wisconsin, has been crowned a 1993 National Guernsey Princess. As a National Guernsey Princess, Berg said "My main responsibility is to promote and represent the American Guernsey Association, the Guernsey cow and her products." Berg said she will use this opportunity as a learning experience and apply the knowledge she learns to her future. Berg is a student at the University of Wisconsin at River Falls. She is employed at the university's dairy farm lab.

Guernsey Outstanding Young Farmer Selected

Three outstanding young farmers were recognized at the 1993 annual youth awards banquet. A national winner, first runner-up and second runner-up winners were selected.

Millie Widmann received $750 and the Eugene Harding Memorial Watch Award for being named the 1993 National Outstanding Young Guernsey Farmer. Widmann and her husband Jim reside in Oxford, Pennsylvania. With her brother Axel, Linde joined in a partnership to continue their parent's herd of Lindenhof Guernseys. Their 1992 rolling herd average for 55 cows was 17,099M 766F 602P. Widmann's goal is to increase the herd size to 80 cows by raising their own young stock. She would like to increase production and profitability in the Lindenhof herd. Because their milk market is 55 percent fluid sales and they are paid a premium for solids-not-fat, Widmann said they are selecting mating sires based on pounds of milk and pounds of protein. She studied animal science at Cobleskill State University in New York.

Mark Erdman of Lexington, Illinois, was named the first runner-up in the 1993 National Outstanding Young Guernsey Farmer contest and received $200. He owns Myown Guernsey Dairy in partnership with his father Myron. The rolling herd average so far for 1993 is 15,171M 704F 535P on 86 cows. Besides the 370 Guernseys on the dairy, he farms 800 acres of row crops and finishes 5,000 head of hogs per year. He graduated in 1980 with a bachelor's degree in animal science from the Illinois State University where he was active on the dairy judging team. He received the AGA outstanding youth award in 1978. Erdman would like to keep herd achievements on the incline and increase the milking herd size. He would also like to show people how type, production and indexes can work hand-in-hand. Erdman is striving to increase the rolling herd average over the next several years to 20,000M, 900F and 700P.

Thomas Luebke of Mayer, Minnesota, was named second runner-up in the 1993 National Young Guernsey Farmer contest. With his wife Jody, they own and operate Edgewater Meadows Guernsey Farm. They have two children — Lindsay, 7, and Brady, 3. Their 1992 rolling herd average for 27 cows was 15,693M 730F 530P. Luebke's goal over the next five years is to increase his total farm net profit by increasing the production and herd life of his cows, and decreasing labor by changing to a free stall system and fall freshening. His breeding program consists of using strictly the top PTI bulls, plus Dairybelt Young Sires. His herd has always been 100 percent A.I. bred. Luebke graduated from Hutchinson Area Vocational Technical Institute in dairy management.

New Guernsey Board Slated

Three positions of the American Guernsey Association Board of Directors were voted on at the National Convention. Two board members were re-elected and one new member was selected.

John Morrow of Tyrone, Pennsylvania, will represent District Two on the board. Morrow's farm houses 70 head of young stock and 80 milking Guernseys enrolled on TPE. His 100 percent registered Guernsey herd is tested annually for Johne's. Sixty percent of his breeding program consists of using young sires through Mid-Atlantic Guernsey Sires and A.I. young sire programs. Of the 380 acres Morrow farms, 60 are devoted to intensive grazing and the others are used to grow corn, alfalfa, soybeans and barley. His experience as a farmer and breeder who is dependent on the Guernsey cow for his family's future is an asset Morrow said he can bring to this leadership position. He has been a director and president of the Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders' Association which also qualifies him for this position. District Two represents the states of Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Cline Brubaker of Rocky Mount, Virginia, was re-elected as director for District Six. Brubaker, who has served as president of the American Guernsey Association the past two years, will continue as president for the upcoming year. He currently has 95 registered Guernseys on test and 102 replacement heifers. Four of the cows in his herd are in the top 300 of the breed for cow performance index. The herd is ranked number 13 in the top 30 herds of the Guernsey breed for cow performance index. Young sire programs are a high priority for Brubaker. He is a member and chairman of the administrative committee of Mid-Atlantic Guernsey Sires and is a member of several other young sire sampling programs. He is the past president of the Virginia Guernsey Breeders' Association, past president of the Rocky Mount Young Farmers, past president of the Franklin County ASCS Comm., and a past director of Old Dominion Division of Dairymen, Inc. Brubaker said, "There is a future in our Guernsey breed if we as breeders keep believing and working to make a stronger association for our children and grandchildren. Let's promote our most valuable asset — the Guernsey cow." District Six represents Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

Truman Weaver of Goshen, Indiana, was re-elected as director-at-large to the board of directors. Weaver is currently the chairman of the type committee. Belonging to local and state Guernsey and dairy associations has given Weaver experience in leadership positions as well. He is also active in his church. Weaver feels that he can bring leadership to the board as director-at-large because "Our livelihood has always depended on a 100 percent Guernsey herd. I'm deeply committed to the future of the breed." Weaver's herd consists of 60 milking Guernseys and he farms 60 acres of corn, hay, soybeans and wheat. His herd is enrolled on TPE and he is a member of Lake Central Guernsey Sires. Weaver is optimistic about the future of the breed. He said, "With membership commitment and a spirit of cooperation, we will succeed." The director-at-large represents all active members of the American Guernsey Association in all states.

Other board members and officers include: First Vice-President Lee Riggs of Evansville, Indiana; Second Vice-President Eldon Moss of Iowa City, Iowa; Laurie Askew of Hilmar, California; Robert Holcomb of Greene, New York; Kevin Nedrow of Clifton Springs, New York; and Don Peterson of Cashton, Wisconsin.

Outstanding Guernsey Youth

After many grueling interviews with a panel of judges, the National Outstanding Guernsey Youth winners were announced at the annual youth awards banquet.

Brent Clements, the 19-year-old son of Kenneth and Judy Clements of Stoddard, Wisconsin, received the $500 Lawrence A. Colebank Award and $150 for travel expenses to the convention for being named the 1993 National Outstanding Guernsey Youth. Clements is a student at the University of Wisconsin-Madison majoring in dairy science and agriculture law. As the owner of 64 Guernseys, Clements said the dairy industry will always be a big part of his life. He said, "It takes critical thinking and motivation to be a success in the dairy industry. Without the dairy industry, I wouldn't be in the degree program I am pursuing, wouldn't have met so many friends, and would not have gone this far in life." Clements continues to be active with his Guernseys while away at school by helping with ration balancing, computerized farm record keeping, calf and heifer management, marketing and advertising, sire selection and public relations. When home, he assists with feeding, milking and field work.

MILK CHECK

Lackawanna County

June Dairy Month

SCRANTON (Lackawanna Co.) — About 50 years ago the dairy industry, in a rare moment of unanimity, picked the month of June for a national program to promote the consumption of dairy products.

It was a natural choice because June was the season of increasing production and falling milk prices at the farm. Many things have changed dramatically in the dairy industry and the "spring flush" may be one of them.

However, milk pricing has always been a strange combination of economics, psychology, politics and the weather and the pattern doesn't fit the Dairy Month concept this June.

Instead of milk prices falling at the farm they are increasing this year. From March to May the increase in the Uniform Price has been 95 cents in Order 2; 60 cents in Order 4 and 78 cents in Order 36.

The Minnesota-Wisconsin Price Series, that provides the Basic Formula Price for all federal milk marketing orders, has been on a rampage gaining $1.78 since March with more expected this month.

Increases in the M-W in the spring is not unheard of and just last year it went up $1.08 from March to May. Each year since 1989 the M-W has increased in the spring but these were only between 14 and 76 cents - not $1.78 as we have this year.

Production Puzzle

Production wise we certainly don't have anything resembling a "spring flush" this year but many markets are having problems finding buyers for milk and supplies are already moving in unusual directions.

Balancing plants are generally at capacity and there's concern about where the fluid milk will go when schools close for the summer. And yet nationally, total production is not up significantly greater than in the recent past.

Perhaps we need to expand the export market for dairy products through DEIP or voluntarily like the deal made last month between Russia and USDA with the help of eastern milk marketing cooperatives.

Good News - Bad News

While it has been a good month for price increases at the farm — and there are more coming — the first two weeks of June brought a crash in the cheese market.

Blocks fell 5.75 cents and barrels 7.5 cents in two weeks. Consensus reason for the skid is that cheese dealers had replaced inventories in a hurry and, when it appeared there would be no let up in milk production, just backed off. This is where the market psychology comes in. It was one of the scenarios presented when prices started up in March and increased 24 cents in seven weeks — too much, too soon.

However, the momentum generated by those increases will continue in your milk check for another month. Farm prices are still higher than a year ago from nine to 36 cents in May depending on which federal order regulates your handler. If cheese prices stablize at these levels you'll still be better off than a year ago.

With cheeses prices down the powder market has also weakened so there aren't many places to go unless we can stimulate export sales. The tilt in support prices for butter and powder may help slightly but here again we rely on exports.

The best hope is for cheese prices to start moving up again in July; you finish the year with a better average price than 1992 and that's better than some predictions made last January.

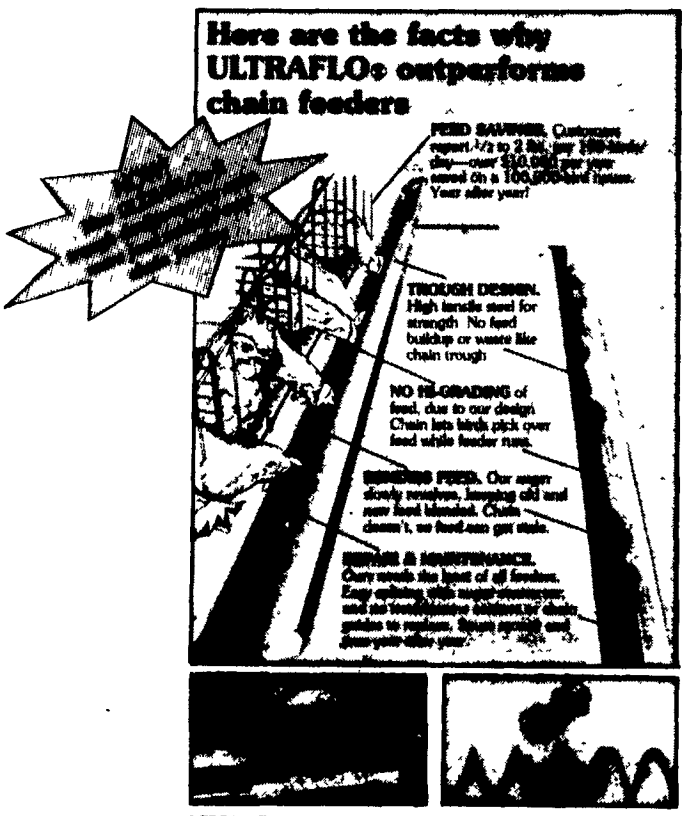
Available with 24"x20" cages or 16"x20" cages
Get 33% more birds because it is only 73" wide



Here are the facts why ULTRAFLO® outperforms chain feeders
TROUGH DESIGN. High tensile steel for strength No feed buildup or waste like chain trough
NO RE-GRADING of feed, due to our design Chain lets birds pick over feed while feeder runs.

SIMPLE OPERATION. "Push-Pull" Power Units with low HP motor are located along the feeder line as needed.

EASY AUGER CONNECTOR. Allows fast and simple installation, also quick and easy repair of auger if ever necessary.

Remodel with Chore-Time and you can have more birds, better performance and less maintenance. Chore-Time's 4 tier, 20 inch deep Duratrims are the same width as 3 tier dropping board systems and 4 tier reverse cages. Go from 60,000 birds to 80,000 birds.

Over 80% of the nation's top egg producers* have already switched to Chore-Time cages with ULTRAFLO® Feeders!*

Egg producers have been putting up with obsolete chain feeders far too long. Now there's a better way: Chore-Time's proven ULTRAFLO Cage Feeding System Since introduction, more than 80% of the top 54 egg producers* have gone to ULTRAFLO. A lot of smaller ones have too.

They've all looked at the advantages and chosen ULTRAFLO. That's because it makes them more profitable. Total egg production and egg size—these are the best benefits of our complete feeding system.

Why not check out the facts for yourself? Contact us now—or ask any producer who owns ULTRAFLO.

Because the only negative comments about our feeding system come from our competition—not from our customers.

Farm Forum

with the National Dairy Campaign, in an attempt to promote national unity on a new dairy bill, as well as gain support for the Summit.

Finally, the National Campaign people, National Family Farm Coalition, National Farmers Union, American Ag Movement, and N.F.O. agreed on a general position to support a two-tier pricing formula. Nancy Danielson, of N.F.U.S. Washington staff, was selected to be the presenter of the two-tier program, with the support of all of the above mentioned organizations. The National Wife Organization also endorsed Ms. Danielson's testimony.

All of these organizations played a major roll in bringing in dairy farmers from 21 states. It was these dairy farmers (male and female) who made up a large section of the audience, and it was these people who were willing to stand up and be counted (or heard).

I feel these dairy farmers exhibited and displayed the true feelings of the American dairy farmer all across the U.S.

For anyone not to listen to their voices would be a travesty.

Again a fine job of reporting.

Sincerely,

ARDEN TEWKSBURY
Meshoppen, Pa.

What is your attitude concerning dairy promotion? "I pay fifteen cents per hundredweight from every milk check for dairy promotion. I don't need to do any other promoting. Besides, isn't promoting the job of the Dairy Princess?" Many dairy farmers use this logical excuse for not promoting their product, but may I offer several contradictions?

First, $.15 per hundredweight per milk check is used to promote the real dairy products you the dairy farmer produce, but the $.15 per hundredweight only goes so far. And, second, Dairy Princesses do dedicate one year to dairy promotion, but Dairy Princesses can only do so much.

You the dairy farmer must actively promote. How, you ask, does one actively promote? For starters, serve real dairy products to your family and use these products in the recipes you share with your non-farm friends. This is a very important part of promotion because nothing is worse than seeing a dairy farmwife use margarine instead of butter in her baking. Give consumers a good example to follow!

Secondly, volunteer an hour or two of your time to help at a store or mall promotion where more workers are needed. The promotion committee and Dairy Princess perform a great deal of work before hand making the contact and preparing the set-up for each promotion. Most Dairy Princesses enjoy meeting and working with local dairy farmers, and your help is greatly needed and appreciated. Also, you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you have a part in actively promoting the products you work so hard to produce!

Every dairy farmer must do his or her part in promoting dairy products. If we do not, then who will? Join the promoters in your county who are actively promoting real dairy products.

National Beef Board

The national beef board's 111 members are appointed by and held accountable to the U.S. secretary of agriculture. The board is designed to be comprised of representatives of all segments of the beef industry.

The three-day meeting included executive committee meetings, talks and analysis of domestic and foreign marketing programs, product development, administration and planning.

Among the items settled was the approval of a $44 million spending plan for fiscal year 1994, which starts Oct. 1.

In a statement, Mardie Hanson, chairman of the national board, said "The beef board truly is poised to move forward.

"The changed structure of the beef board committees, which results in planning and budgeting priorities set by the beef board, an effective evaluation process managed by the beef board that helps us measure and improve programs being implemented — all of these things together point the beef board forward and illustrate this board's interst in accountability to producers for careful management of hard-earned checkoff dollars. We are also seeing from these committees a vision for the future of the program."

The budget, by program, allocates $24;350,000 for promotion, $3,394,000 for research, $3,397,000 for information, $4,439,000 for industry information, $4,820,000 for foreign marketing, $500,000 for producer communications, $200,000 for evaluation, $450,000 for program development, $250,000 for USDA oversight, and $2,200,000 for administration.

By law the administrative budget can be no greater than 5 percent of revenue. Actual administrative expenditures have been much less.

Hanson reviewed the history of the checkoff and the importance of the board. She told board members that they have a critical role in the implementation of the checkoff.

"You accepted an appointment to a board which is legally responsible for administering a national beef checkoff which operates under a law established by Congress," she said.

"That makes you very different. you have to guarantee that the entire program operates as Congress and the producers who voted for the program intended.

"It is the responsibility of the beef board to protect the integrity of the checkoff program. Whenever criticism is raised about the program, the board must examine that criticism and determine if there is merit and, if there is, correct the problem," Hanson said.

According to the board chairman, she is to soon appoint a special committee to explore the development of a process which can be used each year to develop a simple annual report which draws together a financial and program profile for the entire $1 checkoff.

The $1 checkoff is split, 50-50, between the national board and the state beef councils. She said the special committee is to be seated by representatives of state councils.

"The information could be used by the Operating Committee, as well as the beef board committees, to identify where checkoff dollars are presently going and where there might be gaps or duplication of effort between state and national programs," Hanson said.

"This is (in) no way an effort by the beef board to control state dollars and must not be construed as such. It is is not, in any way, intended to influence the allocation of state dollars, but merely to enable us to look at and understand how those dollars have been allocated so that we can respond at the national level with a better coordinated program."

In other business, the board was presented with the results of the 1993 Producer Attitude Survey, which showed that the checkoff has an 82 percent approval rating among beef producers.

The annual survey was conducted by an independent research firm and is done to assess attitudes of cattlemen, dairy producers, veal producers and importers about the checkoff.

The survey is conducted so that responses come from representative producers in every state and from all segments of the industry. It has been in use since the 1988 referendum passed.

Antique Machinery Association Sets Show

GRATZ (Dauphin Co.) — Looking for a fun time for the whole family? Then come to the Gratz Area Antique Machinery Association, Inc. annual show to be held July 16-18 at the Gratz Fairgrounds on Route 25.

The show will begin on Friday, July 16, at 4 p.m. with the Pennsylvania Sire Stakes Harness Racing and a purse of $25,000. This event is sponsored by the Gratz Area Fire Company. Friday will also be set up day all day long.

On Saturday, July 17, the gates will open at 9 a.m. The events for the morning will include the Baker Fan and wagon backing. Threshing and stationary baling will also be held before noon. A pedal tractor obstacle course is planned for the kids. The machinery parade will start after lunch on the race track in front of the grandstand. After the parade, the tractor pull will begin at 2 p.m. with the small sled. The large sled will begin at 6 p.m.

There will be steam traction engines, many different makes of antique tractors, antique gas engines, antique trucks and cars, and antique farm machinery. Fordson and Ford will be featured this year. All exhibitors are welcome.

Tractor games such as wagon backing, barrel rolling, and blindfold driving will be held. Other popular events include threshing, stationary baling, a shingle mill, the Baker Fan, and a blacksmith. Toy tractor literature display, a collection of old tools, a tinsmith, and small machinery will fill the large exhibition building.

Tractor games will be held in the morning on Sunday, July 18, with threshing and baling after lunch. The machinery parade starts at 2 p.m. The drawing for the prizes will follow the parade and the pedal tractor pull will start after the drawing.

There will also be a flea market. Spaces are still available for a fee of $1 per foot for Saturday and Sunday. Food will be served by the Gratz Area Fire Company. Breakfast will be served both Saturday and Sunday Mornings.

Admission for each day will be $1 per adult. For more information, call (717) 365-3285.

CLAAS offers the world's only folding 6-row corn head. It also fits John Deere and New Holland forage harvesters.

CLAAS of America proudly introduces the world's largest selling forage harvester: the CLAAS® Jaguar 695. Tested and proven worldwide, the Jaguar possesses power and speed, while offering reliability, performance and advanced technology unmatched by the competition.

The heart of the Jaguar is CLAAS's 24-knife, precision engineered cutting cylinder that gives a clean, superior chop. The angled knives draw the crop toward the center, producing a smooth, steady flow through to the discharge chute. The knives' "scissors action chop" ensures a cleaner cut. And all of this is done with minimal power requirements.

An automatic electrohydraulic knife sharpener is standard. The shearbar is easily accessible and quickly adjusted.

CLAAS's field-proven, 4-trac mechanical rear wheel drive carries the Jaguar efficiently through any field condition. This optional 4-trac four wheel drive unit can be engaged on-the-go.

The full visibility cab is air conditioned, heated and soundproofed for operator comfort. A multi-function control lever puts control of all harvesting functions at the operator's fingertips. The world renowned Mercedes 354 hp V8 diesel engine means reliability and economical operation.

An optional corn cracker maximizes feed quality by ensuring a fully digestible harvest. Independent studies show CLAAS's unbeatable corn cracker is nearly 100% effective.

The Jaguar's 6-row corn head is the world's only folding corn head. This unique header comes with "Auto steer" to guide the Jaguar automatically through the rows, assuring ease of operation. Pickup attachments from 7′ to 14′ are available.

Every Jaguar is backed by CLAAS's commitment to quality in sales, service and parts replacement.

SCS Sets Open House

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — The Soil Conservation Service's (SCS's) Plant Material Center at Big Flats, New York, celebrates the expansion of its plant development capabilities with an open house and tour of the new greenhouse, laboratory, and seed processing facility on Thursday, July 8. A dedication ceremony takes place between 10 a.m. and 11:30 a.m.

The Big Flats Plant Material Center (PMC) is one of 26 centers operated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to find vegetative solutions to conservation problems in varied topographic and climatic regions throughout the country. Established in 1940, the Big Flats Center serves the northeastern states from Pennsylvania to Maine.

Since 1960, the center has been devoted solely to developing improved plants to reduce soil erosion, improve water quality, improve forage and pastureland, and stabilize and repair shorelines, stream, and roadbanks.

"This 203-acre facility is equipped for the collection, testing, and release of superior plants to contribute to the national SCS effort to protect and enhance the environment," said Martin van der Grinten, Plant Materials center manager.

"Our 'Chemung' crownvetch, a familiar sight on northeastern roadsides, provides stabilizing cover with no mowing and little maintenance. 'Lathco' flatpea for erosion control is widely used in the United States and is being introduced in China to solve major erosion along the Yellow River. 'Streamco' willow is a favorite of fishermen because of its ability to stabilize sloping streambanks, protecting trout habitat," van der Grinten said. "Our 'Eastern' Gamma Grass will improve forage for livestock while keeping pastureland under permanent grass cover."

To develop conservation plants, scientists at the PMC's:

Determine which methods or plants might have potential for solving high-priority problems and collect as many variations of the plants as possible.

Evaluate the methods and collections at the PMC's and select superior ones to test further on actual problem sites.

Make the best plants available to the public after selection by providing genetically pure material and production information to commercial growers.

Carry out a public information campaign to announce the availability of the new plants or methods.

Federal, state and local legislators and officials are expected to attend the dedication as well as former and present scientists associated with the center.

NDB Holds Cheese Export Seminar

ARLINGTON, Va. — With a large number of U.S. cheese producers attending the International Dairy-Deli Show in St. Louis June 6-8, the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board took the opportunity to let those producers learn more about cheese export opportunities.

"We (National Dairy Board) wanted to take advantage of the fact that many U.S. cheese producers were in one place long enough to attend a seminar about key cheese markets abroad," said Tom Suber, staff director of the National Dairy Board's export department.

The seminar provided firsthand information on marketing cheese from two experienced cheese wholesalers, one from Mexico and one from Japan. The wholesalers talked about the problems of getting new products into a foreign supermarket or restaurant, how U.S. suppliers can help introduce new products, common shipping and quality problems, preferences on cheese sizes and packaging for service and retail markets, market demands and future trends.

"By teaching U.S. cheese suppliers how to and helping them break into foreign markets, we (National Dairy Board) hope to help the American dairy farmer by selling more U.S. milk through cheese exports," said Steve Hofman, California dairy farmer and chair of the National Dairy Board's Export Market Enhancement Committee.

Completed evaluation forms reflected strong satisfaction by those attending the seminar.

"Many attendees noted they did little to no exporting of their cheese or other dairy products, but the seminar must have piqued their interest," Suber said. "Many asked for additional information about trade regulations, importers and brokers, product consumption in other countries, and labeling and shipping requirements — much of the information we compiled before beginning our promotions in Japan and Mexico two years ago. For a while now, we have been distributing much of that information as we receive requests."

During the show, the two wholesalers presenting the seminar also toured the exhibits, tasting many cheese varieties. The wholesaler from Mexico, Eduardo Sucarrats, was particularly interested in cottage cheese, Suber reported. Ironically, Sucarrats was also impressed with Hispanic cheeses made by U.S. producers.

The Japanese wholesaler, Itasu Kimura, imports over 4.4 million pounds of cheese, handling mostly small volumes of specialty cheeses. His current line of 360 types of cheese holds only three from the U.S.

"Surprisingly, he (Kimura) was looking for as sharp a cheddar as he could find for a narrow niche in Japan that would appreciate the taste," Suber said. "And he found one he liked at the booth of a U.S. cheesemaker exhibiting a cheddar cheese aged 30 months."

Suber said, Kimura would likely order samples of Hispanic and Arabic style cheeses made in the U.S. as well as larger columes of cream, Monterey Jack and mozzarella cheese to fill out a 33,000-pound shipping container.

The National Dairy Promotion and Research Board, comprised of 36 dairy farmers from across the nation, develops and executes a coordinated plan of promotion, research and communications to strengthen the dairy industry's position in the market.

Penn State Offers Master Gardener Program

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Penn State's Master Gardener educational sessions are scheduled for a 12-week period beginning August 12. Sessions will meet on Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at the Farm and Home Center in Lancaster and at the Lebanon County extension office. The purpose of the program is twofold. First, the program wants to make garderners the best general horticulturalists possible. At the same time, the extension service wants to better serve Lancaster County by using the gardeners' new skills and talents to help teach the people of the county.

Topics to be taught during the course include plant science, entomology, soil science, plant pathology, IPM/pesticide safety, diagnosing plant problems, turf culture, communications, plant propagation, and landscape principles.

In return for the course and workshops, graduates will be asked to volunteer 50 hours of time to the Lancaster County Cooperative Extension. This year the extension is seeking volunteers who have a particular interest in the following areas:

- Horticultural answering service (answer home gardening questions in person and by phone)
- Meet the plants (provide educational programs on plant botany, identification, culture and care to youth in elementary schools)
- Urban outreach education (provide horticultural educational information to community groups and individual gardeners in urban settings).

At the end of training and service graduates will be awarded a Penn State Master Gardener's certificate from the dean of agriculture.

This is the sixth year for this program in Lancaster County. Enrollment is limited and the application must be returned no later than July 12.

Cost for the program is $35, payable upon acceptance. (This covers the cost of the handbook and name pin.)

A personal interview and pretest will be scheduled in July once the application has been completed and returned.

Contact Lancaster County Cooperative Extension for an application. Mail your request to Lancaster County Cooperative Extension; c/o MASTER GARDENING, 1383 Arcadia Road, Room 1, Lancaster, PA 17601.

Penn State, PCC Renew Agreement

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — A 27-year collaborative program will continue thanks to a renewed agreement between Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences and the Pennsylvania Council of Cooperatives (PCC).

The agreement supports the Penn State Cooperative Business Education and Research Program, which has offered education, training, and leadership development to thousands of Pennsylvanians since it was established in 1966.

The program involves cooperative directors and employees as well as teachers, extension agents, and young people. Participants include Agway, Farm Credit, Dairylea, Eastern Milk Producers, several artificial breeding cooperatives, and many others.

Dr. Lamartine Hood, dean of the College of Agricultural Sciences, and Carol Mercner, president of the PCC, signed the agreement at PCC directors meeting in April on Penn State's University Park Campus.

"The Cooperative Business Education and Research Program is designed to teach principles of the business enterprise system and the role of cooperatives within that system," said Dr. Cathy Hamlett, program director and assistant professor of agricultural economics at Penn State. "This partnership between Penn State and the Pennsylvania Council of Cooperatives is well-known among other cooperative education programs for its duration, stability, and quality."

Animal Housing Expo Set

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Dairy, livestock and poultry producers can get the latest information about building and remodeling farm structures to improve the handling and housing of farm animals at the Animal Housing Expo, July 13-14 at the Lebanon Fairgrounds in Lebanon County.

The event, sponsored by Penn State Cooperative Extension in cooperation with agribusinesses, runs from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day.

"The demonstrations, speakers, and exhibits at the expo will focus on proven, state-of-the-art ventilation, feeding, watering, manure handling and housing systems," said Dan McFarland, general chair and Penn State Cooperative Extension agent in York County.

"Farmers may spend as little as a few hundred dollars for renovations or up to several hundred thousand dollars for new facilities to provide adequate housing for their animals," he said. "At the expo, these producers will be able to explore available options, talk with experts, and select the best system or services for their needs."

Commercial exhibitors include builders, contractors, suppliers, painters, roofers, lenders and consultants. Universities and agencies will present educational displays. Demonstrations will feature swine handling, poultry composting, floor surfaces, free-stall barn designs, pit ventilation and more.

Leading animal housing experts will be on hand to discuss developments in their fields.

Richard Hoover of R.E. Wright Associates will discuss environmental impact studies. Dr. Temple Grandin, Colorado State University, will explain successful animal handling techniques. Dr. Robert Graves, Penn State, will present an overview of basic ventilation concepts.

State representative Sheila Miller will offer an update on Pennsylvania's new nutrient management law. Dr. Ken Kephart, Penn State, will discuss techniques for handling swine safely.

A panel also will discuss dairy expansion, poultry composting and trends in the swine industry.

For more information about the Animal Housing Expo, contact Penn State Cooperative Extension, 112 Pleasant Acres Road, York, PA 17402-9041 or call (717) 757-9657.

Hot Weather Helps Corn, Not Cows

TERRY L. MADDOX
Huntingdon Co. Extension

HUNTINGDON (Huntingdon Co.) — The warm days and nights have given the corn the boost it needed. There was some frost around the area in the first part of June. Now that the warmer weather appears to be with us let's open the barns so the animals are comfortable.

Robert Graves, Penn State Extension ag engineer, has some of his own thoughts on the basics of cow environment.

High ambient temperature and humidity can have profound effects on milk yield, reproductive performance, growth and health.

The basic approach to hot weather cow management includes: Keep the cows out of the hot midday sun, maximize air movement around the cows (2 to 5 mph at the cow is recommended), provide adequate air exchange to remove foul air from barns, and provide plenty of fresh cool drinking water (extra tubs may be needed during the summer).

The word SAW may help with remembering the important points about hot weather cow care as relates to buildings.

S - shade is important to protect animals from intense summer sunshine. Natural shade, a shade structure or a well ventilated barn are all suitable.

A - air movement and air exchange are necessary to help animals remove body heat. At temperatures over 80 degrees, air moving at 2 to 5 mph will increase cow comfort and help maintain production. Removable sidewalls and open ridges are necessary in naturally ventilated barns. Adequate exhaust fans and air inlets are essential in mechanically ventilated barns. Extra circulation fans blowing air across cows may be beneficial in either situation. So-called tunnel ventilation systems can be used effectively in the stall barns. This involves placing large ventilation fans (total 60,000 cfm of more) in one end wall of the stable. Windows, doors, and large inlets are opened on the other end of the stable.

W - water, and plenty of it, is needed to make milk. In hot weather, the cow will utilize water first to help cool herself through respiration moisture and sweating. Any water left over will go for milk production. Add extra watering locations, shade the outside waterers, and be sure water supply is adequate.

Two areas of particular concern during hot weather include holding areas and feeding areas where cows are crowded close together.

Farmers are encouraged to take steps to provide fresh, palatable feed and fresh water in a comfortable environment. If the barn or shade tree is more attractive than the feed bunk or water trough, it is likely that feed consumption will decline.

Management changes that may be considered include: feeding time and frequency, manure scraping times, use of outside paddocks at night or early morning, and bringing cows into well-ventilated barns during the heat of the day.

July Is Ice Cream Month, Promotion Forces Unite

ARLINGTON, Va. — The National Dairy Promotion and Research Board and United Dairy Industry Association joined forces for the fourth consecutive summer ice cream promotion, encouraging consumers to purchase additional ice cream during the eight-week promotion beginning in mid-July.

"We've worked well with UDIA on the past three ice cream promotions, so we decided to go for a fourth," said William Underwood, New York dairy farmer and chair of the National Dairy Board's Advertising and Sales Promotion Committee. "And Hershey Foods Corporation will join us for a second year as a tie-in partner to leverage dairy farmer dollars and stretch the promotion budget."

By purchasing a half gallon of ice cream and any two Hershey's toppings, consumers can receive a second half gallon of ice cream free (up to $2.50 value).

Tie-in partner Hershey's will cover coupon redemption for the free ice cream.

National Dairy Board put up $1.2 million to pay for television advertising and a one-page newspaper insert announcing the offer. The insert will appear in Sunday newspapers across the country on July 11. A 15-second commercial highlighting the campaign will air on network, day, prime and cable TV programs July 4-18.

UDIA will fund point-of-purchase materials, promotion materials to grocers and wholesalers, and a retailer display contest.

The summer ice cream promotion is funded in part by America's dairy farmers through the 15-cent checkoff program.

According to USDA, frozen dairy dessert production grew 3.2 percent during 1992. Hard ice cream captured the biggest gain in production for the year at 3.5 percent for total production of 848 million gallons. Frozen yogurt followed, up 2.8 percent for total production of 151.6 million gallons.

Manufacturers typically produce ice cream and frozen dairy desserts on an as needed basis since longterm storage can result in poor product quality. In 1991, 13.68 gallons of ice cream were produced for every American.

Ice cream accounts for about 60 percent of the frozen dairy dessert market followed by ice milk and frozen yogurt at 23 percent and 10 percent, respectively.

U.S. Tobacco Industry Shows Trade Surplus

PRINCETON, N.J. — The United States tobacco industry closed the first quarter of 1993 with a trade surplus of $877 million, a decrease of almost $124 million or more than 12 percent, when compared to the first quarter of 1992, according to the Tobacco Merchants Association (TMA). This compares to the nation's merchandise trade deficit of $20.64 billion, which was up almost $9.5 billion or 85 percent when compared to the first quarter of 1992.

"In the first quarter of 1993, U.S. cigarette manufacturers exported 45.7 billion cigarettes, valued at $911.2 million, up nearly $85.4 million or 10.3 percent over the first three months of 1992," said Farrell Delman, President of TMA. "This helped propel the first quarter tobacco products surplus, of almost $984 million, up over 8.8 percent," he said.

"The following 10 destinations accounted for almost 81 percent of all US cigarette exports in the first quarter of 1993," said Delman: Japan (25.5 percent of total); Belgium (19.5 percent); Hong Kong (8.1 percent); Saudi Arabia (6.1 percent); Turkey (5.5 percent); United Arab Emirates (4.6 percent); Lebanon (4.1 percent); Singapore (3.3 percent); South Korea (2.1 percent); and Russia (2 percent). "Cigarettes are one of the few U.S. manufactured products having a surplus position with Japan," he said.

In spite of the 8.8 percent increase in the value of exported tobacco products, the decline in the positive contribution made by direct leaf exports explains the decline in the overall first quarter performance," said Delman. The majority of these imports, he said, were oriental tobacco, a type of tobacco which is not grown in the U.S. but is required in the manufacture of American blend cigarettes. "The more cigarette we export, the more we need to import oriental leaf," Delman said.

At more than $77 million, the positive trade contribution from the leaf tobacco sector was down almost 53 percent when compared with the first quarter of 1993. Leaf tobacco exports of nearly 63.4 million kilograms, valued at over $365 million, were down 9.6 percent in quantity and almost 17 percent in value, while leaf tobacco imports at 91.8 million kilograms, valued at over $288 million, were up 24 percent and 4 percent, respectively.

"The apparent world tobacco glut is making it more difficult for the U.S. to export its higher priced leaf, and easier to import lower priced leaf," Delman said.

Crop Reporting Deadline Nears

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — All Lancaster County farmers are asked to certify their 1993 crop plantings, land uses, acreage conservation reserve, and other program acreage with the Lancaster County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

The final certification date for program crops is July 15 for corn, soybeans, tobacco, hay, and vegetables.

"Certification is the procedure by which farmers report their program acreage to establish their eligibility to receive the benefits of price support, deficiency payments and other farm program benefits," said Ray A. Brubaker, ASCS county director. Acreage reports are required for all participating farms.

He said that growers not participating in the 1993 programs should report their acreage to establish planting history, ensure future benefits, and protect crop acreage bases.

After certification, ASCS will select farms at random to verify that acreage reports are accurate. Aerial photographs are available for farmers to help identify their fields.

Brubaker said crop reporting is particularly important to producers who may want to participate in a future USDA program.

Crops may be certified at any time between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. "We encourage farmers to certify as soon as possible after planting and not wait until the deadline date to report their acres," the ASCS official said.

Appointments are suggested to avoid waiting in the office. For more information, contact the Lancaster County ASCS Office at (717) 397-6235.

Conservation Meeting Set

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — To assure that conservation practices are providing effective solutions to soil and water problems in Berks County, the Agricultural Conservation Review Group (CRG) will meet at the Berks County AG Center in Bern Township at 1 p.m. Tuesday, July 20, to discuss conservation issues.

The CRG will examine the agricultural conservation, forestry incentives and water quality programs.

"It is important to review and discuss changes made in the programs during the past year," Richard Troutman, chairman of the Berks County ASC Committee,said.

He said the group will identify specific conservation problems, set overall program priorities, goals, policies, and practices to make programs more effective in preventing soil erosion and protecting water quality.

The CRG will study the effect of sodbuster, swamp buster, and conservation compliance provisions, and the Endangered Species and Historic Preservaion Act on conservation programs.

"We will consider cost effective means to reduce soil erosion on crop, pasture and forest lands; conserve water and reduce agricultural non-poiont source pollution," ASCS official Troutman said.

Members of the CRG include ASCS, Soil Conservation Service, Farmers Home Administration, Berks County Conservation District, Extension Service, county commissioners, Berks Environmentalist, Bureau of Forestry, DER conservation specialist, PA Game Commission, PA Fish Commission, and Pomona Grange.

Interested organizations and persons are invited to attend. For more information and availability of handicapped accommodations, call Josephine Bodock (215) 478-7158.

Cumberland Crowns Myers As Dairy Princess

BETH MILLER
Cumberland Co. Correspondent

CARLISLE (Cumberland Co.) — Diane Myers of Boiling Springs is the new Cumberland County Dairy Princess for 1993.

She should be able to handle her new duties easily since she served as the Cumberland County Alternate Dairy Princess for 1992.

Myers, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Myers, won her new title during the 26th annual Cumberland County Dairy Princess Pageant held at the Embers Convention Center in Carlisle.

She competed against the only other contestant, Laura Lee Deitch of Mechanicsburg, to win the crown. Deitch, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Deitch Sr., was named Alternate Dairy Princess for 1993.

Deitch's younger sister, Lisa, was named Junior Dairy Representative for the county.

The judges for the contest were Patti McLaughlin, Mary Wagner, and Sara Eisenhart.

The judges graded the dairy princess contestants based on the content of their presentations during the pageant, their speaking ability, and the way they delivered their presentations.

In her winning presentation Myers came on stage with a small doll named Clover the Cow and she herself was dressed as a veterinarian.

Clover, said Myers, had run into an electric fence and Myers as the veterinarian had to check her for injuries.

As she checked out Clover, Myers discussed the products that come from milk and the various health benefits that come from them.

In her presentation, Deitch came on the stage dressed as an old-time newsboy.

She shouted "Extra! Extra!" and then talked about the big news of the day, which was the value of milk and especially its nutritional benefits.

After winning the contest, Myers received the crown as dairy princess from the 1992 princess, Heidi Negley.

Myers is well-suited to be dairy princess because her family runs a dairy farm and she has been very involved in 4-H activities.

Her family owns a 100-acre farm and rents another 125 acres. The Myers family milks 40 cows at present and is raising 25 heifers.

In addition to working on the family farm, Myers is a 4-H sewing group leader.

Myers is a 1993 Boiling Springs High School graduate. This fall she will attend the York campus of Penn State University where she will study in the field of agricultural science.

She said she hopes to one day be a county agent.

1993 Alternate Dairy Princess Laura Lee Deitch, 1993 Dairy Princess Diane Myers, and 1992 Dairy Princess Heidi Negley.

ANIMAL HOUSING EXPO
July 13-14, 1993 Lebanon Fairgrounds
A show for Northeast livestock, dairy and poultry producers
PENNSTATE College of Agricultural Sciences Cooperative Extension

Dairy, livestock, and poultry producers are a significant part of Pennsylvania agriculture. While several farm shows are held throughout the Commonwealth, few concentrate on the needs and issues of animal housing. The demonstrations, speakers, and exhibits at the Animal Housing Expo will focus on proven, state-of-the-art ventilation, feeding, watering, manure handling, and housing systems.

Dairy, livestock and poultry producers may spend as little as a few hundred dollars for renovations or up to several hundred thousand dollars for new facilities to provide adequate housing for their animals. At the Animal Housing Expo, these producers will have an opportunity to investigate available options, talk with industry experts, and select the system and services that best meet their needs.

Woods Model P90 pull-type lawnmower cuts a 90" swath . . . Mows up to 4-1/2 acres per hour.

WOODS
model P90

Designed for large commercial mowing jobs the Woods Model P90 mows weeds and grass, wet or dry. It's the ideal mower for golf courses, parks, schools, athletic fields, industrial sites or any other large area finished mowing jobs.

Energy efficient styling, combined with field proven rugged dependability, guarantees top mowing performance day after day, year after year.

The Model P90's 7-1/2 ft. swath mows up to 4-1/2 acres per hour and cuts those big mowing jobs and "tight" schedules down to size.

Woods Model P90 offers the convenience of fast-on, fast-off mounting with its standard drawbar and clevis pin hook-up. In minutes your tractor is "free" for other jobs between mowings. The Model P90 is designed for tractors rated 25-50 hp and 540 rpm PTO.

Lilly Hershey Finds Herself

Lilly Hershey tends her garden planted with vegetables and flowers.

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — "When our five children grew up and moved away during the 1970s, it took me a while to find myself," Lilly Hershey said. "But I finally did."

Much to her surprise, Lilly discovered that she had a whole lot of formerly untapped creative ability that has resulted in her winning numerous blue ribbons at flower shows and has enabled her to teach crafts at Lebanon Extension programs.

"I thought I couldn't do anything when I first joined the Flower Club," she said.

For many months, she went to meetings as an observer, always staying in the shadows, never intending to become involved. But Lilly found that the Flower Club members were a friendly group and when a workshop on making pine cone wreaths piqued her interest, she made one. Her completed pine cone wreath earned a blue ribbon in the club's competition.

"That was a big incentive to me," said Lilly, who then made numerous wreaths for gifts and even instructed others on how to make the wreaths.

"Life took off again," Lilly said of those years in the 1970s. And, it has not slowed down since then.

After the pine cone wreaths, Lilly began designing pictures made of dried materials. Two of those pictures also captured ribbons and created within her an admiration for the beauty of natural materials. Soon she was drying flowers and picking weeds to use in arrangements.

"It took a while for me to do flower arrangements good enough for the judges to give me a blue ribbon, but I've gotten a few through the years," Lilly admitted.

In 1991, Lilly was elated that one of her arrangements got the Award of Distinction, which means the best over all categories.

One of Lilly's favorite materials for decorating is using fresh greens. "With greens, there is so much you can do for your own home and for gifts," she said. Much of her expertise in using greens in arrangements came from working a Royer's Garden Center for 10 years during the 1980s. It was there that she learned to appropriately use insecticides and herbicides and now treats the hundreds of trees and bushes that grow on the grounds.

When Lilly retired from the Garden Center, she found that she missed the greenhouse. When her husband put up a large shed to house his 35 antique cars, Lilly told him that if he needed a shed that size for his hobby, she needed a greenhouse for her hobby.

Her husband good naturedly agreed and Lilly got her greenhouse in the backyard. In it, Lilly grows plants that are difficult to find locally. She refers to the greenhouse as her therapy. On some bitter winter days, she finds rejuvenation by just sitting inside the greenhouse.

She starts cuttings from unusual plants of friends. A rosebud geranium is one in which she has found hundreds of people like a cutting.

"Anyone can go to a garden center and buy a big beautiful plant," Lilly said. "I prefer to take a small cutting and see what becomes of it."

She pointed at a profuse pot of healthy ivy and said that it was a pitiful piece when she first nursed the cutting into becoming a beautiful plant.

"I talk to my plants every day and I think it helps," she confessed.

Lilly's garden is quite a distance from the house and lays next to the creek that meanders through the meadow.

To reach the garden, Lilly hops on a golf cart and steers through an assortment of ducks, chickens, dogs, and cats, that wander compatibly on the property.

In addition to vegetable staples, Lilly's garden is profuse with flowers to use in her projects or just to enjoy pampering. She grows 150 varieties of iris and a peppering of mint teas. Because the garden is bordered by woodland on two sides and a creek on the other, wildlife is profuse so the garden is fenced in on all sides. If the gate is left open, the horse, 50 chickens, 25 turkeys, and 60 ducks that roam the property, sometimes wander in and feast on the growing vegetables.

To keep the weeds from growing, Lilly lays newspapers between the rows. She prefers newspaper over plastic as it allows rain to soak through and keeps the ground moist. Because the paper is biodegradable, it rots into the soil or can be tilled into the soil at the end of the season.

"It's another way to recycle newspapers, Lilly said.

At one of the garden is a compost barrel where Lilly disposes of all weeds and table scrapes.

"In the spring, I empty the compost barrel and you wouldn't believe what rich black soil comes out of it," Lilly said.

Three years ago, Lilly became president of the Lebanon Flower Club. Now, she is concentrating on fresh flower techniques and has joined a Herb Club. She happily reports that three of her granddaughters are interested in her drying flowers and growing strawflowers and statice.

Lilly has invested money into purchasing a good dehydrator for drying herbs, fruits, and vegetables. She also uses the herbs to make seasoned mustards and herb vinegars. The mustard is made by drying herbs and grinding them into a powder.

"Mix the ground herbs into the cheapest mustard you can buy because the brand name mustards do not mix as well," Lilly advises those who want to add their own seasonings to mustard.

About the same time that Lilly joined the Flower Club, she also became interested in doll collecting. She now has 50 dolls.

"I was told that I collect dolls because I grew up during the Depression and my parents couldn't afford to buy dolls for me," said Lilly who surmises that aspect probably has a bearing on why she prefers the older dolls with sleepy eyes.

Some of the dolls she purchases are in pieces. She learned to fix the dolls herself when she took one to a doll hospital and was told that it could not be repaired. She had paid $30 for the pieces and was offered $100 after she put it together again.

A trick of the trade that Lilly shares with those interested in cleaning up dolls is to wash dolls' hair in false teeth cleaner. "It works better than anything else," she said of the unorthodox use.

Lilly's husband, Melvin, collects antique cars and has the distinction of owning the first fire engine used in Lancaster County. It is a horse-drawn model with hand carved wood and is estimated to date back to the 1700s before the Revolutionary War. Melvin's car collection focuses on unusual cars such as Packards, Sears, Hubmo-

Lilly Hershey shows off some of her favorite doll collection. She collects older dolls with sleepy eyes. Most of the 50 that she has collected needed extensive repair, which Lilly enjoys doing.

Lilly Hershey suggests making a spice necklace. You need strong thread and two needles. Thread a 36-inch piece of strong thread with a needle at both ends. Soak 2 tablespoons of whole allspice and 1 teaspoon of cloves, some pieces and one to three whole anise, 4 tonka or vanilla beans, and some cinnamon sticks. For eight hours, soak dark and light pieces separately. Start at center front of necklace and interchange spices as you go along. You may use rose hips, small red peppers, dried ginger, whole nutmeg balls, and other favorite spices.

These pressed flowers on a round plaque is only one of the many projects for which Lilly captured top awards in Flower Club competition.

In her one-person greenhouse, Lilly likes to grow things that cannot be purchased in local greenhouses. "Sometimes during the long winter months, I just like to come here and sit in the sun," she said.

Jessica Royer Captures Dairy Princess Title

BETH MILLER
Franklin Co. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Jessica Royer was chosen as the 1993 Franklin County Dairy Princess during the county's 26th annual Dairy Princess Pageant held at the Lighthouse Restaurant in Chambersburg.

Royer will be no stranger to her new job as dairy princess because she was the alternate dairy princess for the county for 1992.

She won her new crown after competing against two other contestants.

One of her competitors, Amy Dulebohn, was named first alternate dairy princess. The second alternate dairy princess was Mary Ellen Deaven.

The judges for the pageant, which was dedicated to the memory of Norman W. Sollenberger, were John Creighton Jr., Scott Deputy, and Norma Lash.

The contestants were judged on how they answered the pageant question and on the way they delivered their presentations to promote the dairy industry.

The contest question was, "What is the largest and most concerning issue for farmers today and with your promotional efforts how would you address this issue?"

Royer answered that the biggest issue is to promote the occupation of being a farmer.

Dulebohn answered that the major thing is to promote the benefits of milk over soda.

Deaven replied that the main concerns is to get people to drink milk.

In her presentation Royer dressed like a cow that was named Moola Bell. Moola Bell was the chef for the evening and she told about the importance of milk and milk products.

Dulebohn performed her presentation as a dentist who had a large stuffed cow doll in the dentist's chair. She told the doll the importance of drinking milk.

In her presentation Deaven dressed as Barney, the purple dinosaur that is the main character in the popular children's show. Her Barney informed all his friends about the goodness of milk.

When the judging was over, Royer received her new crown from 1992 Franklin County Dairy Princess Jennifer Rosenberry. Rosenberry also is the First Alternate State Dairy Princess for 1992.

Royer is a 1991 graduate of James Buchanan High School and is the daughter of Sue Royer.

She is employed on two farms, the farm of Carl and Joyce Stuff and Walnut Lane Farms which is owned by Rodney and Darlene Stuff.

Dulebohn is a 1993 graduate of James Buchanan High School and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dulebohn.

She is a 4-H and an FFA member and will attend Wilson College in Chambersburg this fall to study to become a veterinarian medical technician. She resides on an 88-acre farm that her family has owned for 108 years.

Deaven is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Deaven. She is a 4-H and FFA member also and also plans to attend Wilson College where she will study in the pre-veterinarian program.

She shows cattle at the local fairs and lives on a farm that has been in her family for 40 years.

biles, Buckmobile, and Maxwell. He dislikes Fords and other popular name brand cars.

Melvin also raises cattle, three of which are Scotish Highlanders.

"My husband fell in love with them when he first saw them. He likes different things," she said. According to Lilly, the Highlanders grow more slowly, do not eat much grain, and are much lower in fat.

"Our butcher could not believe how little fat was on the one we butchered," Lilly said. "It was much less than any cattle that he ever butchered."

Several times a month Lilly volunteers at the local Veteran's Administration Hospital.

In life, there is always something new to learn and to make adjustments. Several months ago, Lilly's son-in-law was paralyzed from the chest down in an accident. Although he has arm movement, he does not have use of his fingers. The couple have a 9-month-old baby, and Lilly has spent many hours helping her daughter and at the rehabilitation hospital where the son-in-law is still a patient.

The accident has been a devastating blow to the family. With her usual resourcefulness, Lilly is searching for ways to help in the transition. She said that together they are learning that life goes on and one must learn to cope.

WORK WATCH

The Work Watch Is Back!

In the mid-1980's we sold hundreds of work watches to hard-working individuals like yourself who needed an accurate, dependable timepiece. They needed a watch that would withstand the dust, moisture, bumps, and temperatures encountered on the farm, in the orchard, and in the woods. Many who bought the work watch told us it was the best watch they had ever owned. Now, due to the past success and the present need, we are again offering the work watch through Lancaster Farming.

Our work watch has all the features needed to endure the punishment you will put it through. The WATER RESISTANT seal will protect your watch when you irrigate fields, fix broken water systems, get milk splashed on your arm while feeding calves, or walk the fence in the rain, to find out where your cattle are getting out. Being SHOCK RESISTANT, your work watch will continue to work when it is slapped by a cow's tail, a falling board, or the belt shield that your arm slams against when your wrench slips off the bolt. While your watch is scraped by branches, rubbed against walls, and knocked against machinery, the low profile, SCRATCH RESISTANT, glass crystal will resist the scratches and cracks that render watches unreadable. Finally, the BATTERY POWERED QUARTZ movement of your work watch is accurate to within 2 minutes per year, and does not need to be wound, meaning that your watch will be on time, all the time, without any effort on your part.

A final proof of the strength of this watch and of its suitability to your needs is the warranty. If your work watch stops running within FIVE YEARS of the date of purchase, the manufacturer will repair or replace your watch at no charge. This is one of the longest warranties in the watch industry. The manufacturer's confidence in this watch means that you can have confidence in its durability and can know that this is the only work watch you will need to buy for the next five years.

This watch is available in both men's and women's styles. To receive your new work watch, read and complete the coupon below, and send it with your payment to:

The Last Of The Last Contest Entries

No, you are not imagining things. In last week's edition you read that the final recipe entries were included. Unfortunately, as sometimes happens in newspapers, there was not room to include all of them. So, this week, I promise, this is the final batch of recipes submitted to Lancaster Farming's Dairy Recipe Drawing.

Enjoy them. And, thanks again to every one who submitted a recipe. You made this the best dairy recipe contest ever.

SUSIE'S CREAMY PUDDING

2 quarts milk
1 can evaporated milk
1 cup granulated sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup brown sugar
4 eggs
½ cup flour
½ cup cornstarch
2 tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons vanilla
4 drops maple flavoring

Pour milk and evaporated milk in large saucepan. Add granulated sugar and salt. Put over high heat until hot, but not boiling. Beat together brown sugar, eggs, flour, cornstarch and a little hot milk. Pour into hot m ilk mixture. Bring to a boil stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Whip in butter and flavorings. Put wax paper or cracker paper on top till cool. When cool remove paper and whip again. This pudding may appear very stiff before it is vigorously whipped, then it should be light and fluffy.

RHUBARB CREAM DELIGHT DESSERT

Crust:
1 cup flour
¼ cup granulated sugar
½ cup butter
Rhubarb Layer:
3 cups fresh rhubarb, cut in ½-inch pieces
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
Cream Layer
8 ounces cream cheese, softened
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
Topping:
8 ounces dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

For crust:

Mix flour, sugar and butter. Pat into 10-inch pie plate. Set aside.

Rhubarb Layer:

Combine rhubarb, sugar and flour, toss lightly and pour into crust. Bake 15 minutes at 375°.

Cream Layer:

Beat together cream cheese and sugar until fluffy. Beat in eggs one at a time. Pour this over hot rhubarb layer. Bake 350° for 30 minutes or until almost set.

Topping

Combine topping ingredients, spread over hot layers.

Chill and serve.

I live on a dairy farm in Greencastle with my family. I have two younger sisters and one older sister who is married. Although I do not help to milk the cows, I do help with other barn chores and field work.

I graduated on June 9, from Greencastle-Antrim High School. I was on the school hockey team and in the band (both field and concert). Next fall I will be attending Shippensburg University, where I plan to major in history. My goal is to become a history teacher.

BAKED DEVILED ORANGE ROUGHY

1½ pounds fresh or frozen orange roughy fillets or other white fish ½-inch thick
1-8 ounce cream cheese, softened
2 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
2 tablespoons milk
1 tablespoon dry onion soup mix
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon dried tarragon, crushed
1 teaspoon Dijon-style mustard
1½ cup soft wheat bread crumbs
1 cup parsley
½ cup parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon paprika

Thaw fish, if frozen. Cut fillets into six serving-size portions. Arrange fillets in a single layer in a greased shallow pan. In a small bowl combine cream cheese, mayonnaise or salad dressing, milk, onion soup mix, lemon juice, tarragon, and mustard (May appear lumpy). Spread over fillets. Bake at 450° for 10-12 minutes until flaky. Combine remaining ingredients. Sprinkle on fish. Bake three to four minutes. Serves six.

I am a senior at Wilmington Area High School where I am active in band and am class treasurer, and on the Who's Who Among American High School students. I will graduate with honors and am a member of the National Honor Society.

I am president of the Yankee Dairy 4-H Club and a member and past officer of the P and W Sewers Etc. I am active in the Plain Grove Presbyterian Church and sing in the choir.

I am a director of The Pa. Junior Jersey Club.

My parents are John and Lois McConnell. I have two sisters Roberta, 15 and Joy, 10. I live on a 198-acre dairy farm in Lawrence County, and own 17 Jerseys. I will relinquish my reign as dairy princess on June 12.

I plan to attend Shenango Valley Campus, Penn State this fall majoring in food science.

The 1993 Sizzlin' Lamb Barbecue Recipe Contest $2,500 grand prize winner is Brazilian Grilled Lamb and Black Beans, submitted by Ellen Burr of Truro, Mass.

Grilled Lamb Chops with Rosemary Plum Sauce, created by Leisla Sansom, Alexandria, Va., was the second place winner of $1,000. The third place title was taken by Country-Style Rack of Lamb submitted by J.T. Johnson, West Yellowstone, Mont.

The seven regional winning recipes, selected from more than 650 entries, are featured in the four-color pamphlet "Lamb Sizzlin' Barbecue Recipes."

For a free copy of the winning recipes, send a stamped, self-addressed, business-size envelope to: Meat Board Test Kitchens, Dept. SLBR, 444 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, IL 60611.

BRAZILIAN GRILLED LAMB AND BLACK BEANS

Total preparation and cooking time: 50 minutes

½ well-trimmed butterflied lamb leg (sirloin half) (approx. 3 pounds)
1 medium red onion
2 cans (15 to 16 ounces) black beans, rinsed, drained
1 bottle (8 ounces) red wine vinegar and oil salad dressing, divided
1 teaspoon garlic salt
Ground red pepper
3 medium red or green bell peppers, cut lengthwise into quarters
2 large oranges, peeled, cut lengthwise in half and then crosswise into thin slices

Cut onion crosswise in half; cut a thin slice. Separate onion slice into rings; reserve for garnish. Finely chop remaining onion. In medium bowl, combine chopped onion, beans and ½ cup dressing; cover and refrigerate.

Brush surface of lamb with additional ½ cup dressing; sprinkle evenly with garlic salt and ½ teaspoon red pepper.

Place lamb and bell peppers on grid over medium coals. Cover grill; grill 30 to 35 minutes (15 to 20 minutes for bell peppers) until bell peppers are tender and lamb is rare to medium doneness or until thermometer registers 140° for rare, 160° for medium. Turn every 10 minutes. Remove lamb and let stand 10 minutes before carving.

To serve, place bean mixture in center of serving platter. Arrange bell peppers and oranges around beans. Carve lamb into thin slices; arrange over beans. Garnish with reserved onion rings. Drizzle with remaining dressing; season with additional red pepper, if desired.

Makes 10 to 12 servings (serving size: 1/10 to 1/12 of recipe).

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

"It's the weekend!" says the perky voice coming from an area radio station.

"No alarms! No hassles! No bosses!" continues the upbeat, excited disc jockey.

I glance around the dairy barn. A hundred cows are waiting to enter their stall for evening milking on this particular late June Friday. From the calf nursery comes the sound of a dozen calves already impatiently bawling for their evening bottle feedings.

Forty acres of grass hay lay drying under the baking sun and 93-degree heat. The Farmer and crew are busy baling and stacking heavy bales in the hay mow of a humid barn. Their day will stretch even longer than ours in the barn as they toil feverishly to put away the last of first-cutting grass hay.

And then The Farmer will return, at dusk, with several trips left around the barn to feed the cows, attend to any health needs we may find during milking and perhaps artificially inseminate a cow or two before the long day ends.

Tomorrow — Saturday — will be a repeat. Sunday, even without field work, all the dairy choes still need done. So the announcer's weekend celebratory pronouncement strikes me as hilarious. In the middle of the barn surrounded by "bosses" I'm directing to stalls, I laugh out loud.

After nearly three decades at this profession of farm wifery, experience tells me that Murphy's law applies more intensely to weekends than any other period of time. Anything disruptive will, by large probability of fate, happen on the weekend.

When you can't get repairmen, can't get parts, can't get anything shipped, employees are more likely to be off — it will break down, bust up, shut off, die, get a calf stuck midways through delivery, break a leg, or develop a twisted stomach and need emergency surgery. Nearly every time the power has gone down in recent years, it's been a weekend.

We have a standing joke around the farm about the silo/feeder drag chain mechanism. If it's broke, it must be Sunday morning. That chain has surely broken on as many weekdays as it has on Sundays, but somehow they stand out in memory far more clearly. Regardless of when, if the cows are to eat, which they loudly demand, it must be fixed.

Also, it seems about 40 percent of our baby calves arrive at the calf barn so that their first bottle needs to be given on a Sunday morning. And giving that first bottle manually often proves to be an adventure in which I get butted, slobbered upon, knocked into a corner (I once flew right out with a gate when a calf took offense to my presence). I did make a resolution sometime ago to stop grumbling about Sunday morning first-feedings and instead count the blessing of a healthy calf.

A few Saturday evenings ago, a fellow dairy producer called asking if we knew of any used bulk milk tanks available for sale. His, while operating for-the-half at that moment, was failing to the point where it could cease to continue cooling milk at any given second. On a weekend, naturally.

Even more enticing to trouble than plain, ordinary weekends are holiday weekends, such as this one. Vividly impressed in my memory is a Labor Day weekend a few years back when we had everything lined up to fill silo. The weather was ideal, we had adequate manpower — and the forage harvester broke down. Late on a Friday afternoon.

Parts had to come from a source in the mid-West. But neither the postal service nor the private delivery services were operating until the following Tuesday.

We do enjoy the special things planned for weekends and try to set aside at least an hour or two to relax — even if it's just sitting by the pond at dusk on Sunday evening.

Last Friday night, The Farmer collapsed on the couch with a snack — just in time for the late night news. Hay had kept him in the field again until dark. Then, after several feeding trips around the barn, he'd spent nearly an hour wrestling a huge bull calf from the heifer mother struggling to give birth.

"It's the weekend!" gleefully announced our favorite television weatherman on the late night news.

"Yeah," agreed The Farmer, with a tired grin. "It's the weekend — maybe we can get done at nine instead of eleven."

Perry County Chooses Dairy Princess

A new Dairy Princess was crowned for Perry County on June 8. Marel Raub, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Raub of Duncannon, will be promoting the dairy industry over the next year, and will represent Perry County at the State Pageant in September. Emily Dum, right, Dairy Ambassador, and Abby Dum, Little Dairy Miss, will be assisting Marel at local promotions. Anyone wishing to have Marel speak at a function, please contact Brenda Hollister at (814) 834-4578 (day) or (814) 834-3298 (eve).

QUESTION — Anne Nolt, Reinholds, would like a recipe for mint lemonade made with spearmint or peppermint meadow tea and lemonade.

ANSWER — Jeanette Babson, Ottsville, wanted a recipe for salt pickles, which uses rock salt and grape leaves. Thanks to Anne Nolt, Reinholds, for sending a recipe.

Winter Dill Pickles

½ cup salt
4 quarts water
Cherry or grape leaves
Dill
10 quarts water
1 quart vinegar
2 cups salt
Garlic
4 small hot peppers

Wash cucumbers and leave whole. Make a brine by adding ½ cup salt to each 4 quarts water.

Cover cucumber with brine and soak overnight. Combine vinegar, water, and salt; bring to a boil. Let liquid stand overnight.

In the morning, drain the cucumbers and pack them in stone or glass jars between layers of grape or cherry leaves.

Add dill, garlic, and a hot pepper to each jar. These may be kept indefinitely without sealing them.

ANSWER — Elsie Austin, Columbus, wanted some good coffee cake recipes. Thanks to Thelma Musser, Pine Grove; Judy Stayman, Chambersburg; and Kim Kernick, Center Valley, for sending recipes.

Susan's Coffee Cake

1½ cups flour
1½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
1 egg
½ cup milk

Spread half of batter in greased 8x12-inch pan. Put on half of topping. Repeat with batter and then topping layers. Swirl a little with fork.

Topping:
½ cup brown sugar, packed
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 tablespoons water

Buttermilk glaze:
1 cup sugar
½ cup buttermilk
½ teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons vanilla
½ cup butter

Combine ingredients and boil for 1 minute. Pour hot sauce over warm coffee cake.

Apple Coffee Cake

2 cups biscuit mix
3 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
⅔ cup milk
2 cups thinly sliced pared apples
2 tablespoons chopped

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Grease 9x9-inch pan. Mix baking mix, sugar, egg, and milk. Beat for 30 seconds. Spread half of batter in pan. Arrange all apple slices on batter.

Topping:
¼ cup butter
⅔ cup biscuit mix
⅔ cup brown sugar
1 teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg

Mix topping until crumbly. Sprinkle half of topping on apples. Spread remaining battter over topping. Sprinkle with remaining topping and nuts. Bake for 25 minutes at 400 degrees.

Good Morning Coffee Cake

2⅓ cups flour
1⅓ cups sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ cup shortening
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ cup milk
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
3-ounces cream cheese, softened
14-ounces sweetened condensed milk
⅓ cup lemon juice
2 teaspoons cinnamon
29-ounce can peaches or apple pie filling
1 cup nuts, chopped
⅓ cup brown sugar

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In large bowl, combine flour, sugar, and salt; cut in shortening until crumbly. Reserve 1 cup crumb mixture. To remaining crumbs, add baking powder, milk, eggs, and vanilla. Beat on medium speed for 2 minutes. Spread into greased 13x9-inch baking pan. Bake 25 minutes. In small bowl, beat cream cheese until fluffy. Beat in milk; stir in lemon juice, peaches, ½ cup nuts, and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. To reserved crumbs, add ½ cup nuts, 1 cup cinnamon, and brown sugar. Spoon peach mixture over cooled cake. Sprinkle with crumb mixture. Bake 35 minutes longer. Serve warm.

Grandma's Sugar Crumb Cake

3 cups flour
2 cups sugar
¾ cup butter
2 eggs
1 cup milk
3 teaspoons baking powder

Mix flour, sugar, baking powder, and butter into crumbs. Take out 1 cup of mixture for top. Mix milk and beaten egg with remaining mixture. Place in ungreased pan. Put crumb mixture on top. Bake at 350 degrees in an 8x8x2-inch pan for about 40 minutes.

Do not let batter get soft in advance or mixture will not be crumbly.

If you're packing a basket for a summer picnic but have grown tired of the usual picnic fare, try the following sandwich ideas. They can be prepared the night before, wrapped tightly and frozen. By the time you spread the blanket under your favorite tree and chase away the ants, the sandwiches will be defrosted and ready to eat:

• Double Cheese 'n Turkey — spread light rye or whole wheat bread with mustard, top with thinly sliced deli turkey and Swiss and Colby cheeses. Pack lettuce and tomato slices separately.

• Date with a Ham Sandwich — spread date bread with cream cheese and orange marmalade; top with shaved deli ham.

Delta Communications' New Product News, which tracks new product introductions in supermarkets, gourmet stores, natural food stores and drug stores, reports that 1,320 new dairy products were introduced in 1992.

In 1975, the average American worked 9.8 minutes to purchase a half-gallon of milk. In 1991, that same American worked only 7.2 minutes for the same purchase.

According to the International Ice Cream Association (IICA):

• Nearly one-third of American households consume at least one gallon of ice cream and related products every two weeks.

More pints of ice cream are sold in very large cities, while more quarts of ice cream are sold in medium-sized cities.

• Approximately 10 percent of the total milk produced in the U.S. is used in ice cream products.

Myth or fact?

• If you kill a toad your cows will go dry.

• If it thunders heavily, it will sour the milk.

• The first time a heifer has a calf, the owner should take the first milking and throw it into running water. If this is done, the heifer will always give milk until her next calf is born.

• It is bad luck for twin calves to be born.

• When a farmer is about to sell a cow, he must not milk her on the morning of the sale or he will have no luck in selling her.

Yogurt Makes Mark

Yogurt lovers, take note! The National Yogurt Association (NYA) has developed a seal to identify yogurts with live, active cultures. The seal, a graphic representation of the letters "L a c," is accompanied by the words "Meets National Yogurt Association Criteria for Live and Active Culture Yogurt." Live, active cultures are responsible for many of the potential benefits yogurt offers, such as decreasing the risk of traveler's diarrhea and vaginal yeast infections. It also provides an easily tolerated dairy source of calcium for individuals with lactose intolerance. The seal will appear on labels and promotional materials of products that deliver at least the minimum level of live, active cultures specified by the NYA — at least 10 million organisms per gram at the time of consumption.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Helen Hess, Washington Boro, wanted a recipe for a fermented fruit sauce to top desserts. Thanks to a Hollsopple reader for sending a recipe.

Vintage Fruit Sauce

To ferment fruit:

¾ cup canned peaches in heavy syrup, drained and cut into pieces
¾ cup canned pineapple tidbits in heavy syrup, drained
6 maraschino cherries, cut in half
1½ cups sugar
1 package instant blend dry yeast

Combine ingredients and place in glass jar with a loose cover — an apothecary jar is perfect. Stir several times the first day, then stir once a day. At the end of two weeks the starter has fermented enough to make sauce. Makes 2 cups.

Prepare Sauce:

1 cup fermented fruit
½ cup canned peaches in heavy syrup, drained and cut into pieces
½ cup canned pineapple tidbits in heavy syrup, drained
6 maraschino cherries, cut in half
1 cup sugar

Combine all ingredients in a glass jar with a loose cover; stir well. Set in fairly warm place. Continue to stir once a day. Sauce can be served after one week.

ANSWER — Suie Trimble, New Providence, and Mary Snyder, Manheim, wanted a recipe to can sweet pepper relish. Thanks to Debbie Burkholder, Denver, for sending a recipe.

Red Pepper Relish

3 cups sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
2 cups vinegar

Grind peppers through coarse blade of food chopper. Add sugar, salt, and vinegar. Simmer for about 1 hour or until relish is thickened. Pack into hot jars and seal.

This recipe can be altered to use all hot peppers or half hot and half regular bell peppers for a more mild hot pepper relish. One possible way to alter the recipe is to chop 6 large bell peppers and measure them chopped, then use an equal amount of chopped hot pepper. This makes a hot pepper relish similar to what is used on some sub sandwiches.

ANSWER — Debra Shultz, Halifax, wanted a recipe with main ingredients of tortellini or pasta, spinach, red cabbage, and Ranch Dressing. Thanks to Sue Blowers, Geneva, NY, for sending a recipe.

Layered Spinach Salad

9-ounce package refrigerated uncooked cheese tortellini
2 cups shredded red cabbage
6 cups torn spinach leaves
1 cup cherry tomatoes, halved
½ cup sliced green onions
8-ounces ranch dressing
8 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled

Cook tortellini to desired doneness as directed on package. Drain; rinse with cold water. In large clear-glass bowl or 9x13-inch baking dish, layer cabbage, spinach, tortellini, tomatoes and green onions. Pour dressing evenly over top. Sprinkle with bacon. Cover; refrigerate until serving time. Makes 8 1-cup servings.

If you know a little about the timber business, you know that Stihl chain saws have been used by professional woodcutters for over sixty years.

So maybe you think Stihl equipment is "too good" for a suburbanite or farmer or anyone else who needs to cut wood on an occasional basis.

Well, we're happy to tell you that Stihl makes a whole series of chain saws with your needs in mind.

But don't confuse them with discount-store chain saws.

All Stihl saws are designed for performance, ease of handling and starting, and durability.

Now, about the 026 shown at the bottom. We'll admit we sell this saw to professional woodcutters. But it's also bought by people who simply put a lot of hours on a saw every year.

And by the way, when were you ever unhappy because you bought a product that was too good?

For The Part Of You That Promised You'd Never Compromise.

Ideas For Summertime Fun Indoors And Outdoors

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Kids can always find plenty to do outside during the summertime, but what do you do when it rains?

Here are ideas to have as much fun inside as outside. Clip this page and show it to an adult who can help you do some of these projects.

The kids pictured on this page are cousins who recently visited relatives in the area for a week of summertime fun. Zachary Martin, son of Karl and Patti Martin, lives in Southern Pines, North Carolina. Stephanie Martin, daughter of Dean and Eunice Martin, lives in Birmingham, Alabama. Peter Martin, son of Daryl and Karen Martin, lives in Berne, Indiana.

Try these ideas and you will find playing inside can be as much fun as swimming and roasting hot dogs outside.

You don't need to buy play dough at the store. Have your child help you make your own play dough, using one of these recipes.

Homemade Play Dough

1 cup white flour
¼ cup salt
2 tbsp. cream of tartar
1 cup water
2 tsp. food coloring
1 tbsp. vegetable oil

Mix the flour, salt, and cream of tartar in a medium-size saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly (about 3-5 minutes). Mixture will become stiff. Keep stirring until the mixture cleans the bowl like pie dough. Remove from heat, beat, cool. Knead like bread on a floured surface. Store in a plastic bag or air tight container.

Edible Play Dough
(let your child make her own snack creatures)

½ cup peanut butter
½ cup honey
1 cup dry non-fat milk solids
1¼ cup graham cracker crumbs
Raisins, pitted prunes, grated carrot or carrot curls, grated apple, etc. for decorations.

Combine all ingredients in a bowl. Mix well.

Caution: Do not use honey in uncooked foods for infants under the age of one year. Honey may contain botulism toxins.

Tulip Planter

Cut individual egg cups out of a molded egg carton. Scallop the sides and paint with poster paint in gay tulip colors.

Fill a paper or plastic container (cottage cheese carton, etc.) with sand, gravel or soil and cover sides with foil. Make stems by gluing pipe cleaners to bottom of tulips, press stems into the soil material in a pleasing arrangement. Vary the length of the stems. Add leaves cut from craft paper, stiffen by gluing pipe cleaners down the center of the leaves.

Play Dough Prints

Give your child a rolling pin (real or play) to flatten the dough. Provide a variety of different objects to make clay imprints. Try buttons, seeds, uncooked macaroni, paper clips, etc.

Comparing Sizes

Have your child roll three play dough "sticks" in different lengths. Ask your child which "stick" is longest? Shortest? Middle sized? Have her roll four "sticks." Ask her to start with the smallest "stick" and line them up so each stick is bigger than the one before it. Gradually add more sticks to this game.

Numbers

Write the numerals 1-2-3-4-5 across a sheet of paper. Tell your child the numerals you are writing. Have him name them with you.

Have your child make small balls of play dough. Place the correct number of balls under each numeral — one ball under the numeral "1", two balls under the numeral "2", etc. Count the balls with your child and name the numeral.

Remove the balls from under the numerals. See if your child can place the correct number of balls under each numeral.

Warm and Cold

Have your child shape the play dough into two balls. Put one ball in the refrigerator and the other outside in the sun for one hour. (If it isn't a sunny day, have your child wrap one ball in aluminum foil. Place in a warm oven (250°F) until the play dough is warm.)

Give your child the warm and cold balls of play dough. Let her feel them. How are they different? Similar? What happens as she works with the cold dough? Warm dough?

Play Dough Shapes

Encourage your child to roll, pound, squeeze, and pat the dough into different shapes. Let him use cookie cutters to cut out different shapes. Count the shapes he makes. Group them together. For example, put all the long ones in one group, short ones in another, and round ones in another.

BAREFOOT MARBLE GAME

Materials:
2 pie tins or flat boxes
Marbles

Directions:

Put the marbles in one container. Let family members take turns seeing how many marbles each one can take from one container and put in the other by using their bare toes.

Zachary Martin demonstrates that the Barefoot Marble Game can be played standing up or sitting down.

Heritage House Celebrates Heritage

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Tours and demonstrations will be the order of the day during Heritage Day at the Heritage House Museum, 43 East High Street, Elizabethtown, on Saturday, July 10 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Heritage Days are held on the second Saturday of each month from March through November.

Interpreters will be demonstrating bake oven baking throughout the day in th e 1847 squirrel-tail bake oven which was reconstructed on the original foundation found during archaeological excavations.

There will be either a spinning or weaving demonstration performed by Heritage House interpreters. Tours of the herb garden will also be given.

Mary Conrad will offer guided tours of the historic building throughoutu the day, and an archaeological display of artifacts found on the museum grounds will be available for viewing by the public.

In addition, the genealogical library, staffed by a genealogist who is available for consultation, the preservation bookshelf, and the Information Center will be open.

The Heritage House signature quilt is on permanent exhibit in the museum and can be viewed during Heritage Day. The Heritage House Museum Store will also be open.

There is a charge to participate in Heritage Day at the Heritage House Museum: Non-members - $1 adults, half-price for children 12 years of age and under. Members showing their membership cards are admitted free of charge.

Heritage House is open every week during the following hours: Thursday, 12:00-5:00; Friday, 9:00-5:00; Saturday, 9:00-11:30. This ggenealogical library is open every Thursday, 1:00-5:00 P.M. There is a small charge for non-members of EPA to use the library.

For a Fourth Of July celebration, Lynn Rossi prepares Red-White-And Blue Berry Salad.

Ideas For July Fourth Entertaining

Lunch With Lynn

If you are searching for ways to make your July 4th entertaining unique, try these ideas from Lynn Rossi of Lititz.

Lynn likes to cook and add those little finishing touches that make the meal — no matter how simple — classy. She especially likes to entertain guests in the summer cottage that she and her husband own.

To ease last minute preparations, Lynn stresses the need to plan early and make good use of the freezer and make-it-ahead recipes.

Of prime importance to her, is the need to use the freshest and best ingredients in all recipes. This makes even the most ordinary food taste better, she believes.

When planning a meal, Lynn considers the colors, textures, and variety of the food in order to chose dishes that complement each other. She also thinks about how to serve the food so that it looks attractive.

From Memorial Day to Labor Day, Lynn uses a red, white, and blue theme, which is especially suitable for July Fourth celebrations. The centerpiece is an arrangement of fresh flowers in a mug that coordinates with napkins and tablecloth.

For casual entertaining, Lynn has dishes, trays, and cups in bright red, which when set on a blue striped tablecloth and accesorized with napkins in a bold design of red, white, and blue is quite eye catching.

"Although cloth placemats or table coverings add to the visual effect, a plastic tablecloth in the right colors is not offensive," Lynn said. "But save paper table covers for kids' parties."

One of the final tasks that bring special pleasure to Lynn is folding napkins in unique ways.

"On a warm day, napkins folded in the shape of a fan provides the perfect finishing touch," she said.

Entertaining guests has its rewards Lynn believes. She enjoys the social interaction with guests, the opportunity to exercise her creativity, and, of course, guests' admiration for her efforts.

"But I cannot downplay the cost and the time required to prepare it," she said.

Nonetheless, entertaining builds relationships and offers social interchanges, which friends always enjoy. Take the initiative and invite guests. Your hospitality may inspire others to entertain, and the next time, you might be the guest.

A typical luncheon includes a stir fry and pasta, called Chicken in a Garden, accompanied with blueberry streusel muffins, homemade lemonade with fancy ice cubes, and a fruit tart.

Another luncheon included fruited chicken salad, poppy seed bread and lemon bread, cheese soup with homemade sesame crackers, cream puff swans, homemade lemonade and meadow tea with fancy ice cubes.

Here are some of Lynn's recipes.

Homemade Lemonade
12 lemons
2¼ cups sugar
12 cups water

Wash lemons and slice in ¼" slices into a large bowl. Pour sugar over all and let sit for a couple of hours, stirring frequently to create juice. Add 2 cups boiling water and stir well to dissolve sugar.

Using new or very clean rubber gloves, squeeze juice from lemons and discard shells. Strain juice through a colander to strain seeds but keep pulp. Divide liquid equally into two pint and a half containers and freeze. Reconstitute by defrosting one container and adding to it 5 cups of water. Do the same with the other frozen container of concentrate and you have over three quarts of homemade lemonade. Serve with ice.

After tasting homemade lemonade, I was spoiled. When I find a good buy on lemons, no matter what time of year, I make a concentrate and freeze it. There may be easier ways to make lemonade, but this recipe tastes better than any I've tried.

Reduced And No-Sugar Jams And Jellies

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Growing health concerns have caused many consumers to take a new approach to canning and freezing, especially with jams and jellies.

Alletta Schadler, Lebanon County home economist, held a workshop on reduced and no-sugar jam and jelly making recently.

At one time, it was thought impossible to make jams and jellies without sugar since most jams and jellies are made using commercial pectin preparations. In most recipes in order for the gel to form the proper ratio of acid, sugar and pectin must be present. Some pectin is provided by the fruit itself, the balance by the commercial pectin with added sugar.

Although reducing sugar in standard recipes almost always results in a soft, runny product, there are several new developments with improved reduced-sugar preservation now on the market.

Alletta told workshop participants about the new products and prepared several varieties for taste testing.

The taste-testing favorite was the new product Garden Fare Freezer Jam Gelling Powder by McCormick and Co, Inc. 1-800-632-5847. It uses carrageenan as the thickener to make uncooked freezer jam. If you can't find it in the supermarket, call 1-800-632-5847 and order direct. Cost is $15 for 12 packets including shipping.

Low methoxyl pectin such as Mrs. Wages Light Home-Jell does not depend on the same ratio of sugar and acid for gel formation as other pectins do. Some people are not satisfied with the taste, but, Lettie said, "You should taste it to decide as each person's likes and dislikes vary greatly."

Another low methoxyl pectin product is Ball 100% natural Fruit Jell No Sugar Needed Pectin. Both cooked and uncooked freezer varieties can be made with 1 to 3 cups sugar or with non-sugar sweetener. Clarity, texture, and flavor are acceptable although it is different from the sugar varieties. It can be purchased wherever Ball brand canning supplies are sold.

You can make jam or jelly without any sugar, but it will taste different. Some people do not like the taste and it will not keep as well during long storage. The color and flavor fades due to lack of sugar. Usually grape juice or other fruit juices are used to sweeten the flavor.

Fruit spread using Sure-Jell Light Fruit Pectin uses fruit juice concentrate instead of sugar. It is a long cook procedure that results in a dark thick spread. Lettie cautions that it is important to use the recommended pan size to allow the proper amount of evaporation to take place. The jam splashes as it cooks so it is a good idea to put a rug or newspaper on the floor in front of the range as you work.

Aspartame sweetener is not heat tolerant so it must be added at the end of cooking and after the fruit is cooled.

Remember artificial sweeteners do have some calories, these should be considered by calorie-counting individuals.

Artificial sweeteners should be added to canned or frozen fuit just before serving. Do not use artificial sweeteners containing aspartame in canning syrups as the heat processing causes it to lose sweetening power and may cause an unpleasant after taste or flavor.

Fructose is a sweet tasting sugar found naturally in fruit, juices, and honey. While it tastes twice as sweet as sugar and you need to use less, it must be considered as a sugar by diabetics.

NutraSweet is a brand name for the sweetener aspartame, which is used as the sweetening ingredient in Equal, NutraSweet, Spoonful, Equal Measure, and other products. NutraSweet may lose its sweetness if a product is kept hot for a long period of time. To obtain desirable sweetness, add the sweetener after the recipe has been removed from the heat.

To keep peaches and other fruits from darkening, add ascorbic acid to the fruit. The most inexpensive source of ascorbic acid is a generic brand of Vitamin C tablets. Buy the 500 mg. size tablets and crush and dissolve six tablets in one gallon water or juice. As you peel the fruit place it in this solution until ready to prepare jams or process. Although other fruit treatment powders to prevent darkening are available, some contain sugar, avoid them if you are watching your sugar intake.

Additional recipes and information are available from the following companies, which are eager to answer questions and may even send free samples of their products.

Sure Jell, General Foods Corp., White Plains, NY 10625 (1-800-431-1001).

Penn State Home Economist Alletta Schadler shows the new artificial sweeteners available for making jams and jellies with lower or reduced sugar content.

Participants at the workshop taste test various jams and jellies made with no or reduced sugar.

APPLE JELLY

2 packages or 2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin

IT'S BARBECUE TIME

Summer has finally arrived and everyone's ready to cook outdoors. But the bacteria responsible for food poisoning loves balmy weather, too. In fact, reports of food borne illness rise sharply during the summer months.

Here are some food handling tips to help you keep your family barbecue safe from bacterial contamination.

*Eat first, then play. Bacteria grows more rapidly the longer food sits in the heat.

*Add mayonnaise or salad dressing to cold salads when the food is prepared, not just before eating. Contrary to popular belief, mayonnaise actually slows bacterial growth in food. Make sure to refrigerate the salads immediately after preparation.

*Make certain meat, poultry, or fish are not handled by more than one person, as it increases the risk of spreading bacteria to the food.

*If you keep your food in a cooler, make certain each item is chilled by placing ice directly on top of it.

*Try to minimize the number of times you open your cooler, because each time you open it you let out cold air.

*Place your cooler in a shaded area.

*Do not taste a meat product for doneness. Eating even a little bit of undercooked meat may cause problems if the bacteria in it are alive.

*When marinating, keep the following four points in mind:

1. Marinate in your refrigerator in a glass dish.

2. Never reuse any of the marinade used to marinate raw meat because it may contain live bacteria. If you want to make a dip for cooked meat with the same marinade, reserve a separate portion ahead of time.

3. Be very careful with forks, brushes and platters used with raw meat, poultry or fish. Wash these utensils before using them again with cooked food so that you do not unwittingly spread bacteria with them.

4. Always take a clean plate and utensils to the grill to remove the cooked foods and take it to your table.

Although everyone is susceptible to food borne illness from improperly handled foods, the elderly, infants and children, pregnant women, anyone with a chronic disease, such as diabetes, and anyone with a suppressed immune system from chemotherapy or AIDS, is at a much higher risk for developing severe symptoms of food poisoning. The reason — because their bodies are not able to ward off the bacterial invasions as easily as adults with a fully functioning immune system.

Let's barbecue, but let's play it safe. Remember, when in doubt, throw it out.

Pennsylvania Lamb And Wool Queen Reigns

CLAYSVILLE(Washington Co.) — Sarah Read, daughter of Paul and Marcia Read, was recently crowned he 1993 Pennsylvania Lamb & Wool Queen at a board of directors meeting of the Pennsylvania and Wool Growers Association in State College. She lives on a 170-acre farm in Claysville, Washington County. They raise purebred Tunis, Jacob, Cotswald, Corriedale, Scottish Blackface, Natural Colored and Southdown sheep. Sarah has been involved with sheep for 10 years, having been a member in 4-H showing breeding flocks and market lambs at local and regional fairs and shows. In addition, she is a member of Brush Run Pony club and is undergoing training for judging Pygmy Goats. She will be a junior at the University of Pittsburgh studying communications in the fall.

Sarah feels that 1993 will be a positive year for sheep producers in Pennsylvania and they have many quality products to promote and sell. You can see her throughout the year at the PA Ram Test Sale, Ag Progress Days, the Keystone Stud Ram and Ewe Sale, KILE and Farm Show.

Jennifer Bash of Shelocta, Indiana County, was named the Alternate for 1993.

Farm Women Societies

Lebanon Executive Society

The Executive Board of the Lebanon County Society of Farm Women met recently at the Agriculture Center. Ada Kneasel, president of group 12, was in charge of devotions and Crystal Moyer, second vice president, led the pledge to the flag. County president Fern Hitz stated that there will be several Lebanon County Farm Women cookbooks included in the auction at the Lebanon Area Fair on Thursday, July 29. During the meeting scholarships were awarded to Kraig Sellers and Christine Habecker.

Kraig Sellers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sellers of Route 4, Lebanon where they live on a dairy farm. He is a 1993 graduate of Annville-Cleona High School. High school activities included basketball, Honor Society, and FFA where he served as treasurer and president. Kraig has also served as president and vice president of the No So Ann 4-H Dairy Club, and is a member of the South Mountain Slow Pitch Softball team. Presently Kraig is serving as assistant secretary of the Fontana Union Sunday School. This year he received "Weastern Region Star Farmer," one of the top four awards in agriculture production in Pennsylvania. In the fall Kraig plans to attend Penn State Berks campus where he will major in Dairy and Animal Science.

Christine Habecker, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Habecker, lives on a farm in the Palmyra Area. She is a 1993 graduate of Palmyra Area High School. In school she was a member of SADD, Youth Alive, and Peer Counselors in which she served as the secretary. In church, Christine serves as a part-time Sunday School teacher, is a member of the youth group and Youth Council.

In her spare time she enjoys cooking, swimming, roller skating, playing volleyball, and spending time with friends. In the fall Christine plans to attend Penn State Berks Campus where she will be in the College of Agriculture majoring in Food Science.

Lancaster Society 18

Elizabeth Deim was hostess to the June meeting of Farm Women Society #18 with 17 members and two guests present. Ruth Rohrer, president, was in charge. Evelyn Brubaker had devotions. Roll call was answered by giving the name of your favorite bird.

Robert Steven Kauffman gave a slide presentation of "The Bald Eagle in Flight." He also told of their interesting habits and care of their young.

July is vacation month.

The August meeting will be held at Birch Knoll Inn, 192 Doe Run Road, Manheim. Husbands and guests are invited.

The meeting adjourned by singing the theme song "Brighten the Corner."

Lancaster Society 8

Lancaster Society of Farm Women No. 8 met on June 9 for lunch and then visited Rockford and Kauffman Barn. The July 14th meeting will be a family picnic at the Maytown Park at 6 p.m.

Chicken Salad

1 cup cooked chicken cut in bite-sized chunks
½ cup diced celery
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sour cream

Yields 1½ cups. Add fruit and nuts as desired.

You can use your favorite chicken salad or this basic recipe and add red grape halves and small pieces of canned pineapple or matchstick almonds, or all three. Serve on a curly piece of Boston lettuce.

Lemon Loaf

1 medium lemon
2¼ cups flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1½ cups sugar
¾ cup butter
3 eggs
¾ cup milk

Heat oven to 350°. Grate 1 tablespoon lemon rind. Squeeze 4½ teaspoons lemon juice. Set aside.

Grease one 9x5 loaf pan or two small ones. I cut a piece of parchment paper to fit in the bottom.

In a large bowl with folk, mix flour, baking powder, salt, sugar. Cut in butter with pastry blender. Stir in peel.

In small bowl whisk eggs, lightly and stir in milk. Stir this mixture into flour mixture just until flour is moistened. Spoon into pan.

Bake 2 small pans about 40 minutes or one loaf pan about 1¼ hours. But watch carefully, for loaf or loaves are done when bread pulls from sides of pan and toothpick comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes in pan. Remove and peel off paper.

In small saucepan over medium high, heat lemon juice, 2 tablespoons sugar to boiling. Cook, stir until thick, about five minutes. With pastry brush, spread sugar mixture evenly over top of bread. Take care that loaf doesn't stick to wire rack while cooling.

For thin slices, use an electric knife. Make ahead, wrap well and freeze.

Poppy Seed Bread

3 eggs beaten
3 cups flour
1½ teaspoons salt
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoons butter flavoring
¼ -½ cups poppy seeds
1½ teaspoons almond flavoring
1½ cups milk
1⅛ cups oil
2¼ cups sugar
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Add all ingredients to beaten eggs. Mix with mixer 1-2 minutes. Pour into 2 lightly greased small loaf pans that have a piece of parchment lining the bottom. Bake about 40 minutes at 350°, checking for bread to pull from sides of pan and for doneness with a toothpick.

Glaze: Mix ¼ cup orange juice, ¾ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla and ½ teaspoon butter flavoring. Mix in saucepan and cook until sugar dissolves. Pour over loaves while still warm. Cool, taking care that loaves don't stick to wire cooling rack. Wrap well and freeze.

This yummy quickbread recipe comes from Market Fare Restaurant in Lancaster. It's very moist if not overbaked. Wrap and freeze.

Townhouse Cheese Soup

4 small carrots, cut into 1" matchsticks
3 celery stalks, cut into 1" matchsticks
1½ cups chicken stock
2 tablespoons (¼ stick) butter
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
¼ cup flour
3 cups hot chicken stock
1 cup fine shredded sharp cheddar cheese
(1) 8¾ ounce can tomato wedges undrained, chopped
10 drops hot pepper sauce
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
salt to taste (I only used ½ teaspoon) 1½ cups whipping cream, heated chopped parsley for garnish

Add carrots and celery to 1½ cups chicken stock on a 1-2 quart saucepan. Bring to boil, reduce heat and simmer until tender, about 15 minutes. Set aside.

Melt butter in a 4-5 qt. saucepan over medium heat. Add onion and saute until transparent but not brown. Add flour, blend well and cook 5-7 minutes, stirring continuously. Do not brown. Slowly stir 3 cups hot chicken stock into flour mixture and cook over low heat, whisking constantly until sauce thickens. Blend in cheese and stir until cheese melts. Add tomatoes and undrained vegetables. Season with pepper sauce, nutmeg, salt. Just before serving soup, stir in hot cream. Garnish with chopped parsley. Serves 6.

This is a light soup; perfect for lunch.

Cream Puff Swans

1 cup water
½ cup butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup flour
4 eggs
1 cup heavy cream
1 3½ -3¾ box vanilla instant pudding
1¼ cup milk
½ teaspoon almond extract

Grease large cookie sheet. In 2 quart saucepan over medium heat, heat water, butter or margarine and salt until butter melts and mixture boils. Remove saucepan from heat. Add flour all at once. With wooden spoon, vigorously stir until mixture leaves sides of pan and forms a ball.

Add eggs one at a time, beating well with wooden spoon after each addition. Cool slightly.

Preheat oven to 375°. Spoon ½ cup of batter into pastry bag with large round tip, about ½ " in diameter. Pipe eight three inch long "question marks" for swans' necks, making a small dollop at the beginning of each for head.

Drop remaining batter, using a large spoon, onto cookie sheet into 8 large oval mounds 3" apart. Using moistened finger, gently smooth batter.

Bake necks 20 minutes or until golden. Remove necks to wire rack. Continue baking mounds 45-50 minutes longer. Remove to wire racks to cool.

Prepare filling. This can be made ahead of time. In small bowl with mixer at medium speed, beat 1 cup heavy cream until soft peaks form. Set aside. Prepare pudding using 1¼ cups milk. With rubber spatula, gently fold whipped cream and ½ teaspoon almond extract into pudding. Refrigerate.

To assemble swans: cut off top third of cream puffs (swans' bodies). Set aside. Divide almond cream into 8 bodies. Place necks into bodies. Cut reserved piece of body in half and set cut edges into sides for wings. Refrigerate until serving time.

Cream puff swans with almond cream filling may look difficult to make but really aren't. One drawback is that they cannot be made more than a day in advance. You'll need a reusable or disposable pastry bag to form the neck.

Sesame Thins

1¼ cups flour
¼ cup cornmeal
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine, softened, divided
½ cup water
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons sesame seeds

Into large bowl measure flour, cornmeal, sugar, baking soda, salt. With pastry blender cut ¼ cup butter or margarine into flour mixture for coarse crumbs. Stir in water and vinegar. With hands, knead flour mixture until well-blended.

Preheat oven to 375°. Divide dough into 30 small balls. On lightly floured surface, with floured rolling pin, roll dough into 4½ " paper thin circles. (Edges may be ragged.)

With pancake turner, place circles one inch apart on ungreased cookie sheet.

In small saucepan over low heat, melt other ¼ cup butter or margarine. With pastry brush, lightly brush each doug circle with butter or margarine. Sprinkle with some sesame seeds. With back of a teaspoon carefully press seeds into dough. Bake 8-10 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove to wire rack to cool completely. Store in tightly covered container. Makes 30.

These light paper-thin crackers feature the nutty rich flavor of sesame seeds. Easy to do ahead - up to one week.

100-HP JOHN DEERE 3255 TRACTOR

Loaded and priced to move

Whether you're hauling hay in or moving manure out, you can't beat the combination of a John Deere 3255 Tractor and a perfectly matched John Deere loader.

It's easy to keep loads moving. You get top traction in slippery lots with standard "engage-on-the-go" Caster/Action™ MFWD. Plus, you'll make tight turns in all tread settings, so cramped quarters are an easy fit.

There's plenty of power, too – with the turbocharged 100-horsepower, 6-cylinder diesel. High on torque yet low on fuel consumption, this remarkable engine delivers a 24-percent torque rise at just 80 percent of rated speed. You can keep working – without downshifting – right through changing load demands.

That lugging power is coupled to the innovative top-shaft-synchronized (TSS) transmission. For loader or blade work, the exclusive "shuttle-shift" lets you quickly move back-and-forth with a single lever while clutching. All this for a surprisingly affordable price. See your John Deere dealer today for the full story.

Fancy Ice Cubes (for homemade lemonade or spearmint tea)

Fill ice cube trays half full. Place the very top of a sprig of mint tea, a small strawberry or a peeled piece of lemon rind in each compartment. Freeze. Fill trays completely with water and freeze.

Blueberry Streusel Muffins

¼ cup margarine or butter softened
⅓ cup sugar
1 egg
2⅓ cups flour
1 tablespoon + 1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cup blueberries
½ cup sugar
⅓ cup flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup margarine, softened

Cream butter or margarine. Gradually add ⅓ cup sugar, beating until fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Combine 2⅓ cups flour, baking powder and salt. Add to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Stir after each addition. Stir in vanilla and blueberries. Divide batter into 18 cupcake liners.

Combine ½ cup sugar, ⅓ cup flour and cinnamon. Cut in ¼ cup margarine or butter to make coarse crumbs. Sprinkle over muffins. Bake at 375° 25-30 minutes. Makes 18.

Don't fill the cupcake papers too full because these muffins are juicy and spill over easily.

Chicken in a Garden

6 chicken breast halves, boned, skinned, cut into 1" pieces
3 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 tablespoons soy sauce
3 tablespoons cornstarch
½ teaspoon garlic powder
3 green peppers, cut into 1" pieces
1 cup diagonally cut pieces of celery
6 ounces snow peas
¾ cup water
¾ teaspoon chicken bouillon
¼ teaspoon ginger
3 medium tomatoes, cut in eighths or cherry tomatoes to equal
8 scallions cut into ½" slices

Combine chicken, 1 tablespoon oil, 1 tablespoon soy sauce, 1½ teaspoons cornstarch, garlic powder, pepper. Stir well and let set 20 minutes in refrigerator.

Pour 2 tablespoons oil in large electric fry pan and coat bottom. Heat at 325° for 2 minutes. Add green pepper and stir fry 4 minutes. Add celery, onion and peas. Stir fry 2 minutes. Remove vegetables to bowl.

Combine 1 tablespoon soy sauce and 2½ tablespoons cornstarch. Stir in water, bouillon and ginger. Set aside.

Add chicken to pan. Stir fry 3 minutes. Add reserved vegetables, tomatoes, water mixture. Reduce heat to 225° and scrape chicken pieces from bottom if pan is not nonstick. Cover for 3 minutes until bubbly and thickened. Serves 6 generously.

Not only is this dish visually appetizing, it's healthy too. Serve over fettucine or rice. Directions call for a wok, but I use an electric fry pan or a large nonstick fry pan.

Meadow Tea

In large kettle, boil approximately 1 gallon of water with 85 sprigs of rinsed spearmint tea stalks for 10-minutes. Strain immediately and add approximately 4 cups of sugar; stir to dissolve. Strain through cheesecloth. Freeze in any size containers. When ready to use, defrost concentrate and add 2 of same container of water, using a 2:1 ratio.

This recipe for meadow tea makes a concentrate that can be frozen and then reconstituted. It's served hot or over ice.

Rainbow Tart

2 8-ounces cream cheese
½ cup margarine
1¼ cups flour
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup heavy cream, whipped assorted fresh fruit (strawberry slices, blueberries, kiwi slices)
¼ cup apricot preserves
1 tablespoon water

Combine 4 ounces cream cheese and margarine and mix until well blended. Add flour and salt and mix well. Form into ball. Chill. On lightly floured surface roll to 14" circle and place in tart pan with bottom that lifts out and has fluted sides. Prick bottom and sides with fork. Bake at 425° 12-15 minutes or until golden brown.

Combine remaining cream cheese, sugar and lemon juice, mixing until well-blended. Fold in whipped cream. Spoon into crust. Arrange fruit on baked crust in decorative manner.

Heat preserves with water. Brush over all fruit. Chill. 10 servings.

Red-White-And-Blue Berry Salad

1 pint strawberries
3 packages strawberry gelatin water
1 pint blueberries
½ cup sugar
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup milk
2 eggs, separated
2 8-ounce packages cream cheese, softened
1 teaspoon almond extract
¼ teaspoon salt
mint leaves for garnish

Early in day or day ahead, slice ¾ cup strawberries. Reserve other strawberries for garnish.

In medium bowl stir gelatin with ¾ cup boiling water until gelatin is completely dissolved. Stir in ¾ cup cold water.

Pour ¼" layer into bottom of 6 cup mold. Refrigerate until almost set, about 10 minutes. Arrange a few strawberry slices and some blueberries on gelatin layer to make pretty design. Refrigerate until set.

Refrigerate remaining gelatin until it mounds when dropped from a spoon. Fold in ¼ cup blueberries and remaining sliced strawberries. Save some strawberries and blueberries for garnish. Spoon over gelatin layer in mold. Refrigerate.

In 2 quart sauce pan mix sugar and unflavored gelatin. In cup with fork, beat milk and egg yolks until blended; stir into gelatin mixture. Cook over medium low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is completely dissolved and mixture thickens and coats the back of a spoon. Don't boil. Remove saucepan from heat.

In small bowl with mixer at high speed, beat egg whites until stiff peaks form. In large mixer bowl at low speed, beat cream cheese, almond extract, and salt until smooth. Gradually beat in gelatin mixture until well-blended. Fold egg whites into cream cheese mixture. Pour cream cheese mixture over strawberry layer in mold. Cover, refrigerate until set, about 4 hours.

To serve: Unmold salad onto platter. Garnish with mint leaves, reserved whole strawberries and blueberries. Makes 10 dessert servings.

A perfect Fourth of July dessert; not really a salad. Strawberries and blueberries both have to be available. You'll need a 6 cup mold too.

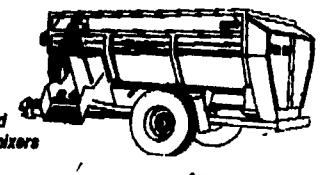
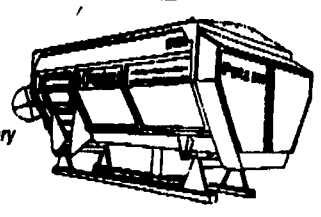
Mixing T.M.R. the Way You Want

Open-Top Mixers

- Four notched augers mix fast--even square-baled dry alfalfa in limited amounts.
- Self-aligning auger bearings mounted outside. Flanged auger tubes for easy removal.
- Planetary gear reducer and roller chain reduction power the augers. Roller chains operate in sealed oil bath.
- On trailer models, the discharge door and discharge augers are controlled hydraulically.



Trailer mounted auger mixers



Stationary auger mixers

Tumble Mixers

- Tumble mixing plus a central spiral circulator moving ingredients to the back of the drum while fliting moves ingredients forward.
- No internal bearings.
- Low maintenance — only 3 grease fittings.

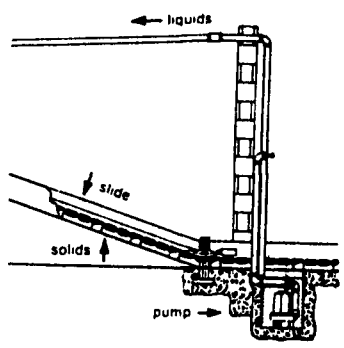
BALE CHOPPING MADE EASY

- Reduce feeding waste and increase palatability.
- Do the job fast with a tractor-powered Patz® Big-Bale Chopper.
- Models for 4-foot to 6-foot diameter round bales or several rectangular bales.
- Patented horizontal chopping method requires less horsepower.
- A spinning rotor with knives chops as the tub rotates.
- Easy start of chopper knives with freewheeling lifting disk.
- Two side-discharge ports.
- Optional high vertical-discharge chute.
- Optional flexible hose for restricted access and mulching.

Ask to see the Patz® Chopper video. Then ask for a demonstration.

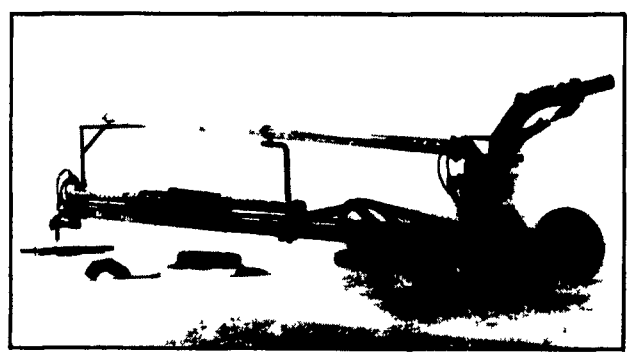
Thinking Manure Auger? Consider a Better Alternative — 9000/9000S Liquid Transfer System



Removes liquids from the gutter while manure goes up the slide.

- Liquids flow through a screen in the gutter bottom.
- Submersible pump moves the liquids through 2" PVC pipe to manure spreader or other discharge point.
- Solves overflow problems of leaky drinking cups and pipes.
- Also, for milk waste water and other liquids.
- Installs easily anytime.

SAFETY! It's no accident



Dual Agitation Saves Time

Patz Model 477 Lagoon Pump

- Propeller agitates under the surface while nozzle breaks up surface crust.
- Agitation nozzle rotates 340 degrees.
- 540 or 1,000 PTO speed.
- Loads 3,200-gallon tanker as fast as 90 seconds.
- Agitates while loading.
- Up to 5 feet of height adjustment.
- 25-ft. and 35-ft. models available.
- Financing available.

PUBLIC AUCTION

56 ACRE YORK COUNTY THOROUGHBRED TRAINING FACILITY
Located RD 1 Broadbecks, PA, Codorus Township

July 24, 1993
11:00 A.M.

Imagine yourself relaxing on your deck overlooking a stocked pond as weeping willows blow in the breeze. Beyond the split rail fence the horses quietly graze the rolling pastures of lush grass.

Your imagination can become reality at this auction. The seller, a licensed thoroughbred trainer desiring to downscale her operation is offering at auction this 56 acre farm. 26 acres are in fenced pasture and the farm is in move in condition. The home is a 2½ story farmhouse covered in vinyl siding and is just the right size for the large family or a family that entertains overnight guests. There is even an elevator for those having trouble with steps.

The Training Arena is 58'x132' with a one bedroom efficiency apartment therein with utilities. A 30'x60' bank barn with stalls & lots of hay storage. There are corn barns, wagon sheds, Stallion Pens and more. The pastures are divided into paddocks.

The property is idealy secluded, not a neighbor insight yet you are only minutes from Hunt Valley and York. If you are looking for a farm for horses, cattle or just plain country living you should preview this farm. Its a wonderful setting. It is entered in clean & green for lower taxes. From Maryland follow 83 North to Middletown Rd. Continue North to Rt. 851 West to Stock intersection. Go straight to Watertank Rd. T.L. to property on right. Follow the long lane through the woods to the farm.

Terms: 10% Day of Auction. Balance in 60 Days.

Wean up to 10 days sooner and accelerate to market with Momentum® 5/10

Studies show that properly managed early weaning programs can make a significant difference in reducing times to market. Momentum® 5/10 Infant Formula is a specially formulated dry feed that allows you to effectively wean pigs as young as one week old.

Use as a creep feed.

Momentum 5/10 is a highly efficient creep feed that allows for faster conversion to dry feed, with accompanying improvements in weight gain and feed intake, due to processing and formulation.

Use in a Medicated Early Weaning (M.E.W.) Program.

Momentum 5/10 is equally effective in a Medicated Early Weaning Program. Its natural support proteins are blended with Apralan* protection. Momentum 5/10 provides for safer weaning and improved growth performance.

Apralan

Exclusive pelleted Micrets™ make it easy to digest.

Momentum 5/10's highly palatable formula is easy for baby pigs to take to—its unique pelleted Micrets are small, soft and easy for baby pigs to chew and swallow.

Resealable Fresh-Saver package.

Because it's a dry feed, Momentum 5/10 reduces handling time and expense. And the convenient Fresh-Saver package helps keep feed fresh and palatable, from the first Micret to the last.

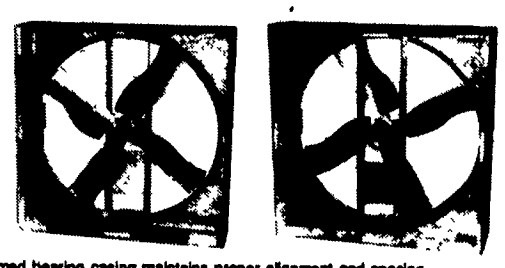
BELT DRIVE OR DIRECT DRIVE PANEL FANS FOR AGRICULTURE



- ☐ Galvanized Construction
- ☐ Wide Cambered Propeller
- ☐ Riveted Blades
- ☐ Unique Captured Bearings — Strong formed bearing casing maintains proper alignment and spacing
- ☐ Vertical Support Frame — Supports both fan and motor to assist pulley alignment and easy adjustment
- ☐ Screens Pre-cut — For easy, quick mounting of motor
- ☐ Totally enclosed motors with shielded ball bearings, continuous duty type and energy efficient.
- ☐ Optional Discharge Diffuser Cone — Increases performance of fan without additional HP
- ☐ Optional Belt Tightener — Maintains proper belt tension for peak airflow

ENERGY EFFICIENT ENCLOSED MOTORS

- Heavy-duty totally enclosed motors with shielded ball bearings are designed for continuous work load.
- Available in two-speed.
- Built-in thermal overload for low line-voltage protection on all single phase motors.

Tapered hopper is interlocked then riveted together for strong construction made from 18 ga. steel. No danger of coming apart as spot welded construction. No thin spots as spun tapered hopper. The design must be good since our competition copied it. We don't spin our hopper. When you spin metal you get weak points. This is a critical area since the hogs are rubbing against it. Also, on our feeder if one spot does wear through it can be replaced. If a spun hopper wears out you have to replace the entire hopper

- One-piece seamless spun cover hinges back for easy filling.
- Front and rear catches hold cover secure.
- 6-piece tapered hopper swedged, then overlapped and riveted together for extra strength. No spotweld to break loose.
- 2"x6" tapered oak skids with heavy 11 gauge skid pulls for easy moving.
- Big 1¼" rake edge stops feed waste.
- Large feed opening so there's plenty of headroom for largest of hogs to eat.
- Feed control band double hemmed for strength and made from 16 gauge galvanized steel.
- Agitator rods securely locked to adjusting cone and double nutted on feed control band, providing positive feed flow of any kind of feed.
- Door dividers made from heavy 16 gauge Galvalume steel.
- Heavy 11 gauge sectional trough ¼" thick, riveted together from 12 sections.
- Extra heavy wide crossbar strengthens feeder and keeps it round, doesn't let feed shut off.
- Top ring has pipe top finish.
- Four swedges in each hopper ring for added strength..

THE FLY SEASON IS HERE

Charles Pitts
Professor Of Entomology

The fly season is here and we are experiencing isolated problems throughout Pennsylvania with high house fly populations.

I have checked with my colleagues in surrounding states and they are also experiencing problems with house flies. Each poultry producer should be aware of the importance of controlling house flies in their facilities in order to have good sanitation in the egg processing area of the high rise houses and to be a good neighbor to his non-poultry producing neighbors.

This relationship to the community is very important to the poultry industry and must be taken seriously.

Practically all producers are using thermal foggers or a mist blower as a tool to control house flies. These approaches use multiple applications and usually the same chemical is used for each treatment.

This use of the same chemical is beginning to show problems in not giving the same control that was given during treatments last year. I have checked with neighboring states and they are experiencing the same problem. We will be collecting flies in different regions of Pennsylvania and testing them for resistance to the commonly used insecticides for house fly control. These data will not be available until late in the fly season, so, in the meantime, poultry producers should alternate the chemicals used for house fly control. This will take some of the selection pressure off the house fly populations and extend the life of currently used chemicals.

Remember that in conducting a fly pest management program, one must have good manure management. Be sure and walk the pits daily to check for leaky waterers, because if a leaky waterer is left it can produce ideal growing conditions for the house fly and get you behind in controlling your house fly populations.

If you need help in solving your fly problem, contact your local extension office or the Department of Entomology at Penn State, (814-863-7789).

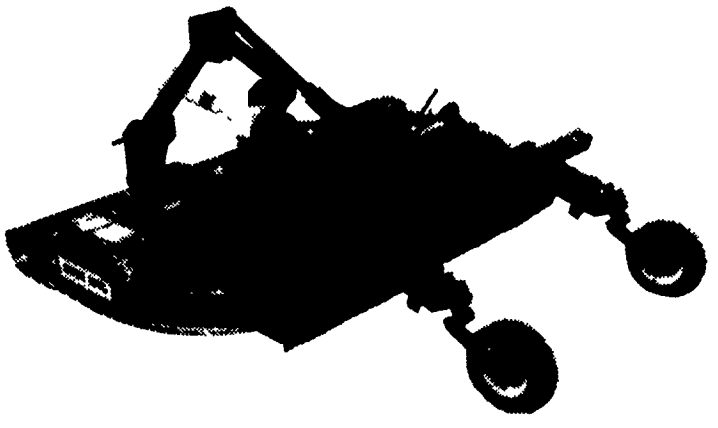
BUSH HOG®
DIVISION OF ALLIED PRODUCTS CORPORATION
Winning with quality.

MANY ROTARY CUTTERS IN ONE.

The nine-foot Bush Hog® 3108 Series Rotary Cutter offers you a choice of hitches—3 point lift, pull, or an economical semi-mount attachment for lighter HP tractors.

You can select normal center attach units or models that offset over 80-inches to the right. This makes the 3108 an ideal general-purpose cutter as well as a unique model for work in orchards or along roadsides.

Select manual or hydraulic lift, round blade-holders and choose from a variety of wheel options. Whatever your rotary cutting task, you can equip a Bush Hog 3108 to do the job.



A HIGH LIFT FROM A HEFTY LOADER.

With a lifting height of 11½-feet the Bush Hog 2840 QT Front End Loader has proven a solid choice for cleaning around barns, feed lots and corrals ... for handling manure and for lifting grain and large round bales.

The 2840 QT attaches and detaches quickly to many 60—90 HP tractors, and bucket selections from 60 to 80 inches are available.

Bale spears and fork lifts are optional, along with a quick attachment system that makes changing attachments even easier.

Come in today and see the Bush Hog 2840 QT...and what it can do for you.

Meeting Your Needs with Quality, Value and Performance

Features

Durable design
1. Solid polyurethane insulation bond between inner and outer tank adds rigidity.
2. Structural steel support channels support inner tank for calibration accuracy over the cooler's life.
3. Dependable, heavy-duty agitator(s) built tough to handle day-in, day-out agitation.

Efficient cooling
1. Foam-in-place polyurethane insulation is 3 times more effective than other types, and it's moisture resistant.
4. Thermal barrier prevents metal-to-metal contact between inner tank and support channels, minimizing heat transfer.

Stainless steel construction
5. Completely stainless steel exterior.
6. Stainless steel milk valve: 2" or 2" x 1/5"
7. Stainless steel pump and lines.

Convenient
8. Heavy duty access ladders, standard on 1250 gallon and larger coolers.
9. Built-in wash system with permanently attached spray heads.

NAAB Prepares For Annual Convention

COLUMBIA, Mo. — The 47th annual convention of the National Association of Animal Breeders (NAAB) will be August 11-13 at the Chula Vista Resort, in Wisconsin Dells, Wis.

Guests willo enjoy this spectacular location on the Wisconsin River's famous "Upper Dells." Host of this year's convention is Tri-State Breeders Cooperative, Baraboo, Wis.

Convention activities kick off Wednesday evening, August 11 with the host reception.

Attendees at Thursday morning's General Business Session will hear the annual address by NAAB Chairman of the Board Douglas Wilson. All technicians who have serviced more than 100,000 cows, as well as industry sales people who have sold more than 500,000 units of semen, will be recognized with a plaque presentation ceremony.

After a break, NAAB President Gordon A. Doak will have the call to order, call to the meeting, and the reading of any proposed resolutions which, may have come before the assembly. The chairman of the nominating commitee will also be giving his report on candidates for the NAAB board election.

The afternoon Educational Session will feature Dr. Rex Powell, USDA—AIPL, speaking on the "International Comparison of Dairy Genetics." Roy Wallace, Select Sires, will provide information about the "Export Market for US Beef Semen." Dr. Dave Selner, 21st Century Genetics and Dr. Rex Powell will give a presentation on "Genetic Improvement Programs in Other Countries." Dr. Martin Sieber, NAAB, will give a talk on the "International Semen Market."

During Thursday evening's banquet, recipients of the 1993 NAAB Distinguished Service, Member Director, Pioneer, and Research Awards will be honored with a special plaque presentation ceremony.

At Friday morning's business session NAAB voting delegates will need to elect four directors to fill four vacant positions. Those whose terms expire this year are Doug Wilson, chairman of the board, 21st Century Genetics; Jon Mast, incumbant, Noba, Inc.; Richard Chichester, Select Sires, who is completing the unexpired term of Tom Wakefield; and Jack Shelton, American Breeders Service, completing the unexpired term of Dr. John Sullivan.

Wofford Praises ASCS Members

WASHINGTON, D.C. — U.S. Senator Harris Wofford congratulated the five Pennsylvanians chosen by Secretary Espy to serve as state committee members of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

John Bertovich of Bentleyville, Robert Beyer of Sidman, Larry Kehl of Fleetwood, Patricia Martz of Dalmatia, and Carl Shaffer of Mifflinville were appointed.

"I salute these five outstanding Pennsylvanians who have worked tirelessly both in hands-on family farming and as advocates for the needs of thousands of other Pennsylvania farmers," said Senator Wofford. "They have the commitment, energy, and the experience to adapt and implement federal agriculture programs to best serve our local farming families and our state's number one industry."

John Bertovich is a full-time dairy farmer. He is a member and former chairman of the Washington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Robert Beyer was born and raised on a dairy farm and now owns one of his own. A Forest Hills School Director for the past 17 years, Beyer is currently serving as the body's president.

Larry Kehl is the president and treasurer of Kehl, Bros., Inc., a dairy farm. He is vice president of the Berks County Farmers' Association.

Patricia Martz is a former president and secretary of the Progressive Agriculture Organization's board of directors. From 1989-1991, Martz served as the legislative director and bookkeeper for the Pennsylvania Farmer's Union in Harrisburg.

The owner and operator of a vegetable and crop farm, Carl Shaffer is president of the Columbia County Farmers' Association.

The state committee members were appointed by Secretary Espy to advise Pennsylvania's executive director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, William Baumgartner, and to implement farm programs regionally.

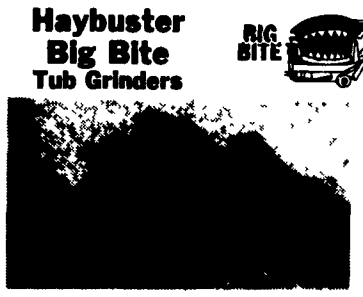
Stretch Your Hay

Haybuster Big Bite Tub Grinders



Grind loose hay, bales, all feed grains, cob or shelled corn, including high moisture corn. High capacity tub gobbles up big bales at the rate of one per minute or up to 35 tons of loose hay every hour

Haybuster Big Bale Buster

One man operation. Bale Buster picks up bales out in the field or in the feed yard. It shreds bales in an easy-to feed windrow as you move along with the tractor. No crowding by cattle so less feed is wasted by trampling

Grinding Your Hay:

- Increases feed value of poor quality hay
- Allows mixing with feed grain
- Eliminates waste of valuable hay

Grinding poor quality hay and grain is a sensible alternative to making your feed dollar go farther. Compare Haybuster. You get more grinder for your dollar.

The new Case International Model 8309 disc mower conditioner, which cuts to a width of 9 feet 2 inches, incorporates the latest refinements in disc cutterbed technology for optimum reliability.

M.M. Weaver & Sons, Inc., will be demonstrating the Claas Jaguar 695 self-propelled forage harvester July 15 and 16 at 1000 East Oregon Road in Lititz. The Claas Jaguar 695 is depicted above. Six-row folding cornhead for the self-propelled harvester is depicted in the inset.

Case Offers 9-Foot Disc Mower Conditioner

RACINE, Wis. — Case is now shipping the first of its new 8309 disc mower conditioners. The Case International Model 8309, which cuts to a width of 9 feet 2 inches, incorporates the latest refinements in cutterbed technology.

The rugged disc-type cutterbar on the 8309 enables operators to cut a wider variety of crops than conventional sickle-bar mower conditioners. "They can cut faster," said Dave Hess, Case product manager-hay and forage. "And they can cut in the toughest field conditions." The result is increased productivity.

"The 8309 uses the latest design technology to ensure reliability," said Hess. He explained that advancements in the modular spur gear cutterbed on the 8309 include wider gear teeth and larger idler gear bearings than used on competitive units, for dependability and load-carrying capability, and a higher-grade finish on the gear teeth to minimize cutterbed contamination and reduce noise.

Six heat-treated oval discs, each with two reversible knives, operate at 2600 rpm for a knife-tip speed of 184 mph. Replaceable skid shoes and rock guards are standard. Outside discs include an anti-wrap cage and crop slinger disc to improve crop flow and reduce recutting.

The header of the 8309 is suspended from the main frame. Adjustable vertical and radial flotation permits the header to float freely for uniform cutting with minimal scalping. The 8309 can cut closer to the ground and, therefore, more cleanly than machines with shaft-type cutterbars. In situations where field conditions require an even more aggressive cut, header tilt is manually adjustable.

Another productivity feature Hess identified was standard, automatic roll separation to power potential plugs through on-the-go without the need to stop or slow down operation. "This non-stop capability is not available in competitive designs," he said. The 8309 is available with a choice of rubber-on-steel or Ticor (rubber-on-rubber) conditioning rolls.

Swath baffles and windrow forming shields are fully adjustable to let the operator lay down swaths or windrows sized to preference. Operators can also choose from three rear-hood positions for optimum control of windrow shape.

Optional hydraulic tongue positioning is convenient for steering around obstacles and for easy switching to transport position. Fold-up side curtains provide a transport width of just 9 feet 9 inches.

The 8309 works most efficiently with tractors of at least 70 horsepower. Farmers can choose from a mechanical driveline in 540 or 1000 rpm PTO. The constant-velocity PTO, combined with slip and overrunning clutches, results in smooth operation, overload protection and dependability.

"The key feature of this machine is dependable, efficient production," said Hess. "Improvements in cutterbed technology mean that farmers who won sickle-bar machines can move up to a new Case International disc mower conditioner with confidence that it till be both reliable and more productive than conventional units."

Claas Forage Harvester At Demo Day

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — M.M. Weaver & Sons, Inc. is hosting demonstration days, July 15 and 16, at 1000 East Oregon Road in Lititz, to introduce the new Claas Jaguar 695 self-propelled forage harvester.

Complimentary lunch and discussion of the Jaguar's features and benefits with machine walk around and field demonstrations are included in each day. Field demonstrations are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days.

For location of the demonstration days, follow Route 222 to Oregon Exit. Take Route 272 North one mile. Turn left and take 722 West for two miles to 1000 East Oregon Road, located directly across from Landis homes on the corner of East Oregon Road and John Landis Road.

Ervin Weaver, owner of M.M. Weaver & Sons; Kurt Albicker, German harvesting specialist from Claas OHG, Harsewinkel, Germany (Claas corporate headquarters worldwide; and Claas representatives from Columbus, IN, will be conducting the demonstrations and will be available for any questions.

For more information, contact M.M. Weaver & Sons, Inc., 169 North Groffdale Road, Leola, PA 17540, (717) 656-2321.

Stein Attends Swine Management School

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa — Vigortone Area Sales Manager Keith Stein of Mill Hall recently attended a special Vigortone Swine Production Management School.

The three-day school was held in the main office of Vigortone Ag Products at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, with participants from across the United States.

Vigortone veterinarians, nutritionists, and product managers conducted the intensive training sessions. Stein learned about swine nutrition, herd health, management, and the proper use of premix and mineral products.

According to Vigortone Training Manager Steve Funke, the school gave select Vigortone area sales managers broad training in the area of swine production.

"Vigortone provided this school to give its area sales managers the latest technical information," said Funke. "This helps our feed sales professionals work with producers in a consultative role to maximize production, minimize feed costs, and solve swine production problems."

Beef Evaluation Workshop Set

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — To provide a forum for understanding beef cattle grading, Penn State Cooperative Extension, Hoechst-Roussel, Franklin Labs, Merck Ag. Vet, UpJohn and the Pennsylvania Beef Council are conducting a workshop July 21-23 utilizing locally fed cattle in both live and carcass evaluation.

All participants, along with a panel of industry experts, will estimate carcass traits for a variety of cattle during the live evaluation. These estimates will be compared to ultrasound scans and actual carcass measurements. Beef quality assurance tips will also be discussed during the workshop's two sessions. Refreshments will be provided.

Following is the schedule of events:

LIVE EVALUATION

7 p.m., Wednesday, July 21
New Holland Sales Stables,

More Than 1,100 Participate In State FFA Contests

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — From June 15-17, more than 1,100 FFA members from across Pennsylvania competed at Penn State University for the 64th State Activities Week/Summer Convention.

Members competed in various events, which included 26 different contests, state chorus, chapter delegate, and state officer candidate.

The evening sessions included speakers Marty Coates and Andy Rill, recognition of FFA Foundation sponsors, proficiency winners, chapter awards, state officer parents, and a salute to the FFA members by the state officer team. Thursday morning was the announcement of 1993-1994 state officer team and contest winners.

Ag Letter Builds On Farm Construction

READING (Berks Co.) — Before a farm family builds a new hog house, dairy barn or egg-laying facility, the first question they have to ask themselves is, "Will this new building pay for itself?"

And sometimes, even before they ask themselves that question, they have to ask, "Do we really want to raise hogs or chickens or produce more milk?"

The June issue of Meridian Bank's Ag Letter can't answer the second question, but it gives its readers guidance on the first. Ernest Klinger, a dairyman and hog producer from Klingerstown in Schuylkill County, explained the decision-making process he went through before erecting a building to hold 2,000 market hogs.

The new building is part of a long-range business plan to boost farm earnings with a guaranteed source of income. Klinger owns the building, but a feed company owns the hogs and pays Klinger to raise them to market weight.

With the assurance of enough income to pay for the building and with something left over to pay for family labor, Klinger contacted Blaine Fessler, his Meridian ag lender, about financing, then talked to a number of builders.

Even though he felt he had the knowledge to handle construction details, Klinger hired a general contractor because his own busy schedule didn't leave enough hours to handle the complicated job of overseeing a major project.

The new hog house has been in operation less than a year, and is working out well, Klinger said.

In another Ag Letter article, Dan McFarland talked about techniques farmers can use to narrow their field of choices when they begin a construction project. McFarland is a Penn State ag engineering extension specialist who covers five counties from his office in York. "Farmers need to know where they are, where they want to be, and how quickly they want to get there," McFarland told Meridian ag lender Wayne Steinour.

McFarland and other extension agents can provide brochures and insight into general construction issues, but one of the best ways for a farmer to find out what's best for him is to tour other farms, McFarland said.

Meridian Bank's Ag Letter is mailed three times a year to farmers and agribusinesses in Meridian's service area. For a free copy of the latest issue, write to Meridian Bank, Ag Lending Department, SQ0830, P.O. Box 1102, Reading, PA 19603-1102, (800) 222-2150.

Md. Swine Sold To Virgin Islands

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker has announced the sale of Maryland swine to the Virgin Islands. The order of 12 swine is to be shipped within the next two weeks.

"During the last couple of years we have made many inroads into the Caribbean market for Maryland agriculture. This will be the first of a number of sales we hope to make in the Caribbean for swine breeding stock," Walker said.

"The Virgin Island farmers have begun a serious program ot upgrading the quality of their swine herds. They will be looking closely at the quality of this shipment. If they like what they see, they will want more. I understand there are at least 15 more farmers in the Virgin Islands interested in importing pigs from Maryland," said Walker.

"This latest sale is part of Gov. William Donald Schaefer's effort to sell Maryland products all around the world. We can now add swine to the livestock, bull semen, Christmas trees and processed foods we already sell in the Caribbean and Latin America," Walker said.

For more information on the sale of these swine to the Virgin Islands, contact the Maryland Department of Agriculture, International Marketing Services, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, Md. 21401, Telephone (410) 841-5770.

Auto-Reset System, Rear Disc Spacing Provide Uniform Tillage

BRILLION, Wis. — Working up compacted fields or fields with heavy residue is easier and more efficient with Brillion's improved Landcommander. A new, auto-reset system helps keep shanks in the ground, providing more uniform tillage.

"The Landcommander is the ideal tool for spring or fall tillage, giving users total command over problems of compaction, soil erosion, residue management and rough fields," said Michael Irish, Brillion's national sales manager. "The new auto-reset system helps keep the shanks securely in the soil 8 to 20 inches for non-stop farming and uniform, deeper tillage.

"Unique to the Landcommander is the rear disc gang," said Irish. "This gang helps control the amount of residue on the surface to meet conservation compliance requirements. New 7.5-, 9-, or 15-inch spacing of the discs match a variety of tillage practices and ground conditions. Close spacing in spring, for example, helps create a firm, level seedbed. The disc gang can also be raised to leave residue on the surface and reduce soil erosion."

Irish says the front disc gang of the Landcommander features adjustable working depths and cutting angles. The discs, spaced 15 inches apart, cut through the residue and allow trash to flow through the machine. A 39-inch underframe clearance allows the Landcommander to work heavy residue without plugging.

The Landcommander is available in 18 models with three to nine shank models and 24- to 30-inch spacings.

For more information, contact your local Brillion dealer or write Brillion Iron Works, Inc., Brillion, WI 54110, (414) 756-2121.

PBI/Glide-Thru was designed from the cow's perspective. Cows enter, move into position, and exit quickly and safely due to a distinctive fadeaway splash shield. Shoulder stops give each cow a stopping point for proper placement, and power-air operation guarantees precise indexing.

Herringbone Parlors Offer Cow Comfort

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Successful parlor designs must meet the needs of two demanding groups — cows and the people who milk them. That's exactly what Universal Dairy Equipment does with its new PBI/Glide-Thru™ herringbone stalls.

Dairy farmers who have milked in herringbone parlors in the past are familiar with the bumps and bruises cows' hips get as they jostle into position. That rarely happens with the PBI/Glide-Thru, because it was designed from the cow's perspective. Cows enter, move into position, and exit quickly and safely due to a distinctive fadeaway splash shield. Shoulder stops give each a cow a stopping point for proper placement, and power-air operation guarantees precise indexing.

Dairy farmers like the design's efficient use of space, rugged construction, and convenient operation. The PBI/Glide-Thru is built with the best materials and construction techniques available. All parts that touch the cows are made of stainless steel, with galvanized steel uprights. This design incorporates everything a dairy farmer needs to run a smooth, successful operation, including a stainless steel brisket panel, splash shields, and overhead equipment panel.

Engineers designed the PBI/Glide-Thru for easy operation. From the moment cows enter until they exit the emphasis is on fast, convenient milking. The rear of the stall is suspended for full view of the udder and operator safety. Indexing is fast and effective. And dairy farmers can choose standard exit or full rapid exit for unequaled speed in moving cows in and out.

Agriculture Needs To Remain Vigilant

WASHINGTON, D.C. — While the budget bill being considered by the Senate is a victory for agriculture, farmers and their representataives must remain active and vigilant during the decisive conference committee action on the bill.

"Agriculture won an important victory in round two of the budget debate," said TFI President Gary D. Myers. "The deletion of the BTU tax and the barge tax from the Senate bill makes it a fairer bill for agriculture than the House version."

Myers said agricultural interests were successful in the Senate because virtually all of the diverse ag groups were able to agree on a goal and strategy and work together. Twenty-three agriculture organizations signed a letter to Finance Committee Chairman Patrick Moynihan opposing the BTU and barge taxes.

However, said Myers, the ultimate fate of those onerous taxes resides with the House-Senate conference committee. He called on farmers and other ag interests to continue to write and call congressional offices in opposition to the anti-agriculture taxes.

He also pointed out that the same alliance of 23 agricultural organizations is sending a letter asking the conference chairmen to omit the BTU and barge taxes from the bill.

Myers said all agricultural interests should be wary and apply the "duck test" (if it looks like a duck and quacks like a duck, it must be a duck) to any taxes agreed to in conference.

"The conference committee could adopt the BTU tax call it something else in the absence of continued voices from home telling elected officials about the negative economic impact of these taxes. If it looks like a BTU tax, whatever they call it, it's bad for agriculture."

Nutrient Management Planners Graduate

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — PARS, Inc., an Elizabethtown distributor of fertilizers and seed, announces three recent graduates from the Nutrient Management Planner Seminar held in February at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center.

The three newly certified nutrient management planners are Glenn Wyble, a graduate of Delaware Valley College, who has worked for PARS for 15 years as a district manager in the Delaware Valley and New Jersey; Dale Good, a dairy farmer from Lebanon County who is also a part-time salesman for PARS; and Devon O. Howe, director of sales/marketing for PARS, and a graduate from West Virginia University's School of Agriculture and Forestry.

According to the policies established by the USDA, each of these men are on a preliminary approval list. Each must complete five nutrient management plans in order to become "fully approved." Each of these five plans will be reviewed by the Pequea-Mill Creek Office and must be submitted within one year.

Devon O. Howe

Glenn Wyble

"We feel that Nutrient Management Planning is a real opportunity for us to help farmers understand the interrelationships of all nutrient sources on their farms. This would include nutrients from manures, legumes, and commercial fertilizers. Many growers don't realize that they can sometimes reduce inputs without sacrificing yield. With a little assistance, we can show them how to 'push a pencil' and save input costs and time," said Devon O. Howe, director of sales/marketing.

He said, "The nutrient management bill that recently passed has really heightened the awareness for the need to examine nutrient inputs. We're seeing the impact already — with an increased interest in our programs. We market concentrated liquid fertilizers which are more efficient to use, and therefore require less volume of nutrients. In addition, our fertilizers can be put right in the row, or foliar applied, which means that the plant can utilize more of the material and there is a lower possibility of nutrient leaching. We're committed to finding the latest fertilizer materials which are environmentally sensitive."

Scours Cause Great Loss Of Calves

HUNTINGDON (Huntingdon Co.) — Diarrhea (scours) can be caused by any number of microorganisms to which a calf is exposed and becomes susceptible. Several areas in calf care are important in preventing scours, including housing, a proper nutritional program, and supportive therapy.

Feeding programs must be monitored beginning at birth. Calves that are allowed to suckle on their own often don't get enough colostrum during the first two hours. Calves should receive about one gallon of colostrum (10 to 15 percent of their body weight) during the first 12 hours of life. Fresh, high quality colostrum should be fed to calves.

Colostrum quality can be measured with a hygrometer. Older cows generally produce a higher quality colostrum than first-calf heifers. Extra colostrum from older cows can be frozen, allowing a ready supply. For the first week, calves should only receive a milk-based diet. After that, calves can be offered a creep feed in increasing amounts as they grow. At four weeks, calves can be weaned to a grower ration.

Hygiene of feeding equipment is as important as what calves are fed. Microorganisms can be spread among calves when the same feeding equipment is used to feed more than one calf. Each calf should be fed with a clean, sanitized nipple and bucket.

Calves that are allowed contact with other calves are more prone to scouring problems. Hutches should be placed to avoid nose-to-nose contact. When calves are weaned, hutches should be cleaned are allowed to sit empty for several weeks.

BLUE MOUNTAIN STRUCTURES

BROGUE, PENNSYLVANIA 17309

Best in the Country

For rough duty, rougher weather: Rugged, practical, cost-efficient Centurydrain™ roofing and siding.

Centurydrain is the roofing and siding to use for a strong, tight structure that'll carry you through the years of heavy snows, driving rain, and ripping winds.

Wheeling Centurydrain is pure practicality: full-hard, high tensile steel; galvanized for toughness, durability, and rust resistance; and with an exclusive drain channel for a dry, snug interior.

Handsome appearance, too: bold shadow lines and a choice of rich, baked-on colors. The best in the country is right here. Stop by.

BREWEX - For Use In Dairy Feeds

BREWEX is used extensively in complete dairy formulations to contribute utilizable energy. It is a price/performance value when used in dry feeds, liquid feeds and on-farm mixes.

MIX WITH DRY FEEDS: BREWEX is found in commercial pelleted rations for dairy, hogs and poultry as an energy source to replace corn. BREWEX replaces corn on a pound for pound dry basis and provides for improved pellet durability, reduced mineral segregation, dust control and improved palatability in dairy rations.

ON-FARM MIXING

A commercial Jersey dairy farm, having over ten years of experience in feeding BREWEX to partially replace corn finds that

- BREWEX replaced 5% to 10% corn/day
- BREWEX improves butterfat about 0.1%
- BREWEX mixed with forage reduces mortality due to displaced abomasum
- BREWEX helps cattle to stay on feeds

HIGH TENSILE FENCE...THE FARMER'S BEST INVESTMENT

The Beaver Fence Systems are tops! We installed 1 mile of their fence on our farm on Feb. 3, 1993, full size post, 3-1/2 feet deep, excellent braces. We used 5 strand (2 elec.) high tensil, all in place in just 8-1/2 hours! The fence is as straight as an arrow-excellent equipment-very efficient work!

"I am a hard man to convince, but after I saw how Beaver built the fence, I'm ready to put my digging iron away," says David W. Brubaker of Honey Grove Acres, RD1, Box 629 Honey Grove, PA 17035

Perfect Balance™

PERFECT BALANCE is the original extruded Ratite Feed. We produce a separate ration for the Ostrich and Emu from the finest quality ingredients. Compare our nutrient values with any other.

ZINPRO™ zinc methionine complexes are now included in PERFECT BALANCE™ Ratite Feeds. Sodium Bicarbonate is also incorporated in our feed lines. Experience has proven the buffering effect of soda is very effective in reducing stress and maintaining cell integrity.

Have you tried toasted grains?

Consider these advantages over traditional roasting methods:

- Consistent by-pass proteins and low moisture levels
- Improved energy density of your rations.
- Excellent quality control
- Exchange programs with feed mills.
- Economical storage, rolling and grinding available.
- We also buy corn and soybeans

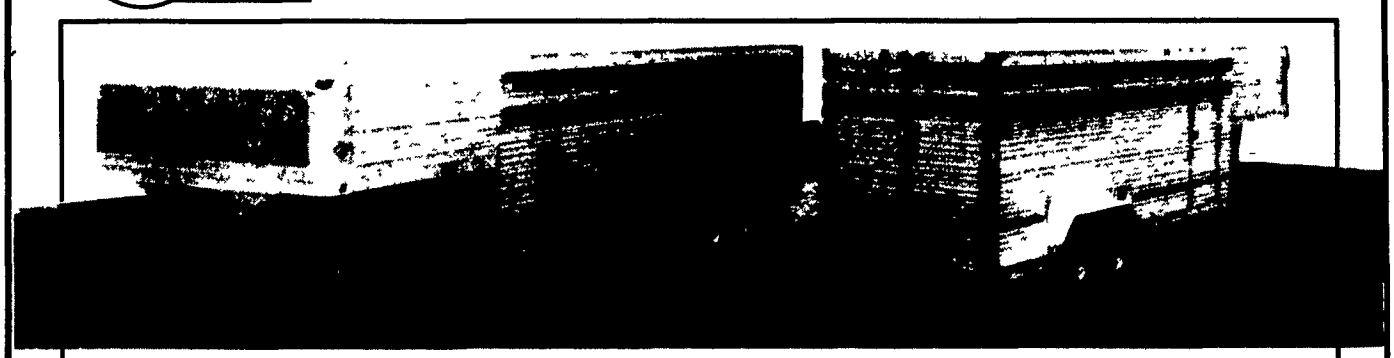
EBY Quality Specs Don't Cost - They Pay!



HERE'S WHY YOU CAN'T AFFORD ANYTHING LESS.

Eby livestock gooseneck trailers make top quality affordable. Both Wrangler and Ruff Neck models feature premium quality components and all-aluminum construction for greater payload efficiency, minimum maintenance and highest resale value.

The economical Wrangler series offers rugged design in lengths from 12' to 24', with a choice of 4 heights. The work horse Ruff Neck series is available in lengths from 20' to 32' and three standard widths, with a full range of custom options (including stainless steel front end).

These trailers are engineered for efficient operation and dependable service. So whatever your agri-transportation needs, Eby equipment satisfies the demands of your business.

Animal Breeders To Present Awards

COLUMBIA, Mo. — The National Association of Animal Breeders (NAAB) announces the recipients of the 1993 Distinguished Service, Member Director, Pioneer, and Research awards. These awards will be presented during the 47th NAAB Annual Convention August 11-13 in Wisconsin Dells, Wis.

Distinguished Service Award

George A. Miller, dairy sire analyst, Select Sires, Plain City, Ohio, is this year's recipient of the NAAB Distinguished Service Award.

Miller has been associated with dairy cattle his entire life. He is a member of the Charles A. Hope Family, of Purcellville, Va., owners of Round Oak Farm. He attended Virginia Polytechnic Institute, receiving his bachelor's in dairy husbandry in 1952. Two years later, he returned to VPI as herdsman and earned a master's in dairy science.

Miller's career in the AI industry began in 1956 with Virginia Artificial Breeders Association, now Virginia/North Carolina/ Select Sires. The Virginia organization, as a result of his originality and resourcefulness, was among the first to adopt a direct herd, do-it-yourself breeding program, and young sire proving and sampling program.

The most far-reaching and lasting impact of George Miller's contribution to the AI industry is the direct result of his "roots" at Round Oak Farm. George's experienced eye and expert advice caused a bull calf named "Round Oak Rag Apple Elevation" to be produced, which later found its way to Select Sires.

In 1973, George Miller was promoted to director of marketing and development at Select Sires. Here he continued his successful pattern of recruiting, hiring, and developing the talents of high caliber people. Under Miller's leadership, the volume of semen marketed by his organization increased threefold. Miller served with distinction for eight years on the NAAB International Marketing Committee. He was instrumental in arranging a distributorship agreement with World-Wide Sires for international marketing, and helped open up the Latin American market.

Although retired as director of marketing and development, Miller continues to serve the industry as Select Sires' dairy sire analyst for Virginia and West Virginia. He also serves as a consultant to enhance the marketing program in Canada.

NAAB Member Director Award

David C. Slusser possesses those special inspirational skills that help build a solid and unified team, and a progressive attitude to accomplish optimum performance.

He attended Penn State University and was graduated in 1965 with a bachelor's in dairy science. While at Penn State he was employed by the Penn State dairy research farm, and was also football manager for the Penn State Nittany Lions.

In 1970, Slusser purchased Orange Bucket Farm, a 270-acre farm in Crawford County with 100 head of registered Holsteins. The rolling herd average is currently about 21,000 pounds of milk. Here he resides with his wife, Kaye, and his two children, Lee and Dana. Dave Slusser is immediate past president of Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, a member of the Federated Genetics Council, a former member of the National Council of Dairy Cattle Breeding, and was chairman of the 1983 State Holstein Convention.

Dave has taught computer seminars for regional farmers, a financial workshop for bankers, and careers in agriculture for high school students. The family hosts foreign exchange students as well as foreign visitors that stay on the farm.

He served Atlantic Breeders Cooperative on their board of directors from 1973 to 1992 and has provided unequaled assistance to both the board and management. Slusser also served on the NAAB board of directors from 1984-1990.

Pioneer Awards

Dr. W.H. "Hank" Dreher was born in Oregon, Wis., on August 25, 1917. He attended Iowa State University, receiving a degree in veterinary medicine in 1940.

After a short return to a veterinary practice in Oregon, he joined Tri-County Breeders at Wittenberg, Wisc. Tri-County later became Badger Breeders, merging with Consolidated Breeders to form Midwest Breeders in 1967. Throughout these transitions, Dreher continued his position as production manager.

Dreher was a pioneer in applying research to the production and distribution of semen. He was instrumental in developing semen collection, extension, and preservation methods to obtain optimum fertility, and also ensure that semen was disease-free. He worked on the early adoption of university research on buffers and extenders and conducted extensive in-house research on semen extenders. Dreher collaborated with Tanabe and Cassida on repeat breeding cows and early embryonic death. He also worked with University of Wisconsin researchers on leukosis transmission in bulls to determine whether or not the leukosis virus was transmittable through semen.

In addition to the collection and processing of semen, Dreher trained the first non-veterinarian AI technicians. At a later point, he was instrumental in developing a swine AI trial that was able to achieve good litter size and conception rates. In the 1960s, he worked closely with a Mexican firm to advance a semen collection and processing program for them.

When frozen semen became a reality, Dreher looked for and found a more efficient tool than the ampule for inseminating. His method was to freeze extended semen directly in the pipette. Its application was simply to withdraw from the liquid nitrogen, thaw in air, add a pipette extension, and inseminate the cow. Tagged as the "Magic Wand," it was used until the conversion to straws in the 1970s.

Quality control was of paramount importance to Dreher. He worked with other staff members to develop a nonreturn rate reporting system to estimate conception rates. He also supported further research to determine the accuracy of nonreturn rates to actual pregnancies.

As markets for U.S. germ plasm opened throughout the world, Dreher was instrumental in early health testing work in compliance with foreign regulations. He traveled worldwide marketing the concept of health and genetic quality of U.S. semen.

Dreher was among the founders of NAAB technical committees that supported research and shared in the findings. His most prominent activity was as a member of both the NAAB sire health and research committees. He also maintained advantageous contacts with the veterinary profession through membership in American, Wisconsin, and Northeast Wisconsin Veterinary Medical Associations.

Harry A. Herman was born in North Carolina in 1905, and at the age of five moved with his family to Hannibal, Missouri. He later enrolled at the University of Missouri, where he earned his bachelor's in agriculture, and master's and doctorate degrees, and was elected to Sigma XI. He also did graduate work for a period of time at the University of Wisconsin.

For nearly 25 years he served as a teacher, researcher, and lecturer in dairy cattle breeding, artificial insemination, and herd management.

In July 1953, when the National Association of Animal Breeders was in its infancy, Herman was appointed as the first executive secretary, and the national NAAB office was established in Columbia, Mo. During his tenure, the AI program expanded from 40 to 97 mostly cooperative members with one or more AI organizations in nearly every state. At the same time, many organizations in Canada and other countries became associate members.

As frozen semen, semen marketing, and young sire proving programs came into the picture, the consolidation and mergers of the different organizations began. Herman retired in September, 1972. He had passed the established retirement age by more than two years, and was given the title of NAAB executive secretary emeritus.

Old Guard Opens New Claims Office

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Old Guard Insurance Group held an open house on Friday, May 21, to mark the official opening of its new claims office. The facility is located at 147 West Airport Road in the Flyway Business Park, Lititz.

David E. Hosler, CPCU, president and chief executive officer of the Lancaster-based property and casualty insurance firm, cities continued growth, increasing regulatory requirements, and service to policyholders for the company's expansion into the 24,000 square foot facility.

"Even through moving Old Guard's claims operations to the Airport Road location places it one mile from the front door of our head office on Lititz Pike, the availability of this existing building allows us to increase service to policyholders immediately," Hosler said. "Otherwise, a major construction project would have been needed at the head office.

"We take seriously our heritage as a 'mutual' insurance company, meaning that our policyholders are owners, they are the boss," Hosler said. "The claims department now has a facility with which it can grow and adapt to changing needs of our customers and their insurance claims."

Old Guard purchased the building from Lebanon Valley National Bank in September 1992. Wickersham Construction and Engineering Inc. of Lancaster began renovations on the building immediately. The 30-employee claims department began operating out of the facility on December 14, 1992.

Animal Breeders

the state and national level, Herman has made many contributions to animal research, authoring more than 50 bulletins and more than 150 scientific papers. He is author or co-author of three textbooks. He served for many years as chairman of the research committee of the Purebred Dairy Cattle Association and assisted in developing short courses for training technicians beginning in 1941. He also organized and taught one of the first college-level courses in AI in the United States.

Throughout the years, Herman has received many honors and recognitions, which include the Borden Award in dairy production in 1956, Gama Sigma Delta in 1968, Dairy Expo Man of the year 1973, Hall of Honors Leadership Award-Missouri 1973, Distinguished Service Award of American Guernsey Cattle Club in 1977, and honorary doctor of science, University of Missouri-Columbia, in 1988. He has judged dairy and dual purpose cattle at more than 30 state fairs and regional shows and was an approved judge for all milk breeds. He wrote the Artificial Breeding Column for Hoard's Dairyman for more than 25 years and is a contributor to other farm papers.

NAAB Research Award

If you look for reasons why the U.S. has superior dairy genetics, contributions of Dr. Duane Norman's research quickly come to the forefront.

Norman's major contribution was the formulation and implementation of the modified contemporary comparison (MCC). The MCC procedures were used by USDA for sire evaluation from 1974 to 1989. It was very effective at accurately ranking sires, yet simple enough to be applied to the large database of U.S. dairy records. The MCC's effectiveness allowed the U.S. to emerge as a world superpower in dairy genetics.

Although the MCC is no longer used, many of its features pioneered by Dr. Norman are still included as part of today's animal model procedures. These items include use of all location records, including a sire-by-herd interaction effect and calculating dollar value indexes. While the advantages of these are clear and are taken for granted in the U.S. these features are not used or have been incorporated only recently in other leading dairy countries.

Norman's research played a key role in the industry adopting a uniform linear type trait system. This included development of a system for calculating genetic evaluations for these traits and laying the groundwork to determine the value of these traits in predicting lifetime profitability. He also represented the U.S. on FAO's Technical Advisory Committee for "Testing of Different Strains of Friesian Cattle in Poland."

Norman currently serves as the supervisory research geneticist at AIPL. Recently, he coordinated acquisition of an in-house computer. This has allowed AIPL to continue their level of research without the need for greatly increased funding.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

How the years do roll by! It is a long time ago since I celebrated July 4th by playing with a toy gun and using sparklers at night. When it was quite late and dark, we children sat on our balcony and could watch the fireworks at Lititz about eight miles away.

And, when your own children reach 40 years of age, you know that you must be quite a bit older. Although, as long as a younger one is still in her twenties, you can still feel sprightly. One minute everything is okay and the next minute it might not be. That is what happened to me.

I was on my way down a slope to pick hull peas when my knee developed a problem — a big problem. My husband was nearby and said he'd get the wheelbarrow to get me to the car. Now wouldn't that have been a sight! Instead, I asked him to hunt for some crutches on the attic but all that he could find was two canes. They worked all right.

After many, many X-rays it was decided that I would probably heal with some physical therapy. So now I have exercises to do every day.

My daughter drove from New Jersey with her young son to help do the work one weekend. She picked and froze a lot of peas and strawberries. I had already picked more than 100 boxes by myself. At least I could sit and prepare them for freezing.

When our grandson, who is almost two years old, was sent to the bathroom for a Kleenex, he brought instead some toilet paper. But horrors, it was still attached to the roll and had stretched the length of the house plus some. That gave me a good laugh.

Indiana-Armstrong Unite To Crown Dairy Princess

HOME (Indiana Co.) — The Indiana-Armstrong Dairy Princess Pageant was held June 11 at Rocky Glen. Todd Marino from Indiana radio station WDAD was master of ceremonies.

Anna Calhoun, daughter of Bill and Betty Calhoun from Dayton was chosen Indiana-Armstrong Dairy Princess. Anna is a student at Dayton Jr.-Sr. High School.

Nancy Trimble, daughter of Thomas and Faye Trimble, Indiana RD#3, was chosen alternate Dairy Princess. Nancy is attending IUP.

Judges for the pageant were Vonda Minner from Mercer County, Paul Winklosky from Westmoreland County, and Charles Ruslavage from Clarion County.

Assisting in promotional activities are the following dairy maids and ambassadors: Timothy Beatty, Jason Beatty, Jason Cribbs, Cindy Hartman, Colleen Ishman, Alyssa Kensinger, Erin Leach, Julie Lockhart, Jennifer McMillen, Annah Neal, Amy Trimble, and Tammy Trimble. The boys and girls will work with the Dairy Princess and Alternate Princess in doing promotions of the dairy industry in Indiana-Armstrong counties.

An ice cream social followed the pageant. The next big promotion will be held July 24 when a large ice cream sundae will be built at Indiana Mall.

OPERATOR FRIENDLY

The AGCO Allis 6600 Series row crop tractors are engineered to put you comfortably in control. In addition to a comfortable cab or a platform and ROPS, you get low maintenance, low operating costs and a 1-year/1,000-hour warranty.

- Trouble-free, air- and oil-cooled engine. The 6600 Series tractors are equipped with low maintenance 4-cylinder, air- and oil-cooled diesel engines. The 6670 provides 63 PTO hp and the 6680 73 PTO hp, both with 22% torque rise. The 6690 has a turbocharged 81 PTO hp engine that delivers a 28% torque rise, as well as the best fuel economy in its class.
- Many speed choices. The synchropower transmission with a separate synchro-reverser offers 12 forward and 12 reverse speeds, planetary final drive and a self-adjusting, hydraulically actuated clutch. An optional creeper transmission provides 16 forward and 16 reverse speeds, a dual speed option has 24 forward and 12 reverse and a power Hi-Lo transmission provides 30 forward and 30 reverse speeds. All tractor models are available as either 2WD or AWD.
- PTO power and versatility. The independent PTO operates at 540/1,000 rpm with 6- and 21-spline shafts and has a hydraulically-actuated wet PTO clutch. The Category II/I 3-point hitch has a convenient rear remote control and is equipped with telescopic stabilizers. Optional telescopic lower links are also available.
- Quality performance and comfort. The 6600 Series tractors ride on premium Goodyear® radial tires. They have hydrostatic power steering, a tilt telescopic steering wheel, hydraulically actuated wet disc brakes and a mechanically actuated differential lock. AWD models have four-wheel brakes for 40% better braking and an operator-controlled front differential lock for tighter turns. All operated from the comfort of the enclosed cab.

To experience the user-friendliness of the 6600 Series tractors, or any of the "orange" line of AGCO Allis tractors ranging from 40 to 128 PTO hp, stop by or call us soon.

case IH made the BEST COMBINE BETTER!

The ROTOR is still the HEART of the AXIAL-FLOW COMBINE but check out these changes in the NEW MODELS...

- MORE HORSEPOWER...
  The 1644 has more engine HP than the model 1460 manufactured up to 1985... and the 1666 has more engine HP than the model 1480 manufactured up to 1985...

MODEL	HORSEPOWER
1644	- 180
1666	- 215
1688	- 260

- LONGER SIEVES...
  Both the chaffer and shoe sieves are 13" longer than previous models increasing the cleaning area by 25.9%...

- CROSS FLOW FAN...
  Patented chevron design moves air evenly over the entire sieve surface giving excellent grain quality in all kinds of crops...

- FIELD TRACKER...
  Permits the header to follow ground contours, independent of the combine by automatically tilting from side to side in response to terrain changes...

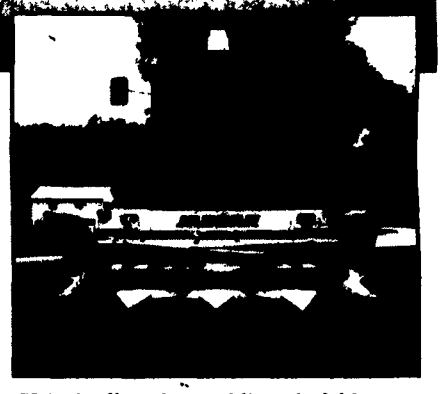
The unique cutting cylinder is the heart of the Jaguar 695.



CLAAS offers the world's only folding 6-row corn head. It also fits John Deere and New Holland forage harvesters.

CLAAS of America proudly introduces the world's largest selling forage harvester: the CLAAS® Jaguar 695. Tested and proven worldwide, the Jaguar possesses power and speed, while offering reliability, performance and advanced technology unmatched by the competition.

The heart of the Jaguar is CLAAS's 24-knife, precision engineered cutting cylinder that gives a clean, superior chop. The angled knives draw the crop toward the center, producing a smooth, steady flow through to the discharge chute. The knives' "scissors action chop" ensures a cleaner cut. And all of this is done with minimal power requirements.

An automatic electrohydraulic knife sharpener is standard. The shearbar is easily accessible and quickly adjusted.

CLAAS's field-proven, 4-trac mechanical rear wheel drive carries the Jaguar efficiently through any field condition. This optional 4-trac four wheel drive unit can be engaged on-the-go.

The full visibility cab is air conditioned, heated and soundproofed for operator comfort. A multi-function control lever puts control of all harvesting functions at the operator's fingertips. The world renowned Mercedes 354 hp V8 diesel engine means reliability and economical operation.

An optional corn cracker maximizes feed quality by ensuring a fully digestible harvest. Independent studies show CLAAS's unbeatable corn cracker is nearly 100% effective.

Pickup attachments from 7´ to 14´ are available.

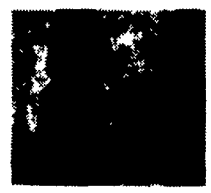
WARNING! DETERIORATING CONCRETE FROM CORN JUICE!

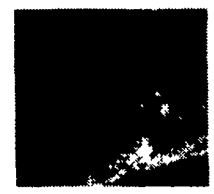
It's important that you know your silo needs maintenance. Your silo will not fall when its empty. Please check your silo for damage or check your insurance policy!

A Reminder: Check The Bottom Of Your Silo Where Using A Plastic Liner. Your Juice May Be Causing Deterioration Faster With A Liner On The Bottom.

RESURFACES INTERIORS:
- Coats the silo's interior
- Protects feed in storage
- Durable, tough, acid-resistant
- Increases useful life
- Economical



Before The silo's interior with plaster damaged and stave exposed



After . The surface is reconditioned, and a new, thick, tough surface will protect stored feed.

RUFF-TUFF POLY SILO LINERS for Upright Silos

Now With New Expansion Ring For Easy Installation

If Your Silo Needs New Life...

Try Our Poly Silo Liners

-THE ADVANTAGE OF A POLY LINER-

- Spoilage is reduced around doors.
- Feed is exposed to less oxygen - better fermentation.
- Allows storage of high moisture grains or dry grains in a conventional silo.
- Delays repair or replacement of corroded silos.
- Prevents corrosive acids from contacting silo wall - extends silo life.
- Quick installation.
- Effectively seals silos from air and weather.

The Liners Are Manufactured To Fit Most Standard Diameter Silos.

B.T.U.

"BUY THIS UNIT", or one like it to store your high-moisture shelled corn and save a lot of energy. With the cool spring and slow start for a lot of corn fields, this may be another harvest season coming up when the corn dries slowly...

20x72' About 17,000 Bu. Capacity Shelled Corn Poured Concrete, No Used Silos, No Rebuilt Silos, No Preowned Silos

In order to avoid hauling and drying costs, let us build a corn storage unit to preserve your valuable grain at 20%-30% moisture.

To keep your stored corn bright and yellow, you must protect it from oxygen and heat. Our 6" thick concrete walls reflect 38% of light beams, resulting in 780 times more heat-resisting ability than steel, and 25 times more insulating power than steel.

Our 6" thick walls have a very low leak potential compared to pre-fab silos of any kind, and a very low maintenance requirement.

BEFORE SPENDING A LOT OF MONEY FOR ENERGY (B.T.U.'s) TO DRY YOUR CORN, YOU WILL DO WELL TO CONSIDER THE MANY ADVANTAGES OF OUR POURED CONCRETE SILOS...

To unload your corn, we can install the simple auger system, the Laidig 43 unloader, or the Flying Dutchman. Lets discuss the options, and what is best for your situation.

S & S SILO SERVICE

ATTENTION FARMERS
Strengthen And Reseal Your Silo With Shotcrete

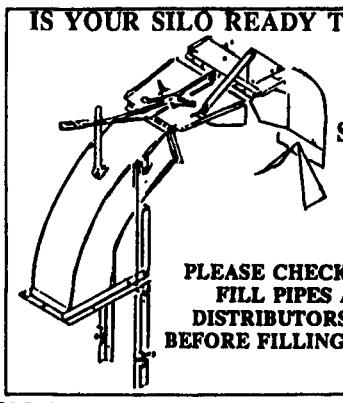
IS YOUR SILO READY TO BE FILLED WITH GRASS SILAGE?



PLEASE CHECK YOUR FILL PIPES AND DISTRIBUTORS NOW BEFORE FILLING SEASON

S&S Silo Service prepares the silo surface by using a 3,000 lb. pressure washer, thus making the silo moist, making a much better surface to bond shotcrete. After shotcreting, S&S always takes away any roughness by applying a steel trowel finish.

The excellent bonding of shotcrete to the silo will keep out moisture and prevent mold from growing on the side of the silo.
